Board Chairman Flays Performance Of Jones

By NELS JOHNSON

San Rafael Planning Commission Chairman Albert J. Boro has charged the city's general plan consultant, Warren W. Jones, with attempting to frustrate city policy and with a lack of forthrightness and professionalism.

Boro's scathing commentary on Jones's work is contained in a letter mailed this week to the consultant on behalf of the commission.

The document was obtained yesterday by the Independent-Journal despite an effort by Planning Director Herbert C. Hotchner to conceal it from public view. "You can't get hold of it," Hotchner declared.

The planning commission last week directed Boro to draft the letter after it unanimously rejected Jones's rewrite of the general plan's controversial housing element. Among other complaints, commissioners said then that the revised element sought to boost the level of low and moderate income housing in San Rafael, despite city instructions that the existing proportion of such housing should be simply maintained.

Commissioners found the rewrite shocking since it "in no way reflected the directives we had given you," Boro told Jones in the letter. Boro also noted that Jones was instructed to rewrite the element in light of overwhelming public dissatisfaction with it.

"In fact, to insure that our viewpoint was understood, we provided you with written documentation, i.e., a statement of direction and policies. You reviewed these documents with us, you said you understood and you assured us the rewrite would follow the direction we gave, according to the letter.

"How then Mr. Jones could you have the audacity to send us a rewrite which completely disregards these directions. To do so was not only a slap at the commission but also reflects on your lack of forthrightness as well as your professionalism as a planner."

The letter also declares Jones has failed to follow commission philosophy and failed to provide census data as he had pledged to do. "Furthermore we were amazed to find you introducing at this late stage completely new concepts not previously reviewed by the public nor the commission," commented Boro about a proposal in the rewrite to limit growth through "environmental holding capacities."

The letter notes that city staff is now rewriting the housing chapter and declares Jones's failures have delayed production of the plan by as much as six weeks.

The letter instructs Jones to redo census data by city neighborhoods, rather than by the arbitrary division of the city into sections, the easier method he preferred.

In an attachment to the letter, Boro makes these charges:

1. Jones has persisted in trying to change the city housing mix despite commission instruction that the present level of moderate and low income housing be sustained, rather than increased.

2. Jones has persisted in basing his planning on the assumption that a citizens "task force" would put the plan into effect despite commission instruction that the idea be dropped since existing staff may be used.

3. Jones has persisted in requiring a percentage of low cost housing in new construction despite commission instruction that the idea be dropped in favor of rent subsidies.

4. The rewrite fails to indicate sources of adequate funding to finance low and moderate income housing, despite commission instruction to do so.

5. "You tell us that the census statistics which you promised by the revised neighborhoods cannot readily be reaggregated when we clearly instructed you to do the job, difficult or not . . . We have paid for the work, given clear instructions, and you have not performed."

The letter represents the strongest criticism of Jones's effort since former commission chairman Jorgen V. Lunding declared the consultant should be fired and his firm, Duncan and Jones, be forced to rebate portions of a $79,100 consulting fee. Lunding was later fired by city councilmen.

Boro's criticisms are similar in some respects to those aired by Lunding last November.

City Mgr. William J. Bielser said today that $73,000 has already been paid to the consulting firm, and said portions of the remaining $6,000 will be withheld due to unsatisfactory performance.

"When we have to rewrite his (Jones's) rewrite, we'll be keeping track of staff time and overhead, and take it out of his $6,000," Bielser declared.

Petaluma River Plans Approved

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Shellmaker Dredging Co.'s proposed $2.7 million harbor at the mouth of the Petaluma River was approved last night by the Sonoma Board of Zoning Adjustments.

A Shellmaker spokesman told the board his company plans to build two marinas, a bulk sand depot, a boat storage area with shops and offices, a marine hardware store, a yacht sales area, boat repair yard and seafood restaurant on the river's northern shore near San Pablo Bay.

The project has been opposed by Marin and Sonoma environmentalists who argued that it would disrupt the San Pablo Bay National Wildlife Refuge, a large wetlands preserve which begins about 3,500 feet from the harbor site and continues around the Bay to near Vallejo.

In voting unanimously yesterday to grant a use permit for the facility, the board emphasized that its approval carried with some strict regulations.

The chief condition stipulates that the project will be constantly monitored, at Shellmaker's expense, by county planning authorities to insure no ecological disruption takes place, according to assistant planner Michael Morrison.

The board also specified that each stage of the construction, which may go on over a 10-year period, will require a separate use permit. Approval will be contingent on the findings from previous environmental monitorings.

Zoning adjustments board members and county planning officials toured the harbor site yesterday morning. The area is mainly marshland and reclaimed agricultural land.

Shellmaker officials said they still must seek approval by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and a number of other agencies before construction can begin.

Ellsberg Trial Start Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge today dismissed all defense motions on the grounds of pre-trial publicity and national security and ordered the trial of the Ellsberg break-in defendants to begin as scheduled June 17.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said President Nixon lacked the authority to order the break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding in the name of national security and gave no specific instructions for it.

Lawyers for former White House aides John D. Ehrlichman and Charles W. Colson and three others asked that the charges be dismissed or at lest the trial be delayed or moved to another section of the country.

A SHUTTLE SERVICE FOR FAIR

Free shuttle bus service to tomorrow's San Rafael Centennial Country Fair in Forest Meadows on the Dominican College campus will be provided from two locations, according to the chairman, Charlene Skinner.

Buses will run continuously from the Marin County Civic Center and San Rafael High School from 9:45 a.m. to 6 p.m., she said.

Motorists are urged to park at either of these locations, she said, to avoid a traffic jam in the Dominican area.

The fair is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Injunction To Block Dam Project Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge yesterday denied an injunction by which conservationists and others sought to block construction of the $114 million Warm Springs Dam.

U.S. District Court Judge Spencer Williams ruled orally that the Army Corps of Engineers environmental impact statement was adequate and that work on the dam in Sonoma County, 14 miles northwest of Healdsburg, could proceed.

He did, however, issue a protective order which prohibits any work done in what is called the Takoton archeological area which is thought to have been a long ago Pomo Indian village, just above the dam site.

The judge also dissolved a temporary restraining order and denied a stay of yesterday's ruling pending an appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Attorney Paul Kayfetz of Bolinas said the judge's ruling would be appealed.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Rodney Hamblin said the judge's ruling cleared the way for awarding a $20.2 million contract for outlet works, a drainage tunnel and embankment Phase 1 of the 319-foot high earthen dam at the confluence of Dry Creek and Warm Springs Creek before the Monday deadline.

The lowest of seven bids came from S. J. Groves and Sons of Pine Valley, San Diego County.

Hamblin said that had the Corps of Engineers been unable to award the bid within 30 days of bid opening which took place March 28, the government would have had to readvertise for bids.

He said this could have resulted in a considerable increase in cost for the project because of delays.

Judge Williams who started hearing testimony and considering evidence on the matter April 22 said he would issue a written order and findings and facts later.

"The environmental impact statement is satisfactory in the areas under attack," said the judge.

He said there were "some shortcomings" as far as archeological aspects were concerned, and that the Takoton area should remain undisturbed until further reserach decides its status.

The court action was brought by the Warm Springs Dam Task Force, Marin Conservation League; League of Women Voters of Santa Rosa, Southern Marin and Central Marin; California Trout Inc., 13 individuals living in Sonoma and Marin

Array Of Events For Centennial

Marin's county seat will wind up its 100th birthday celebration this weekend, dominating the calendar of special events with a staggering list of colorful and diverse events involving thousands of men, women and children.

A country fair, balloon ascension, centennial ball, ecumenical Mass, spectacular parade and regatta and, as a final splash of color, fireworks, are planned.

The biggest celebration in San Rafael's history will climax months of work by a volunteer committee of some 300 persons under the leadership of Jean Kelly, program chairman.

The musical "Jubilee," written especially for the centennial, will close tonight to a sell-out audience at San Rafael High School auditorium. More than 4,000 persons have seen the show during its seven-day run.

The free country fair will open its gates at 10 a.m. tomorrow and continue to 4 p.m. at Forest Meadows on the Dominican College campus.

Free entertainment will continue through the day, including variety acts, square dancers, Dixieland bands, school choruses, ballet, drama, ethnic dance groups, belly dancers and a pied piper.

Vendors will offer food ranging from tacos to teriyaki and including scones, piroshki, hot dogs and barbecued chicken. A wide assortment of wares also will be sold.

At about 11:30 a.m. the hot-air balloon, Aquistapace, piloted by Brent Stockwell of Union City, will ascend, carrying specially franked centennial mail.

At 8:30 p.m. tomorrow, costumed dancers will begin arriving at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building for a gala ball being sponsored by the San Rafael Volunteer Fire Department.

Longtime Bay Area band leader Ernie Herscher will play for dancing until 1 a.m. (A few tickets for the ball are still available at the San Rafael Fire Department or the centennial office at city hall.)

On Sunday, bells will ring throughout the community at noon.

Duke Ellington Is Dead At 75

DUKE ELLINGTON
50 years of music

NEW YORK (UPI) — Duke Ellington, the prolific and versatile composer-pianist who gave the world "Mood Indigo" and a variety of music ranging from jazz to opera, died today of lung cancer complicated by pneumonia. He was 75.

Ellington entered the medical center's Harkness Pavilion last month, but his condition was described optimistically until last Wednesday when the onset of the pneumonia led doctors to describe his condition as serious.

Almost three generations knew Ellington as the tall, gracious man in the tuxedo, conducting his band from the keyboard of a grand piano; the man whose tunes like "Mood Indigo,""Sophisticated Lady" and "In My Solitude" are woven into millions of memories.

Ellington received virtually every honor that could come to a musician, topped off by the Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian award, presented to him by President Nixon on Ellington's 70th birthday, April 29, 1969.

Ellington's compositions expanded over the years to include sacred music, tone poems, background scores for movies and stage dramas, ballets and operas. He assembled some of the best sidemen in the world, including Johnny Hodges, Harry Carney, Cootie Williams and Cat Anderson.

OAKLAND (UPI) — B.R. Stokes, the man most responsible for building San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit subway system, quit under fire today as general manager.

The nation's first new mass transit system since 1907, often described as a model for other cities, has experienced constant difficulty and controversy.

BART's initial organization was formed in 1957. A year later, Stokes, a newspaper reporter, became BART's public information officer and its first employee. In 1963 he became general manager.

In a letter to the BART board of directors, Stokes said he was quitting, effective June 30, with "mixed feelings" to become executive head of the American Public Transit Association.

Young Man's Daring Caper In Helicopter

NEW YORK (UPI) — A young man described as "a good boy who has never been in any trouble" hijacked a helicopter at gunpoint yesterday and forced the pilot to fly him to the top of the 59-story Pan Am Building, where he demanded that a bikini-clad girl deliver a $2 million ransom.

David Frank Kamaiko, 22, was captured by police and FBI agents after the pilot sprinted to safety and a second hostage, a helicopter mechanic, tore the gun away and clubbed him.

The pilot, Thomas Oliva, was shot in the shoulder as he made his escape and was later reported in stable condition at Polyclinic Hospital. No one else was hurt.

Police said Kamaiko reportedly told an arresting officer he wanted the ransom "to buy guns for Israel."

He also claimed to belong to the Jewish Defense League, but a spokesman for that organization denied Kamaiko was a member.

A neighbor of the young man's family in Greenwich Village later said Kamaiko was "a good boy who has never been in any trouble."

The long-haired youth was armed with a sawed-off rifle, a small zip gun and three sticks of what appeared to be dynamite but later turned out to be railroad flares. He commandeered the helicopter just after noon at the 34th Street Heliport, near the East River.

Secrecy In Government Is Attacked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Excessive government secrecy has allowed the American presidency to bury its mistakes, and Congress should do something about it, a former Kenedy administration official says.

"The religion of secrecy, as practiced in the executive branch, has become an all purpose means by which the American Presidency dissembles its purposes, buries its mistakes, manipulates its citizens and maximizes its power," former Kennedy adviser Arthur Schlesinger told a Senate subcommittee yesterday.

He suggested legislation to establish the criteria for and control of presidential secrecy, "given the by now ample and irrefutable demonstration that the presidency cannot be trusted to run a rational secrecy system."

Schlesinger, now a history professor at the City College of New York, said there was less government secrecy during the Civil War and the two world wars than there is now.

"At no time since 1945 has the republic been in a state of clear and present danger comparable to the Civil War or to the Second World War," he said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Saxbe's Views On Wiretap Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Forbidding government wiretapping is something he can "live with," but it would hamper Justice Department investigations, says Attorney General William B. Saxbe.

Saxbe

Testifying before a Senate subcommittee on the subject of wiretapping without warrants, Saxbe vowed, "No American citizen can be wiretapped anywhere in the world without approval from me."

He would not say how many taps are now in effect, but Sacbe said that only the Justice Department, among government agencies, may and does eavesdrop.

Saxbe said that under recent court rulings on electronic surveillance, President Nixon has authority to request wiretaps only in national security matters organized and financed by a foreign power.

Agrees To Stay

BANGKOK (UPI) — Prime Minister Sanya Dhamassak bowed to pleas from political leaders today and agreed to form a new cabinet, ending a four-day government crisis in Thailand.

Sanya and his entire cabinet resigned Tuesday after a rising public outcry over inflation and other domestic problems. The 67-year-old leader also complained he was too old for the "burden of politics."

Political sources said the new cabinet would probably exclude anyone connected with the ousted rightwing dictatorship of Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, who was deposed last Oct. 14.

Wallace Drive

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace launched a drive yesterday to control the Democrats' mini-convention in December so he can show the delegate strength he would have for President in 1976.

Wallace appealed to Democrats who support him nationally to run for delegate seats to the December convention in Kansas City where groundwork will be laid for the 1976 nominating convention.

The partially paralyzed governor said he plans to be a delegate to the Dec. 6-8 charter-writing meeting.

Election Official

PARIS (UPI) — France's Constitutional Council gathered in a solemn ceremony at the historic Royal Palace today to officially proclaim conservative Valery Giscard d'Estaing the nation's 20th president.

Giscard d'Estaing, 48, finance minister in the outgoing Gaullist government, returned to his old office after three days of seclusion to form a new cabinet and draft a message to parliament outlining his legislative goals.

Troops Advance

SAIGON (UPI) — Tank-led government troops pushed cautiously into Communist-held areas of South Vietnam's Iron Triangle today after North Vietnamese forces apparently eased a drive north of Saigon.

The Saigon military command said, however, Communist gunners kept up their shelling of embattled Ben Cat, a county capital 25 miles north of Saigon, indicating the battle was not over.

Field reports said 500 tank-backed government soldiers yesterday punched a mile into Communist territory in the jungled Iron Triangle, 20 miles north of Saigon.

Strike Eased

BELFAST (UPI) — Protestant leaders of Northern Ireland's nine-day old general strike bowed to threats that British troops would take over power stations and industry and eased their stranglehold on the province today.

The Ulster Workers Council allowed delivery of essential supplies to electric generating stations, pulled street barricades down and permitted doctors and farmers to obtain small amounts of gasoline.

Question Of Cheating At Annapolis

Though the first round of exams was "compromised," academy information director Leo Loftus said "This definitely was not cheating on the part of the midshipmen."

Loftus said, "There is no indication, no evidence that any midshipmen were knowingly involved in the compromise or there was any violation of the honor code."

Vice Adm. William P. Mack, superintendent of the school, said the results of the navigation exam, a basic course requirement for sophomores, were voided after it was learned that some of the Middies had prior knowledge of the test.

"I don't consider it serious," Mack said. "We don't have any evidence that it is. You give a certain amount of exams and sooner or later one will be compromised."

But Mack ordered a full investigation of the incident yesterday, including interrogation of 50 or 60 sophomores and confiscation of some classroom material, including the course workbook.

Mack said the exams will be studied individually to determine how they relate to a student's previous grades in the course.

BART Can Run Until October

Assistant General Manager Lawrence D. Dahms made the estimate yesterday at a meeting of the BART directors.

He said the date would provide sufficient time to attempt to furnish three weeks of service between San Francisco and the East Bay before closing down. He said the target date for the long-dalayed transbay service is Sept. 9.

The directors agreed to hold public hearings on two budgets, one to use if the system gets the money it needs and one in case it becomes bankrupt.

Magruder Tells It All In Book

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jeb Stuart Magruder, in a book to be published soon, says he suspects President Nixon was in on the Watergate coverup from its earliest days, the Los Angeles Times said today.

The Times, in a report from its Washington bureau, quoted exerpts from the manuscript of the upcoming Magruder memoirs, "An American Life: One Man's Road to Watergate."

Magruder is also quoted as saying that his White House boss, H.R. Haldeman, reflected later that in hindsight, the Watergate break-in should have been blamed on John Mitchell when it occurred and the matter would have died there without incriminating so many others in a coverup.

Magruder, served as special assistant to the President, White House deputy director for communications and was deputy director of the Nixon reelection campaign. Only Tuesday he was sentenced to a minimum of 10 months in prison for his role in planning and concealing the Watergate burglary.

Magruder wrote in his book about Watergate that it is conceivable that Mitchell and Haldeman concealed the truth about Watergate from the President "either to shield him from involvement or out of fear of his wrath."

However, he said, based on "my knowledge of how the White House operated...I think it much more likely that he would demand the truth and they would provide it" as soon as the break-in was revealed.

He suspects that Nixon was thus told the truth about Watergate when it happened and kept "in close personal touch" with the coverup from then on, Magruder was quoted as writing.

The White House said yesterday that the President stands by his statement that he did not learn of the coverup until nine months after the break-in, in response to questions about Magruder's manuscript.

Magruder wrote that he met with Haldeman in January, 1973, and told him about the plans for the burglary, the coverup and the perjury required to support the concealment.

"Haldeman made one unexpected and interesting comment," Magruder wrote.

He said that in retrospect it would have been better if they'd let Mitchell take the blame for the break-in back in June when it occurred.

CAPTURED — A helicopter-hijacker is led out of the Pan Am Building in New York, following his rooftop capture by police. David Frank Kamaiko, 22, with long hair and torn jeans, was captured yesterday afternoon on the building's heliport. He had the copter flown to the midtown skyscraper where he demanded money for Israeli arms.

Malatesta Believes Inflation Top Issue

THOMAS A. MALATESTA
Inflation prime issue

Thomas A. Malatesta of Los Angeles, candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate, said on his first Marin visit yesterday that inflation is the No. 1 issue in thie year's political campaigns.

Malatesta, whose campaign publicity makes a point of the fact that he is Bob Hope's nephew, said it has become evident that neither price-wage controls nor high interest rates will curb the inflationary spiral. The answer, he said, must be a cutback of deficit spending.

"If we can eliminate deficit spending, that would be fantastic," Malatesta said in an interview at the Independent-Journal.

He said that if elected to the Senate he would attempt to focus attention on the waste of taxpayers' money —"thousands and thousands of millions of dollars" of it.

As a few examples of such waste, he pointed out that the Pentagon has between 12 and 16 film units making propaganda movies for the armed services. There is also, he asserted, much waste in government research.

"We spent $121,000 last year for a study of the perspiration of Australian aborginies," he declared. "There are many such ridiculous research projects."

Malatesta, who is a partner in Korn-Ferry International, a Los Angeles-based executive search and management consulting firm, said another attack on inflation is needed through legislation guaranteeing Social Security benefits to those over 65 and removing restrictions on their earnings which make Social Security inadequate.

He also called for curbing the powers of the Internal Revenue Service "to prevent the arrogant invasion of privacy which has occurred in the past."

He called "Watergate and the stagnation of government leadership" important issues in the campaign, along with inflation.

Malatesta said he opposes the death penalty but believes there should be longer prison sentences for those criminals who offer no prospect of rehabilitation. On the other hand, better rehabilitation programs are needed in the federal prison, he said.

Malatesta today issued a statement blasting his fellow-Los Angeles County candidate for the GOP Senate nomination, State Sen. H. L. (Bill) Richardson of Arcadia, who was shown on a late poll as leading all other Republican contenders for the nomination.

"I know Bill Richardson, and I think the world of him personally, but the sort of thinking which he represents is about as relevant to the problems or our nation today as is a dinosaur to a modern zoo," he declared.

Warning On Four Million Faulty Electric Fry Pans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission yesterday warned the owners of four million electric frying pans to stop using them because of a possible current leakage that could result in a shock — perhaps fatal.

Involved in the warning are frying pans made by National Presto Industries, Inc. and distributed under the Presto brand as well as under the Sears and Roebuck brand. The pans were all produced prior to September 1973, after which the company changed its manufacturing practice.

The commission, in a joint announcement with Presto, said the shock problem is confined to pans that are not used regularly or have not been used at all. Commission officials describe the hazard as one which corrects itself with continued use of the frying pan because the insulation will become dry and the potential for shock disappears.

But the announcement warned all consumers having such pans to discontinue their use and to contact — in the case of the Presto brand — National Presto Industries, Inc., Service Department, Box 83, Eau Clare, Wis. 54701, providing the serial and model numbers of the pan. In the case of the Sears pan consumers were urged to contact their nearest Sears store.

Persons with such pans should contact the companies regardless of the amount of use the pans have received, the commission said. It said both Sears and Presto will repair or replace them without cost if necessary.

Pans made prior to September, 1973, can be identified by a serial number on the bottom of the electrical connection. The commission said the number appears below the word 'series" and the Presto pans involved can be identified if the last two digits in the serial number are "72" or less, or where the last two digits are "73". The whole number is smaller than "3673".

The Sears pans have model number "620" as the first three numbers in the serial with the month and the year in a code written below the word "series" of 0873 (August of 1973) or earlier.

Ban Is Lifted

HONG KONG (UPI) — The government yesterday ended its mandatory and voluntary controls on use of electricty and gasoline after Saudi Arabia promised the colony enough fuel for at least the next six months.

Malatesta Believes Inflation Top Issue

THOMAS A. MALATESTA

Thomas A. Malatesta of Los Angeles, candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate, said on his first Marin visit yesterday that inflation is the No. 1 issue in thie year's political campaigns.

Malatesta, whose campaign publicity makes a point of the fact that he is Bob Hope's nephew, said it has become evident that neither price-wage controls nor high interest rates will curb the inflationary spiral. The answer, he said, must be a cutback of deficit spending.

"If we can eliminate deficit spending, that would be fantastic," Malatesta said in an interview at the Independent-Journal.

He said that if elected to the Senate he would attempt to focus attention on the waste of taxpayers' money —"thousands and thousands of millions of dollars" of it.

As a few examples of such waste, he pointed out that the Pentagon has between 12 and 16 film units making propaganda movies for the armed services. There is also, he asserted, much waste in government research.

"We spent $121,000 last year for a study of the perspiration of Australian aborginies," he declared. "There are many such ridiculous research projects."

Malatesta, who is a partner in Korn-Ferry International, a Los Angeles-based executive search and management consulting firm, said another attack on inflation is needed through legislation guaranteeing Social Security benefits to those over 65 and removing restrictions on their earnings which make Social Security inadequate.

He also called for curbing the powers of the Internal Revenue Service "to prevent the arrogant invasion of privacy which has occurred in the past."

He called "Watergate and the stagnation of government leadership" important issues in the campaign, along with inflation.

Malatesta said he opposes the death penalty but believes there should be longer prison sentences for those criminals who offer no prospect of rehabilitation. On the other hand, better rehabilitation programs are needed in the federal prison, he said.

Malatesta today issued a statement blasting his fellow-Los Angeles County candidate for the GOP Senate nomination, State Sen. H. L. (Bill) Richardson of Arcadia, who was shown on a late poll as leading all other Republican contenders for the nomination.

"I know Bill Richardson, and I think the world of him personally, but the sort of thinking which he represents is about as relevant to the problems or our nation today as is a dinosaur to a modern zoo," he declared.

Warning On Four Million Faulty Electric Fry Pans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission yesterday warned the owners of four million electric frying pans to stop using them because of a possible current leakage that could result in a shock — perhaps fatal.

Involved in the warning are frying pans made by National Presto Industries, Inc. and distributed under the Presto brand as well as under the Sears and Roebuck brand. The pans were all produced prior to September 1973, after which the company changed its manufacturing practice.

The commission, in a joint announcement with Presto, said the shock problem is confined to pans that are not used regularly or have not been used at all. Commission officials describe the hazard as one which corrects itself with continued use of the frying pan because the insulation will become dry and the potential for shock disappears.

But the announcement warned all consumers having such pans to discontinue their use and to contact — in the case of the Presto brand — National Presto Industries, Inc., Service Department, Box 83, Eau Clare, Wis. 54701, providing the serial and model numbers of the pan. In the case of the Sears pan consumers were urged to contact their nearest Sears store.

Persons with such pans should contact the companies regardless of the amount of use the pans have received, the commission said. It said both Sears and Presto will repair or replace them without cost if necessary.

Pans made prior to September, 1973, can be identified by a serial number on the bottom of the electrical connection. The commission said the number appears below the word 'series" and the Presto pans involved can be identified if the last two digits in the serial number are "72" or less, or where the last two digits are "73". The whole number is smaller than "3673".

The Sears pans have model number "620" as the first three numbers in the serial with the month and the year in a code written below the word "series" of 0873 (August of 1973) or earlier.

Ban Is Lifted

HONG KONG (UPI) — The government yesterday ended its mandatory and voluntary controls on use of electricty and gasoline after Saudi Arabia promised the colony enough fuel for at least the next six months.

Streets Will Be Closed For Centennial Parade

Several of San Rafael's downtown streets will be closed Sunday for the Centennial parade, which starts at 1 p.m. at Fourth and E streets, according to Nick Dollwet, parade chairman.

Fourth and Fifth streets, as well as the cross streets between them, will be closed from G Street to San Rafael High School.

Spectators are advised to walk to the parade route, which will be down Fourth Street to the high school, Dollwest said. They are also advised to bring chairs or stools to the parade, which is expected to last more than three hours.

In order to accommodate the parade, golden Gate Transit bus service will be changed as follows:

ROUTE 23 (Canal) — 7 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. — Will operate on Third Street westbound and on Second Street eastbound, between Hetherton Street and Miracle Mile, and will continue to serve the Fourth and Hetherton Terminal. 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. — Will cease service to Fourth and Hetherton, but will make alternate pick-ups at Second and Hetherton and at Third and Hetherton.

ROUTE 50 (Novato/San Marin to San Francisco) — 7 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. — Will cease service along Lincoln Avenue, but continue to serve the Fourth and Hetherton Terminal. 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. — Will make no stops in San Rafael, but will continue to operate through San Rafael along Highway 101.

ROUTES 70 and 74 (Santa Rosa) — 7 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. — Will operate according to schedule. 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. — Will make no stops in San Rafael, but will continue to operate through San Rafael along Highway 101.

All four of the routes will provide transfer service at Bellam Boulevard, near Anderson Drive, opposite the Bekins storage facility.

Guilt Is Shared In Prostitution

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Senate has decided that a man is just as guilty as a woman if he pays for her sexual favors.

By a 32-5 vote, the Senate approved a bill to make the state prostitution law apply to both the buyer and the seller.

Hilarita Fund Fuss Worked Out

Agreement was reached at a joint last minute meeting of the Marin County Housing Authority and the Tiburon City Council.

Spokesmen for the Tiburon Ecumenical Association, developers of the 102-unit project, said that if action was not taken, the project would be permanently scuttled. Contractors would pull out, and the federal department of housing and urban development would withdraw its guarantee of a $2.8 million housing loan, they said.

A chief issue hammered out at the meeting was an agreement under which the City of Tiburon will buy two surplus acres of land at the Hilarita site from the housing authority for $36,000. The housing authority is selling the rest of the property to the ecumenical association for $51,000.

A final dispute between the Tiburon Ecumenical Association and the authority centered on whether the association should have to pay for $13,000 in expenses incurred by the authority for demolishing the first set of buildings at Hilarita last year.

It was decided that the association will pay $6,000 towards that expense.

The Hilarita project has been repeatedly delayed by federal funding problems and a court suit brought against the project by a group of Tiburon residents.

Prince, Danny Kaye In Banter

MANCHESTER, England (UPI) — Danny Kaye, the American comedian, took second billing yesterday to Prince Charles at a meeting of the Variety Club of Great Britain. Charles spoke first, but he indicated he and Kaye already had had words.

"He's already been extremely rude, telling me: 'Oh, you have to use speech notes,'" the prince quipped. "I said yes, as unfortunately we couldn't all have a teleprompter in the gallery."

Kaye began his joke routine by asking someone to turn off the teleprompter.

"To see Prince Charles making people feel absolutely at ease was one of the nicest things I have seen in my life," Kaye said afterward.

DUKE

wrote more than 900 compositions, many of which have become classics: "Satin Doll," "Don't get Around Much Anymore, "I Let a Song Go out of My Heart," "I Got It Bad and That Ain't Good," "Do Nothing Till You Hear From Me," "Caravan."

He also scored and conducted the music for the film "Anatomy of a Murder."

A quiet man, he avoided the controversies that follow many stars.

In 1965, the Pulitzer Prize Advisory Board unanimously voted that either a long-term achievement award be presented to Ellington or no prize be given at all for that year. Ellington's comment, when the board finally decided against honoring him, was quoted around the world:

"Fate's being kind to me. Fate doesn't want me to be too famous too young."

The Duke was born Edward Kennedy Ellington April 29, 1899, in Washington, D.C. He taught himself to play the piano, but later had some formal training.

In 1922, after a short-lived marriage, Ellington followed some musican friends to New York and put together a band that worked steadily for 50 years—up to the Duke's last illness.

In 1943 at New York's Carnegie Hall, Ellington conducted the premiere performance of his "Black, Brown and Beige Suite," a tonal history of the Negro in America. In 1959, Arturo Toscanini commissioned him to produce an extended symphonic jazz work for the NBC Symphony Orchestra. Ellington conducted the work, "Harlem," in concert.

In 1965 he presented the first of his sacred concerts. He assembled his band, a choir and dancers at the altar of huge, gothic Grace Cathedral on San Francisco's Nob Hill and mesmerized a standing-room-only audience with his own tribute to the Lord: "In the Beginning."

Counties and members of the Dry Creek Band of Pomo Indians.

They had contended the impact statement was inadequate and that it made no thorough evaluation of potential earthquake danger, the effect of flooding of a potential geothermal source or the effects of flooding an old mercury mine by the reservoir which would have a 73-mile shoreline.

They also claimed that the project would destroy remains of 13 Indian villages with a historical and archeological value.

The project was authorized by Congress in 1962 and land acquisition begun in 1966 with the completion target date of 1978. The dam would provide flood control, recreation and a fish hatchery.

Pay Boost Asked By Principals

San Anselmo School District principals last night asked trustees for a 12 per cent pay raise.

The district board took no action on the demand, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott, who said the raise, along with fringe benefit requests, would cost the district $16,500 annually.

The district's six principals also asked for raising medical benefits from $400 to $600 annually, he said.

In other business, the board set a special meeting for 8 p.m. June 4 at Red Hill School to discuss the work of the master plan survey committee and to set a timetable for making decisions on future school sites and facilities, Elliott said.

The board also said Thomas J. Peacock will be district representative on the city parks and recreation commission, and allocated $3,000 for parks and recreation projects next year.

Dog Bite Costs Are Said High

CHICAGO (AP) — Dog bites are costing taxpayers as much as $400,000 a year, an urban ecologist says.

Alan M. Beck, chairman of the Urban Ecology Department at Washington University in St. Louis and author of a study entitled, "Ecology of Stray Dogs," estimates at least 10,000 persons are bitten each year by dogs. He says government investigation of such cases costs between $40 and $70 each.

X-Ray Machine Leaks Are Found

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said today that 68 baggage X-ray machines at 48 airports across the country were found to be leaking radiation in the past month.

The machines were all ordered turned off as the defects were uncovered, a spokesman said, and about 80 per cent of them have been repaired.

In all there are 190 machines in use at 52 airports, meaning that only four airports have machines which were not found defective.

Press Is Attacked For Nixon Stand

WASHINGTON (API) — Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., says the nation's press not only wants to impeach and convict President Nixon, but also "roast him over a slow fire." "This, I submit, is unfair, unusual and inhuman treatment," Carter said in a House speech yesterday. Carter said the press had failed properly to record achievements of the administration, which he said included "the greatest diplomatic accomplishments since the days of Disraeli, or perhaps in history.

STOKES

years transforming BART from dream to reality," he said.

"And the relief is due to the fact that, with my departure, the legislature presumedly can proceed full-speed to address the issue of financing BART. It is imperative that this issue be resolved immediately."

Last month a group of legislators demanded Stokes' firing as a condition for emergency state financial aid to keep the $1.6 billion system operating. BART must meet a $12.4 million deficit, or close down the 75-mile system in October.

In recent months, he has survived in his $52,500 job only by a series of narrow and tie votes on the board of directors. A vote taken yesterday was 5-5.

BART's construction ran four years behind schedule, and its cost was ballooned by inflation. After its opening Sept. 11, 1972, it was plagued by serious safety problems.

The safety problems kept trains operating at much less than their maximum 80 miles an hour, and prevented opening of the key trans-bay tube between San Francisco and Oakland. However, BART announced earlier this week that the main safety problem has been solved, and the tube may open Sept. 9.

"I am convinced that I leave the district in excellent shape in all of these regards," Stokes said in his letter. The letter was read at a news conference by a BART official at his office while Stokes was attending a legislative hearing in another building.

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — The insurance industry must increase its rates to meet rising inflation, the president of the Hartford Insurance Group said yesterday.

Hilarita Fund Fuss Worked Out

Agreement was reached at a joint last minute meeting of the Marin County Housing Authority and the Tiburon City Council.

Spokesmen for the Tiburon Ecumenical Association, developers of the 102-unit project, said that if action was not taken, the project would be permanently scuttled. Contractors would pull out, and the federal department of housing and urban development would withdraw its guarantee of a $2.8 million housing loan, they said.

A chief issue hammered out at the meeting was an agreement under which the City of Tiburon will buy two surplus acres of land at the Hilarita site from the housing authority for $36,000. The housing authority is selling the rest of the property to the ecumenical association for $51,000.

A final dispute between the Tiburon Ecumenical Association and the authority centered on whether the association should have to pay for $13,000 in expenses incurred by the authority for demolishing the first set of buildings at Hilarita last year.

It was decided that the association will pay $6,000 towards that expense.

The Hilarita project has been repeatedly delayed by federal funding problems and a court suit brought against the project by a group of Tiburon residents.

Prince, Danny Kaye In Banter

MANCHESTER, England (UPI) — Danny Kaye, the American comedian, took second billing yesterday to Prince Charles at a meeting of the Variety Club of Great Britain. Charles spoke first, but he indicated he and Kaye already had had words.

"He's already been extremely rude, telling me: 'Oh, you have to use speech notes,'" the prince quipped. "I said yes, as unfortunately we couldn't all have a teleprompter in the gallery."

Kaye began his joke routine by asking someone to turn off the teleprompter.

"To see Prince Charles making people feel absolutely at ease was one of the nicest things I have seen in my life," Kaye said afterward.

DUKE

wrote more than 900 compositions, many of which have become classics: "Satin Doll," "Don't get Around Much Anymore, "I Let a Song Go out of My Heart," "I Got It Bad and That Ain't Good," "Do Nothing Till You Hear From Me," "Caravan."

He also scored and conducted the music for the film "Anatomy of a Murder."

A quiet man, he avoided the controversies that follow many stars.

In 1965, the Pulitzer Prize Advisory Board unanimously voted that either a long-term achievement award be presented to Ellington or no prize be given at all for that year. Ellington's comment, when the board finally decided against honoring him, was quoted around the world:

"Fate's being kind to me. Fate doesn't want me to be too famous too young."

The Duke was born Edward Kennedy Ellington April 29, 1899, in Washington, D.C. He taught himself to play the piano, but later had some formal training.

In 1922, after a short-lived marriage, Ellington followed some musican friends to New York and put together a band that worked steadily for 50 years—up to the Duke's last illness.

His musical reputation was established during a five-year (1927-1932) stand at Harlem's famed Cotton Club. The group moved on to radio broadcast, national and overseas tours, film appearances and recordings.

In 1943 at New York's Carnegie Hall, Ellington conducted the premiere performance of his "Black, Brown and Beige Suite," a tonal history of the Negro in America. In 1959, Arturo Toscanini commissioned him to produce an extended symphonic jazz work for the NBC Symphony Orchestra. Ellington conducted the work, "Harlem," in concert.

In 1965 he presented the first of his sacred concerts. He assembled his band, a choir and dancers at the altar of huge, gothic Grace Cathedral on San Francisco's Nob Hill and mesmerized a standing-room-only audience with his own tribute to the Lord: "In the Beginning."

Counties and members of the Dry Creek Band of Pomo Indians.

They had contended the impact statement was inadequate and that it made no thorough evaluation of potential earthquake danger, the effect of flooding of a potential geothermal source or the effects of flooding an old mercury mine by the reservoir which would have a 73-mile shoreline.

They also claimed that the project would destroy remains of 13 Indian villages with a historical and archeological value.

The project was authorized by Congress in 1962 and land acquisition begun in 1966 with the completion target date of 1978. The dam would provide flood control, recreation and a fish hatchery.

Pay Boost Asked By Principals

San Anselmo School District principals last night asked trustees for a 12 per cent pay raise.

The district board took no action on the demand, according to Supt. Frank R. Elliott, who said the raise, along with fringe benefit requests, would cost the district $16,500 annually.

The district's six principals also asked for raising medical benefits from $400 to $600 annually, he said.

In other business, the board set a special meeting for 8 p.m. June 4 at Red Hill School to discuss the work of the master plan survey committee and to set a timetable for making decisions on future school sites and facilities, Elliott said.

The board also said Thomas J. Peacock will be district representative on the city parks and recreation commission, and allocated $3,000 for parks and recreation projects next year.

Dog Bite Costs Are Said High

CHICAGO (AP) — Dog bites are costing taxpayers as much as $400,000 a year, an urban ecologist says.

Alan M. Beck, chairman of the Urban Ecology Department at Washington University in St. Louis and author of a study entitled, "Ecology of Stray Dogs," estimates at least 10,000 persons are bitten each year by dogs. He says government investigation of such cases costs between $40 and $70 each.

X-Ray Machine Leaks Are Found

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said today that 68 baggage X-ray machines at 48 airports across the country were found to be leaking radiation in the past month.

The machines were all ordered turned off as the defects were uncovered, a spokesman said, and about 80 per cent of them have been repaired.

In all there are 190 machines in use at 52 airports, meaning that only four airports have machines which were not found defective.

Press Is Attacked For Nixon Stand

WASHINGTON (API) — Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., says the nation's press not only wants to impeach and convict President Nixon, but also "roast him over a slow fire." "This, I submit, is unfair, unusual and inhuman treatment," Carter said in a House speech yesterday. Carter said the press had failed properly to record achievements of the administration, which he said included "the greatest diplomatic accomplishments since the days of Disraeli, or perhaps in history.

years transforming BART from dream to reality," he said.

"And the relief is due to the fact that, with my departure, the legislature presumedly can proceed full-speed to address the issue of financing BART. It is imperative that this issue be resolved immediately."

Last month a group of legislators demanded Stokes' firing as a condition for emergency state financial aid to keep the $1.6 billion system operating. BART must meet a $12.4 million deficit, or close down the 75-mile system in October.

In recent months, he has survived in his $52,500 job only by a series of narrow and tie votes on the board of directors. A vote taken yesterday was 5-5.

BART's construction ran four years behind schedule, and its cost was ballooned by inflation. After its opening Sept. 11, 1972, it was plagued by serious safety problems.

A Secret Message From Brezhnev

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon got a personal message yesterday from Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, but the White House is keeping the contents secret —indicating a possible connection with the summit conference planned in Moscow later next month.

Brezhnev's message was delivered by B.N. Ponomarov, head of an eight-member delegation of Soviet parliamentarians who spent 45 minutes talking with the President in his Oval Office. Also present at the meeting was Anatoly F. Dobrynin, the Soviet ambassador to the United States.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Ponomarov gave the message to Nixon at a separate 20-minute session alone with the President, but Ziegler declined to give any clue to the contents on grounds that the message was "personal and private."

Nixon is said to be planning to go to Moscow about June 21st to begin his third round of summit talks with Brezhnev in as many years, but the White House has not provided any firm information about the trip yet, and Nixon has been urged by some members of Congress to put off the visit until the impeachment proceedings are completed.

(Soviet sources said today that Nixon would stop in Western Europe on his way to Moscow. Theysaid present plans call for Nixon to leave Washington June 22 and to arrive in Moscow either on the evening of June 23 or the morning of June 24.

(The Moscow sources declined to say where the West European stop would be, saying "That is not our affair.")

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, speaking to reporters while Nixon and the Russians were conferring yesterday, said he saw no reason to think the President would be in a weak negotiating position if he meets Brezhnev while the House impeachment proceedings are still under way. For one thing, he said, members of Congress still are giving Nixon "strong bipartisan support for his foreign policy and peace making efforts."

Beyond that, Warren said, "We don't conduct foreign policy on the basis of domestic debate." He added that Nixon has many important issues to discuss with Brezhnev and has given no thought to canceling plans for the summit.

Enrollment Decline To Be Viewed

San Anselmo School District Supt. Frank R. Elliott will appear at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Sleepy Hollow School to discuss the problem of declining enrollment and possible solutions.

Solutions developed by the district's master plan survey committee include closing one or even two district schools, while shifting enrollment at other school.

The meeting will be similar to two other community meetings held by the master plan survey committee on school sites and facilities, Elliott said. The meeting, not previously scheduled by the district, was especially requested by Sleepy Hollow parents.

At least one of the possible plans eyed by the master plan survey committee as a solution to declining enrollment is closing Sleepy Hollow School.

Elliott noted that questionnaires next week will be mailed to district residents, soliciting opinion on what course of action the district should take as enrollment dips.

SLA Asked By Reagan To Give Up

ANGEL ISLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday added his name to the list of those calling for Patty Hearst and the other Symbionese Liberation Army members to surrender.

"If I could in any way be of help in persuading them to come forward," Reagan said, "I'd be happy to cooperate." The governor spoke at a news conference on this state park island in San Francisco Bay.

Reagan said he hoped the SLA members, including Miss Hearst, would come forward "before they themselves get killed or before some innocent person gets killed."

The governor also commended the job of the Los Angeles Police Department last Friday.

"I thought they (the police) were magnificent," he said. "I thought they did everything that could be done — all those hundreds and hundreds of people that were around. There was no injury, not one death. I think they showed their true capabilities."

The governor was on the island to demonstrate his support for a California park bond issue on the June ballot.

Officer, Thief Are Same Man

SHEFFIELD, England (UPI) — Police constable Terence Murphy often was first on the scene after a break-in and often recovered stolen goods. But his reports always showed he had no clue to the culprit.

The paradox was solved in Sheffield Crown Court yesterday when Murphy and the thief were found to be the same man.

Murphy, a 26-year-old father of two, pleaded guilty to four charges of theft and burglary and asked for 24 other offenses to be considered in sentencing. He was jailed for 18 months.

His lawyer told the court that after five years on the force Murphy felt he was not advancing fast enough, so he committed the break-ins to "look good" by recovering stolen goods and earn promotion.

Water Project Pact Hanky-Panky Claimed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The awarding of $2 million in State Water Project work to a Massachusetts firm involved unethical hiring practices and illegal contract violations, the state auditor general says.

In a report on dealings between the state Department of Water Resources and LFE Inc., Auditor General Harvey Rose yesterday said the state should halt any further payments to the Waltham, Mass., firm.

Rose also said the department should "immediately determine the state's rights to recover any monies heretofore paid" on contracts to LFE.

LFE's contracts in the massive State Water Project involve supervisory control systems in the moving of water from northern to Southern California.

Asked to comment on the report, Water Resources Deputy Director Robert B. Jansen said, "We have all of this under review. We're going to be fully responsive to the auditor general's recommendations."

Jansen also said the department already had withheld $127,000 in contract payments to LFE.

Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, chairman of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee which ordered the report, said the hiring in question involved a relative of a state employe.

He said LFE originally failed to qualify for construction contracts on the basis of a department evaluation team report.

"Ten days subsequent to this failure, a brother of one of the Department of Water Resources evaluators was hired by Control Systems Industries," Thomas said.

Thomas said that at the time LFE owned 49 per cent of Control Systems Industries, a Mountain View, Calif., firm.

"Two days later, LFE was qualified and was subsequently awarded over $2 million of construction contracts," Thomas added.

Governor Says China's New Fear — Russians

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Gov. Marvin Mandel, talking by satellite from Shanghai, where he was visiting with four other governors, yesterday said the Chinese seem obsessed by the idea of masses of Russians along their border.

"The 'polar bear of the North' is not good and they talk about it," he told press secretary Frank Defilippo. "The feeling here is that they are the enemy. Relations between those two are at a very low level at this point."

The other governors are Dan Evans of Washington, Arch Moore of West Virginia, Robert Ray of Iowa, and Calvin Rampton of Utah.

Six Days, Six Hours On The Air

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jim Dawson claimed the record for the world's longest continuous radio appearance, after completing six days and six hours on the air yesterday.

Dawson, 19, broadcast for 150 hours on KBLA, the campus station of Cal State Los Angeles, alternating between small talk and records. He set out to break the mark listed in the Guinness Book of World Records — 144 hours by Royal Air Force broadcaster Peter Jackson, set in Yorkshire, England in April 1972.

Water Project Pact Hanky-Panky Claimed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The awarding of $2 million in State Water Project work to a Massachusetts firm involved unethical hiring practices and illegal contract violations, the state auditor general says.

In a report on dealings between the state Department of Water Resources and LFE Inc., Auditor General Harvey Rose yesterday said the state should halt any further payments to the Waltham, Mass., firm.

Rose also said the department should "immediately determine the state's rights to recover any monies heretofore paid" on contracts to LFE.

LFE's contracts in the massive State Water Project involve supervisory control systems in the moving of water from northern to Southern California.

Asked to comment on the report, Water Resources Deputy Director Robert B. Jansen said, "We have all of this under review. We're going to be fully responsive to the auditor general's recommendations."

Jansen also said the department already had withheld $127,000 in contract payments to LFE.

Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, chairman of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee which ordered the report, said the hiring in question involved a relative of a state employe.

He said LFE originally failed to qualify for construction contracts on the basis of a department evaluation team report.

"Ten days subsequent to this failure, a brother of one of the Department of Water Resources evaluators was hired by Control Systems Industries," Thomas said.

Thomas said that at the time LFE owned 49 per cent of Control Systems Industries, a Mountain View, Calif., firm.

"Two days later, LFE was qualified and was subsequently awarded over $2 million of construction contracts," Thomas added.

Governor Says China's New Fear — Russians

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Gov. Marvin Mandel, talking by satellite from Shanghai, where he was visiting with four other governors, yesterday said the Chinese seem obsessed by the idea of masses of Russians along their border.

"The 'polar bear of the North' is not good and they talk about it," he told press secretary Frank Defilippo. "The feeling here is that they are the enemy. Relations between those two are at a very low level at this point."

The other governors are Dan Evans of Washington, Arch Moore of West Virginia, Robert Ray of Iowa, and Calvin Rampton of Utah.

Six Days, Six Hours On The Air

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jim Dawson claimed the record for the world's longest continuous radio appearance, after completing six days and six hours on the air yesterday.

Dawson, 19, broadcast for 150 hours on KBLA, the campus station of Cal State Los Angeles, alternating between small talk and records. He set out to break the mark listed in the Guinness Book of World Records — 144 hours by Royal Air Force broadcaster Peter Jackson, set in Yorkshire, England in April 1972.

CENTENNIAL BUBBLES

Peter Meyer Accused Of Voter Roll Laxity

Frank Bigley of Corte Madera, candidate for Marin County clerk, yesterday claimed that a rival candidate, county elections officer Peter C. Meyer, has failed to drop from voter rolls those who have left Marin.

Bigley, one of six candidates for clerk, presented as evidence a sample ballot addressed to Kim Young Oak at 18 Channel Drive, Corte Madera. In fact, Oak has not lived there since 1966 — when Bigley bought the house from Oak.

Oak moved to Germany that year, returned to the U.S. in 1972 and now lives in San Diego, he said. "If his name was not purged, I wonder how many others remain on the rolls," Bigley said.

He has been returning Oak's sample ballots to Meyer's office for years, as well as telephoning the office, but without result, according to Bigley. "They did purge Mrs. Oak's name last year, however," he added.

Bigley also criticized the handling of absentee ballots, saying his daughter at college in Nebraska received notice only Wednesday at his home that she had until Tuesday to apply for an absentee ballot. "The mails aren't that fast; it's utterly impossible for her to get an absentee ballot in time," he insisted.

If elected, Bigley vowed, he would improve procedures to purge voter lists and give earlier notice of absentee ballot deadlines.

BEHR — Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, candidate for the Republican nomination for reelection in the Second District, has been endorsed by the California Teamsters Legislative Council.

FARLATTI — A coffee for Bernardino A. Farlatti of Tiburon, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 5 seat, will be at 8 p.m. today at the Strawberry home of Sidney Hendricks, 371 East Strawberry Drive.

McPHAIL — Graham H. McPhail Jr. of San Rafael, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1 seat, has declared that if elected he will push to repeal the 15 per cent increase in water rates voted by the present board.

BALES — Bruce B. Bales of San Rafael, candidate for reelection as Marin County district attorney, yesterday denied a charge made March 28 by a challenger, Edward M. Krug, that Marin is "the haven and headquarters" of criminal organizations engaged in confidence games. Bales said "There is no organized crime or corruption in Marin County. I intend to keep it that way," he declared.

FLOURNOY — James L. Flournoy, candidate for the Republican nomination for state controller, rebutting objections that he is trading on voter confusion between himself and the incumbent controller, Houston I. Flournoy (who is running for governor), said it was more likely the confusion will hurt him because backers of Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke (also running for governor) "might mistake Jim for Houston."

Noting that "a former governor was named Brown," Flournoy said he hoped "that doesn't mean that no one named Brown, Reagan, Knight or Warren may ever again serve California in some leadership office."

Flournoy insisted "the alleged voter confusion is a delusion. Evidently, I have a higher regard for the intelligence of the electorate than do some others."

The 58-year-old Los Angeles attorney was his party's nominee for secretary of state in 1970, losing to Edmund G. Brown Jr. by 290,421 votes. The governor appointed him to the Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board in 1971. He resigned from his $37,000-a-year seat on the board to run for controller.

SMITH —A coffee for Dr. Darrell F. Smith of Kentfield, candidate for Tamalpais High School District trustee, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Kentfield home of Roxanne Grechman, 3 Rosebank Lane. A cocktail party for Dr. Smith will be at 8 p.m. next Friday at the Kentfield home of Denman K. McNear, 44 Makin Grade.

TRANSIT — The Larkspur Town Meeting steering committee unanimously has endorsed Measure A, the countywide proposal on the June ballot to expand local bus service by increasing the maximum property tax rate for transit from a nickel to 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

CAYLOR — Thomas O. Caylor of San Francisco, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Fifth Congressional District and for election to the same seat for the remainder of this year, yesterday criticized the House Armed Services Subcommittee on Real Estate for stalling since last August a decision on the future of surplus land at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Roughly 320 acres originally were announced as surplus, but then the chairman of the subcommittee predicted in January that it was unlikely the land would be released by the military.

"Nobody seems to know what is going on or when a decision will be made," Caylor declared, adding that despite the long delay the disposition of the land still has not been set for a subcommittee hearing.

Caylor said he has sent a telegram to the chairman of the subcommittee, Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., "requesting an immediate decision be made so that the people of Marin will know the status of Hamilton once and for all and we can then proceed with orderly planning."

KENNETH M. HUNTER

Hunter, 31, was tapped for the post in recent elections. Other new officers are David Livingston and John Hardy, vice presidents; James Degen, state director; Steven Borden, secretary; Bruce Glass, treasurer; Bob Glass, internal director, and Jeff McAlpin, external director.

Hunter, a native of Los Angeles, moved to San Rafael in 1970. He resides at 2718 Heatherstone Drive with his wife, Jill.

He attended the University of California at Los Angeles and graduated from the University of California in San Francisco with a degree in dentistry.

The Jaycees, a young men's group with the goal of "leadership training through community involvement," meet on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at 8 p.m. at the Marinwood Community Center.

Outlay For Facility In Bolinas

Cost of the Bolinas sewer project is now set at $1,792,656, and the Bolinas Community Public Utility District has $1,884,899 in grants or other funds to pay the bills.

Lyman Robinson, clerk of the district, gave these estimates to the Independent-Journal last night. He said that although signed authorization for state and federal funding has not been received, conversations with officials confirm the grants will be approved.

Robinson gave this breakdown of project cost.

Construction of the sewer plant, $1,015,623; laboratory building, $56,800; technological work including design, testing, and inspection, $398,716; legal and fiscal costs, $6,256; administrative, $3,128; contingency fund, $52,133; and site acquisition, $1,792,656.

Funds available for the project were listed as: cash already spent, $120,885; bonds, $385,000; state grants, $197,001, and federal grants, $1,182,013.

The black bear can live twice as long in captivity as it can in the woods — 30 years if well cared for, compared to a 12 to 15-year life span in the wild.

Anarchists Free Genoa Prosecutor

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Exactly five weeks after they kidnaped him at gunpoint, urban guerrillas drugged Genoa Prosecutor Mario Sossi, stuffed a first-class train ticket in his pocket and freed him in a Milan park.

Wearing dark glasses and a beard grown in captivity, Sossi slipped through an intense manhunt for him throughout northern Italy yesterday to travel alone and unrecognized back to his Genoa home.

He was weak, tired and thin but unharmed, family lawyer Drancesco Marcellini said, and reported he "was not badly treated."

The release of the 42-year-old prosecutor left authorities puzzling whether to execute a court order granting provisional liberty to eight imprisoned anarchists in exchange for Sossi's life.

A Genoa court issued the order Monday in response to a threat by Sossi's kidnapers, the so-called "Red Brigades," to kill him if the "22nd of October" anarchists were not freed.

The government opposed the move as bowing to "blackmail" and had planned to appeal the order today.

Sossi told authorities that the guerrillas appeared resigned to not winning the anarchists' freedom.

When Cuba, North Korea and Algeria failed to answer their requests for asylum for the prisoners, Sossi said one kidnaper commented:

"If no one wants them let them come to an agreement themselves."

The guerrillas kidnaped Sossi April 18 —the first anniversary of his conviction of the eight for the robbery murder of a rent collector.

The leader of the group was sentenced to life in prison and the others to terms totaling 324 years, later reduced to 200 years.

Sossi said today he wanted to thank all those who worked for his release.

"For the sake of honesty, I must specify that my grateful thanks cannot be extended to those who, although aware of the dangers long hanging over my person... carefully avoided taking certain due responsibilities," Sossi said.

Police had discontinued their protection of Sossi some time before self-styled "Red Brigades" guerrillas abducted him outside his Genoa home April 18.

"Also for the sake of truth, I must say that during my detention I was given a humane treatment," Sossi said. "I did not lack news of my family, food, medicines, clothes and books.

Slay Suspects To Santa Rosa

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Two men charged with slaying nine members of a Victor family were moved here yesterday from the Deuel Vocational Institution in Stockton.

U.S. Scores Surplus In World Trade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States registered a $92.8 million surplus in record volumes of world trade in April, the Commerce Department said today.

For the first four months of the year the merchandise trade surplus was $778.4 million compared to a deficit of $666.7 million in the same period last year, the report said.

In April, the department said, the United States exported some $8.2 billio worth of goods on a seasonally adjusted basis while the value of imports totaled about $8.1 billion.

The balance of trade is part of the more important balance of payments, which includes services and money invested in international trade.

For the first four months, seasonally adjusted exports at an annual rate were $91.9 billion, about 30 per cent higher than the same period last year. Seasonally adjusted imports for the four months were at an annual rate of $89.5 billion, also up about 30 per cent.

In a related report, Commerce said oil imports jumped 18 per cent in volume from April to March. The United States imported 192 million barrels of petroleum products valued at $2.2 billion compared with 161 million barrels valued at $1.8 billion in March.

The United States increased the value of goods exported in every category with the biggest increases coming in chemicals, farm products and non-electric equipment.

Imports rose significantly for fuel, moderately for machinery, cars, beverages and tobacco, and declined for foods, raw materials and manufactured goods.

The Second Ace Did The Trick

DUNDEE, Scotland (UPI) — A.B. Miller and William Fitzgerald both got 23 votes yesterday in an election for the post of chairman of the Teesside regional council. To break the tie they decided to cut cards.

Both cut aces.

When they cut a second time, Miller came up with another ace and took the job. Fitzgerald drew a nine.

HAVE YOUR REAL ESTATE TAXES INCREASED?

YOU are now beginning to pay for the unwise water moratorium on new water connections in Marin County.

This water moratorium created an artificial shortage of water approved building lots in Marin County.

This artificial shortage placed a premium on existing water-approved lots.

This artificial shortage of lots has contributed to skyrocketing assessments on buildable lots and neighboring property values. This increase is

SUBSTANTIAL

The prices of existing homes for resale have moved up in conjuction with the increased new home prices.

State law requires, and the MARIN COUNTY ASSESSOR is using these increased prices of homes to re-assess the value of YOUR home — SUBSTANTIALLY UPWARD

This re-assessment is causing YOUR TAX BILL to INCREASE

SO - YOU ARE PAYING THE COST OF THIS WATER MORATORIUM

Outlay For Facility In Bolinas

Cost of the Bolinas sewer project is now set at $1,792,656, and the Bolinas Community Public Utility District has $1,884,899 in grants or other funds to pay the bills.

Lyman Robinson, clerk of the district, gave these estimates to the Independent-Journal last night. He said that although signed authorization for state and federal funding has not been received, conversations with officials confirm the grants will be approved.

Robinson gave this breakdown of project cost.

Construction of the sewer plant, $1,015,623; laboratory building, $56,800; technological work including design, testing, and inspection, $398,716; legal and fiscal costs, $6,256; administrative, $3,128; contingency fund, $52,133; and site acquisition, $1,792,656.

Funds available for the project were listed as: cash already spent, $120,885; bonds, $385,000; state grants, $197,001, and federal grants, $1,182,013.

Anarchists Free Genoa Prosecutor

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Exactly five weeks after they kidnaped him at gunpoint, urban guerrillas drugged Genoa Prosecutor Mario Sossi, stuffed a first-class train ticket in his pocket and freed him in a Milan park.

Wearing dark glasses and a beard grown in captivity, Sossi slipped through an intense manhunt for him throughout northern Italy yesterday to travel alone and unrecognized back to his Genoa home.

He was weak, tired and thin but unharmed, family lawyer Drancesco Marcellini said, and reported he "was not badly treated."

The release of the 42-year-old prosecutor left authorities puzzling whether to execute a court order granting provisional liberty to eight imprisoned anarchists in exchange for Sossi's life.

A Genoa court issued the order Monday in response to a threat by Sossi's kidnapers, the so-called "Red Brigades," to kill him if the "22nd of October" anarchists were not freed.

The government opposed the move as bowing to "blackmail" and had planned to appeal the order today.

Sossi told authorities that the guerrillas appeared resigned to not winning the anarchists' freedom.

When Cuba, North Korea and Algeria failed to answer their requests for asylum for the prisoners, Sossi said one kidnaper commented:

"If no one wants them let them come to an agreement themselves."

The guerrillas kidnaped Sossi April 18 —the first anniversary of his conviction of the eight for the robbery murder of a rent collector.

The leader of the group was sentenced to life in prison and the others to terms totaling 324 years, later reduced to 200 years.

Sossi said today he wanted to thank all those who worked for his release.

"For the sake of honesty, I must specify that my grateful thanks cannot be extended to those who, although aware of the dangers long hanging over my person... carefully avoided taking certain due responsibilities," Sossi said.

Police had discontinued their protection of Sossi some time before self-styled "Red Brigades" guerrillas abducted him outside his Genoa home April 18.

"Also for the sake of truth, I must say that during my detention I was given a humane treatment," Sossi said. "I did not lack news of my family, food, medicines, clothes and books.

U.S. Scores Surplus In World Trade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States registered a $92.8 million surplus in record volumes of world trade in April, the Commerce Department said today.

For the first four months of the year the merchandise trade surplus was $778.4 million compared to a deficit of $666.7 million in the same period last year, the report said.

In April, the department said, the United States exported some $8.2 billio worth of goods on a seasonally adjusted basis while the value of imports totaled about $8.1 billion.

The balance of trade is part of the more important balance of payments, which includes services and money invested in international trade.

For the first four months, seasonally adjusted exports at an annual rate were $91.9 billion, about 30 per cent higher than the same period last year. Seasonally adjusted imports for the four months were at an annual rate of $89.5 billion, also up about 30 per cent.

In a related report, Commerce said oil imports jumped 18 per cent in volume from April to March. The United States imported 192 million barrels of petroleum products valued at $2.2 billion compared with 161 million barrels valued at $1.8 billion in March.

The United States increased the value of goods exported in every category with the biggest increases coming in chemicals, farm products and non-electric equipment.

Imports rose significantly for fuel, moderately for machinery, cars, beverages and tobacco, and declined for foods, raw materials and manufactured goods.

The Second Ace Did The Trick

DUNDEE, Scotland (UPI) — A.B. Miller and William Fitzgerald both got 23 votes yesterday in an election for the post of chairman of the Teesside regional council. To break the tie they decided to cut cards.

Both cut aces.

HAVE YOUR REAL ESTATE TAXES INCREASED?

YOU are now beginning to pay for the unwise water moratorium on new water connections in Marin County.

This water moratorium created an artificial shortage of water approved building lots in Marin County.

This artificial shortage placed a premium on existing water-approved lots.

This artificial shortage of lots has contributed to skyrocketing assessments on buildable lots and neighboring property values. This increase is

SUBSTANTIAL

The prices of existing homes for resale have moved up in conjuction with the increased new home prices.

State law requires, and the MARIN COUNTY ASSESSOR is using these increased prices of homes to re-assess the value of YOUR home — SUBSTANTIALLY UPWARD

This re-assessment is causing YOUR TAX BILL to INCREASE

THAT'S THE WAY IT USED TO BE

A Rather Lackluster Encounter Between Baptiste, Mrs. Machado

By FRANK FARRARA

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste and his challenger for the Fifth District seat, Betty Machado didn't set off any sparks yesterday in a lackluster candidates' luncheon.

Mrs. Machado attacked a letter to the editor of the weekly Novato Advance by Ronald D. Schenck, a fellow Novato Unified School District trustee, as an underhand campaign tactic, but drew no response from Baptiste.

Schenck said in the letter which rapped Mrs. Machado, he was solely responsible for the contents.

Only three or four questions were raised from an audience of about 50 persons at the Novato Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Alvarado Inn.

Mrs. Machado said she would serve as a full-time supervisor rather than part-time and said she believes "a woman is necessary on the board."

The transportation system is confused with the Marin Transit District, a single agency yet part of the Golden Gate Bridge District, she said. "North Marin doesn't have any representative of the bridge district board. That's why we have those ferries," she said.

Marin "can slide into regional government with those on the board today," Mrs. Machado said.

Baptiste said he puts in 50 to 60 hours a week on county business. During his term there have been efforts to preserve and protect agriculture, improve Gnoss Field and the start of recreation development at Stafford Lake and development of an industrial park in Ignacio, he said.

He said there will be improvements of the ramp at Black Point and he is working toward a joint county-Indian Valley Colleges project for a 50-meter swimming pool at the college in 1976.

Baptiste said his philosophy is toward a balance of environmental, social and economic goals.

He said the proposed consolidation of public health, social services, mental health and probation services, has been "mislabeled a superagency in order to confuse the public."

He said under the concept both the individuals involved and the taxpayers will "be better served."

Mrs. Machado said "now is the time to stop liberal spending and be a watchdog."

When the candidates were asked if they supported the Novato Fire Protection District June 4 ballot to hike the tax rate ceiling 57 cents to build a new fire station, hire additional firemen and start an ambulance service, Mrs. Machado said she was against it.

Baptiste said the propsed fire station is needed in the Ignacio area. As to the ambulance service, he said, it is up to the community to determine if it wants a higher level of service than the county offers.

Has Trotsky Eight Lives Remaining?

Is Trotsky really dead, killed while in custody of the authorities? Or did another die in his place and Trotsky escape to roam in freedom?

That is the question being asked by Milton Weiner of Sausalito.

Weiner's concern began 10 days after Trotsky, his cat, bit a neighbor and was sent to the Marin County Humane Society's shelter for observation as a precaution against rabies.

When the 10-day observation period ended, a cat that was not Trotsky was delivered to Weiner by the society. When he complained and demanded Trotsky, he said, a society employee told him Trotsky must either have been adopted, escaped or been stolen.

But Weiner said he thinks Trotsky was put to death. "What cat were they observing?" he asked.

Said John Gill, the humane society's executive director: "There's no doubt been some kind of a screw-up."

Two Sets Of Statistics On Consumer Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department plans to publish two sets of statistics on consumer prices starting next month.

Julius Shiskin, commissioner of labor statistics, said his bureau "is now convinced that a single index cannot fully meet the diverse needs of users in business, labor and government."

The regular Consumer Price Index covers about 45 per cent of the population, officials said. It will continue to be compiled, but a new one will be added that they said would cover about 80 percent and reflect "a comprehensive measure of consumer price trends for the entire economy."

Brown Bares Big Spending Of Lobbyists

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lobbyists spend $10.4 million a year to influence officials and legislation in California, Secretary of State Edmund Brown Jr. has disclosed.

Brown yesterday said lobbyists "give expensive presents such as refrigerators, automobile tires, sporting equipment and cases of liquor to public officials" but that "much of this is kept well-hidden from public view."

At a news conference, the Democratic contender for governor said he based the disclosure on a "confidential survey" made by him and his staff and on inspection of lobbyist financial reports.

Under questioning, he refused to disclose who told him of receiving gifts such as refrigerators from lobbyists. He identified them only as "state public officials and some of them are legislators."

Brown called the news conference to help promote passage of Prop. 9, the "political reform initiative," which, among other things, would prohibit lobbyists from making direct campaign contributions and reduce lobbyist spending for influencing public officials to a maximum $10 a month per official. The measure also would enact stricter lobbyist financial reporting requirements.

He said his examination of state records from January 1974 through last March showed lobbyists were paid $9.9 million in salaries, spent $919,483 for "wining and dining" politicians and $2.1 million for such expenses as travel, rent, clerical help and gifts and trips for public officials.

"Lobbying is now one of Sacramento's major industries," he said. "In my judgment, this multi-million-dollar spending spree has now reached crisis proportions and must be curbed."

Better Mileage Will Be Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John C. Sawhill, federal energy chief, says he plans to meet with major automobile makers to try to prod them to make cars that give better mileage for a gallon of gasoline.

Sawhill said he already has arranged a meeting with Chrysler officials and plans to talk with others of the Big Four automakers — General Motors, Ford and American.

Sawhill, director od the Federal Energy Administration, told reporters yesterday that American-made cars now give an average of 13.5 miles a gallon. He said his objective is to get them to make vehicles that would get 17 miles a gallon by 1980, and 19 miles a gallon by 1985.

Patricia Hearst's Sisters Beg Her To Give Self Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Stressing the dangers of being a fugitive, two teen-aged sisters of Patricia Hearst have pleaded with her to surrender because "we really love you."

Anne Hearst, 18, and her sister, Victoria, 17, appealed yesterday in taped messages to Miss Hearst to end an ordeal which began Feb. 4 when the Symbionese Liberation Army kidnaped her from a Berkeley apartment.

"The police and the FBI aren't all that sympathetic anymore," Vicki said. "I mean they've taken a lot of trash from these guys and I just don't think they're going to sit around and take much more of it."

And Anne said, "I just want to tell you that we really love you."

Goes before jury

Miss Hearst, who has been charged with kidnaping and 19 other criminal offenses, has said in taped messages distributed by the SLA that she has become a "soldier" in its revolution.

The newspaper heiress, daughter of San Francisco Examiner editor Randolph A. Hearst, and two other SLA members, William and Emily Harris, were still at large.

There were these other developments Thursday:

Los Angeles County Coroner Thomas Noguchi disclosed that microscopic examinations indicated Donald DeFreeze, the SLA's leader who went by the name "Cinque," killed himself in Friday's shootout that left five other SLA members dead in Los Angeles. DeFreeze was buried yesterday in Cleveland, Ohio, his home. His brother vowed to carry on "my brother's banner."

Los Angeles police said two guns found in the charred debris of the SLA's hideout which was attacked in a blazing gunbattle were linked with two young men held on suspicion of killing Oakland School Superintendent Marcus A. Foster last November.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley defended the police assault on the Los Angeles hideout. "When they chose to fire, the decision became theirs at that point," he said in Washington.

Former U.S. Attorney Cecil Poole criticized Los Angeles District Attorney Joseph Busch for statements branding Patricia as a criminal. He said the Hearst family was outraged by his remarks.

A grand jury in San Francisco began investigating whether Miss Hearst should be charged with bank robbery. Her fiance, Steven Weed, whom she has denounced, was one of the first to testify.

The appeals from Miss Hearst's sisters were broadcast over California radio stations.

Vicki Hearst said: "You saw what happened in Los Angeles. I just don't want that to happen to you because I don't want to see you die ... I just hope you don't decide to throw your life away on a war that doesn't exist."

Noguchi said examinations of DeFreeze's body showed a gunpowder wound on his right temple. A bullet, he said, exited the left temple. He added the evidence was "consistent with" self-inflicted wounds.

Hitchhiker Is Believer Now

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI) — A teen-age hitchhiker told police yesterday she spotted a severed human foot in the back of a car she was given a ride in.

Officers searched all day before finally locating the vehicle. But the object they found in the back seat was not a human foot. It was a ham.

"I'll never go on the road again," the girl said.

One Class Likely To Be Dropped

Kindergarten registration in the Larkspur School District is down by 20 per cent and one of the two classes at San Clemente School will probably be eliminated as a result.

Gilbert Slusher, assistant superintendent, said district trustees were told last night that only 118 youngsters are registered as compared to 152 this year. He said only 31 students are registered in the San Clemente School area.

He said only 31 students are registered in the San Clemente School area and so one of the two classes at that school will probably be eliminated. Slusher said the extra teacher at San Clemente would then be reassigned within the district.

The Larkspur School District board also:

LOAN — Was told that its repayment of state loans will be increased from $140,000 to $160,000 next year because of increased assessed valuation in the district and increased redemption of its outstanding bonds. It will increase the district tax for loan repayment by three cents but there should still be about a 15-cent drop in the total tax rate of $3.57 per $100 assessed valuation because of increased valuation, Slusher said.

CLAIM — Rejected without comment the personal injury claim of Maureen Cane, a student who was injured with a door closed on her hand at Henry C. Hall School. The claim was for an amount "presently unknown."

CALENDAR — Changed the spring vacation in next year's school calendar from March 24-28 to April 14-18 so the calendar will be the same as Redwood High School's. Opening date of Sept. 10 and closing on June 18 remain unchanged.

PAINTING — Awarded a $9,191 contract of Larry Gates Painting of San Rafael for exterior painting of San Clemente. Gates' was low among six bidders and was within the $9,200 estimate for the project.

TRANSPORTATION — Called for bids on its contract for student bussing within the district because its present contract with Patchetts Transportation Co. of Richmond expires at the end of this school year.

COLLEGE — Authorized spending $440 so that 40 district students can participate in the College for Kids program at College of Marin during the 1974-75 school year.

PERSONNEL — Received the resignation of Henry C. Hall School maintenance man Allen Livers who quit to return to school; hired Eloise Castle as a special teacher at Neil Cummins School for $7 per hour, 2.5 hous a day to work with students wherever they have weaknesses, and hired Lynd Park as a teacher aide at Larkspur-Corte Madera for $2.75 per hour, two hours a day.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to June 13 at 8 p.m. in the district office.

Frank Sinatra Now Grandfather

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Singer Nancy Sinatra has given birth to a daughter, making Frank Sinatra a grandfather for the first time, it was reported yesterday.

The child, weighing 8 pounds, 14 ounces, was born in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. Miss Sinatra and her husband, television director Hugh Lambert, said it will be named Angela Jennifer.

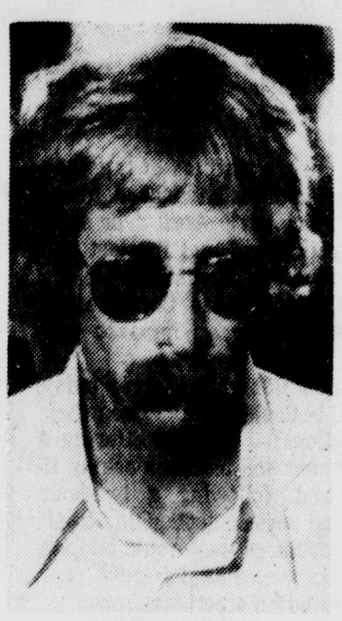
Patricia Hearst's Sisters Beg Her To Give Self Up

ANNE HEARST
Pleads with sister



STEVEN WEED
Goes before jury

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Stressing the dangers of being a fugitive, two teen-aged sisters of Patricia Hearst have pleaded with her to surrender because "we really love you."

Anne Hearst, 18, and her sister, Victoria, 17, appealed yesterday in taped messages to Miss Hearst to end an ordeal which began Feb. 4 when the Symbionese Liberation Army kidnaped her from a Berkeley apartment.

"The police and the FBI aren't all that sympathetic anymore," Vicki said. "I mean they've taken a lot of trash from these guys and I just don't think they're going to sit around and take much more of it."

And Anne said, "I just want to tell you that we really love you."

Miss Hearst, who has been charged with kidnaping and 19 other criminal offenses, has said in taped messages distributed by the SLA that she has become a "soldier" in its revolution.

The newspaper heiress, daughter of San Francisco Examiner editor Randolph A. Hearst, and two other SLA members, William and Emily Harris, were still at large.

There were these other developments Thursday:

Los Angeles County Coroner Thomas Noguchi disclosed that microscopic examinations indicated Donald DeFreeze, the SLA's leader who went by the name "Cinque," killed himself in Friday's shootout that left five other SLA members dead in Los Angeles. DeFreeze was buried yesterday in Cleveland, Ohio, his home. His brother vowed to carry on "my brother's banner."

Los Angeles police said two guns found in the charred debris of the SLA's hideout which was attacked in a blazing gunbattle were linked with two young men held on suspicion of killing Oakland School Superintendent Marcus A. Foster last November.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley defended the police assault on the Los Angeles hideout. "When they chose to fire, the decision became theirs at that point," he said in Washington.

Former U.S. Attorney Cecil Poole criticized Los Angeles District Attorney Joseph Busch for statements branding Patricia as a criminal. He said the Hearst family was outraged by his remarks.

A grand jury in San Francisco began investigating whether Miss Hearst should be charged with bank robbery. Her fiance, Steven Weed, whom she has denounced, was one of the first to testify.

The appeals from Miss Hearst's sisters were broadcast over California radio stations.

Vicki Hearst said: "You saw what happened in Los Angeles. I just don't want that to happen to you because I don't want to see you die ... I just hope you don't decide to throw your life away on a war that doesn't exist."

Noguchi said examinations of DeFreeze's body showed a gunpowder wound on his right temple. A bullet, he said, exited the left temple. He added the evidence was "consistent with" self-inflicted wounds.

Hitchhiker Is Believer Now

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI) — A teen-age hitchhiker told police yesterday she spotted a severed human foot in the back of a car she was given a ride in.

Officers searched all day before finally locating the vehicle. But the object they found in the back seat was not a human foot. It was a ham.

"I'll never go on the road again," the girl said.

One Class Likely To Be Dropped

Kindergarten registration in the Larkspur School District is down by 20 per cent and one of the two classes at San Clemente School will probably be eliminated as a result.

Gilbert Slusher, assistant superintendent, said district trustees were told last night that only 118 youngsters are registered as compared to 152 this year. He said only 31 students are registered in the San Clemente School area.

He said only 31 students are registered in the San Clemente School area and so one of the two classes at that school will probably be eliminated. Slusher said the extra teacher at San Clemente would then be reassigned within the district.

The Larkspur School District board also:

LOAN — Was told that its repayment of state loans will be increased from $140,000 to $160,000 next year because of increased assessed valuation in the district and increased redemption of its outstanding bonds. It will increase the district tax for loan repayment by three cents but there should still be about a 15-cent drop in the total tax rate of $3.57 per $100 assessed valuation because of increased valuation, Slusher said.

CLAIM — Rejected without comment the personal injury claim of Maureen Cane, a student who was injured with a door closed on her hand at Henry C. Hall School. The claim was for an amount "presently unknown."

CALENDAR — Changed the spring vacation in next year's school calendar from March 24-28 to April 14-18 so the calendar will be the same as Redwood High School's. Opening date of Sept. 10 and closing on June 18 remain unchanged.

PAINTING — Awarded a $9,191 contract of Larry Gates Painting of San Rafael for exterior painting of San Clemente. Gates' was low among six bidders and was within the $9,200 estimate for the project.

TRANSPORTATION — Called for bids on its contract for student bussing within the district because its present contract with Patchetts Transportation Co. of Richmond expires at the end of this school year.

COLLEGE — Authorized spending $440 so that 40 district students can participate in the College for Kids program at College of Marin during the 1974-75 school year.

PERSONNEL — Received the resignation of Henry C. Hall School maintenance man Allen Livers who quit to return to school; hired Eloise Castle as a special teacher at Neil Cummins School for $7 per hour, 2.5 hous a day to work with students wherever they have weaknesses, and hired Lynd Park as a teacher aide at Larkspur-Corte Madera for $2.75 per hour, two hours a day.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to June 13 at 8 p.m. in the district office.

Frank Sinatra Now Grandfather

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Singer Nancy Sinatra has given birth to a daughter, making Frank Sinatra a grandfather for the first time, it was reported yesterday.

The child, weighing 8 pounds, 14 ounces, was born in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. Miss Sinatra and her husband, television director Hugh Lambert, said it will be named Angela Jennifer.

Brown, Moretti In Verbal Clash

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — A dramatic, rough and tumble confrontation between Bob Moretti and Edmund G. Brown Jr. shook the Democratic gubernatorial campaign today with the primary election only 11 days away.

Brown, the reform-minded secretary of state, charged Assembly Speaker Moretti with being a latecomer to the effort to close tax loopholes and clean up political abuses.

"You have been up here for several years and I think you just got religion," said Brown, who once studied to be a priest.

Moretti, in an unexpected face-to-face encounter Thursday with the Democratic frontrunner, countered that Brown was "lying about Moretti's position on aid to local schools.

"The amount of information that you know about around here could be written on the head of a needle," Moretti said.

Brown and Moretti, who has been ranked No. 2 in public opinion polls on the race, both endorsed legalizing homosexuality and other sexual acts between consenting adults during their heated debate.

"Moretti's more of a rough and tumble guy. Maybe some of it came through," the aide said.

Both candidates shouted during the debate but Moretti was clearly the aggressor. The exchange however, showed few differences on the issues between the two.

Brown asserted that Moretti said the state's recently enacted property tax relief-school aid law would comply with the landmark Serrano court decision.

It was then Moretti angrily replied, "That is a lie. That is an absolute, out-and-out falsehood."

Moretti portrayed Brown, son of the former governor, as coming from a "very protected kind of world" and was not familiar with the the problems of the working man.

IMPROMPTU DEBATE — Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti (right) and Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., engaged in a heated verbal battle yesterday after Moretti confronted Brown between back-to-back news conferences and accused him of running from a debate on the issues in their race for the Democratic nomination for governor. (AP Wirephoto)

Brown retorted he has identified with civil rights and farmworkers movements — "persons whose struggles are greater than yours and mine."

And he said he swept floors and cleaned toilets while he was studying for the priesthood.

The debate began after Moretti and Brown scheduled back-to-back news conferences in the Capitol. Moretti remained after his concluded and immediately challenged Brown to a debate.

During his news conference, Moretti criticized Brown for "running" from a proposed televised debate.

Brown attacked lobbyists' spending and charged that a "system that permits $1 million a year to be spent on wining and dining elected officials is wrong."

Video Program Being Written On Transcripts

BOSTON (AP) — "If you liked the book, you'll love the move."

So say two Boston men who are preparing a videotaped dramatization of the edited White House transcripts of Watergate conversations.

Webster Lithgow and Thomas McCann of The Transcripts Film Co. say they will offer the 40-hour dramatization, using professional actors to portray the roles of the President and his aides, to the television networks or for syndication to independent TV stations.

Expletives deleted in the printed version of the transcripts will be represented by "bleeps" in the spoken conversation, and inaudible or unintelligible references will be treated with appropriate sounds, Lithgow said.

Tam Teachers Told They'll Get Only 4 Per Cent Salary Hikes

Tamalpais High School District teachers have been told they will receive only 4 per cent cost-of-living raises next year and a teacher spokesman today said a one-day strike may be called.

Representatives of trustees and teachers have been meeting since early April over salary raises and met the last two days with a mediator from the California State Conciliation Service after an impasse was declared in the talks.

Supt. Robert D. Torrey today said both sides maintained their positions — trustees offering 4 per cent and teachers asking 15 — and, following a two-hour closed session last night, trustees declared they would adopt a salary schedule for next year with only a 4 per cent raise.

"The membership is going to discuss what action it will take. . . included is the possibility of a one-day strike," said Frank Gold, teachers union president. Teachers will meet Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at Sir Francis Drake High School.

He said teachers today will seek strike sanction from the Marin County Central Labor Council.

Torrey said adoption of the 4 per cent raise will come at trustees' regular meeting June 3.

"Their reasoning is that they have dipped into the reserves for the first time, $200,000 worth. . . because the employee organization wanted them to save 15 teachers," he said. "To go higher on salaries at this time would cut seriously into the educational program of the district."

When first faced with a projected $600,000 deficit earlier this year, trustees notified 38 teachers they might not be rehired next year. The, after several lengthy meetings and under pressure from teachers, trustees decided that all district teachers would be rehired, but warned the price would be a low wage income.

Trustees will still have to make adjustments in their proposed $12.3 million budget to accomodate the 4 per cent raise which would cost $300,000.

Teachers request for a 15 per cent pay hike would cost $1,125,000.

Wilson Honors His Secretary

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today gave his controversial secretary Marcia Williams the highest honor he can bestow — a life peerage as a baroness.

The peerage for the 41-year-old Mrs. Williams, Wilson's personal and political secretary for 20 years, was among 15 announced for three women and 12 men in today's London Gazette.

Mrs. Williams, known as a member of his "kitchen cabinet," has for years been the target of criticism from some members of Wilson's Labor Party who say she exercises too much influence.

Kissinger Says Good Gains Made In Talks

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today he had made good progress in three hours of talks with Prime Minister Golda Meir on an American middle-of-the road compromise plan to break the deadlock over a troop disengagement agreement with Syria.

Kissinger met with Mrs. Meir and the Israeli negotiating team this morning and was to meet her again later in the day. He was expected to delay his 11th shuttle to Damascus until tomorrow morning in order to be able to present the completed plan to Syrian President Hafez Assad.

There was a possibility the pact would be initialed on Sunday.

The Israeli cabinet met in the meantime to go over Kissinger's ideas to bridge the gap between Israel and Syria on the remaining major issue — thinning out their forces along a cease-fire line.

"As I pointed out on the remaining issues, especially on the thinning out of forces, we are considering whether the time is approaching when an American proposal might help matters," Kissinger told newsmen.

"In order to do this, we had a very detailed examination of all aspects with our Israeli colleagues and I believe we made good progress."

A similar American plan broke the deadlock just a week ago on the issue of where the cease-fire line should be drawn.

Israeli Information Minister Shimon Peres said the American proposal was "something in the nature of the middle road."

Asked if the agreement could be concluded this weekend, Peres said "I don't know. If things will happen very fast, it may be a possibility, but I'm not sure."

An American-Israeli working group was set up to prepare the text on the points already agreed upon, such as the location of a cease-fire line, the role of U.N. troops and an exchange of prisoners.

One of the other main issues still unresolved but believed to be moving toward agreement is the size of the United Nations force to be stationed along the demarcation line in the Golan Heights. Israel wants several thousand troops, Syria wants only a few hundred.

A 60-Day Honor Farm Sentence

A former Berkeley policeman's second scrape with the law resulted today in a 60-day sentence at the county honor farm and two years on probation.

Christopher John Panagotacos, 28, was sentenced by Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith on misdemeanor charges of burglary and grand theft, to which he pleaded guilty.

Panagotacos was arrested in Ross in December after police there said he and another man had loaded doors, ladders, boards and insulation from a construction site onto Panagotacos's pickup truck.

Judge Smith turned down Deputy Dist. Atty. John D. Posey's request that Panagotacos be sentenced to four months in jail.

In an earlier case against the former policeman, who has retired from the Berkeley force and is seeking a disability pension, a municipal court jury acquired him on a battery charge arising from a 1972 street brawl at a San Anselmo tavern.

Lagunitas Trustees Set Closed Session

Lagunitas School District trustees will hold a closed session at 5:30 p.m. today to review their earlier decision not to rehire reading specialist Bonnie Olson next fall.

Supt. Harry F. Roche explained that he has asked the board to reconsider their May 9 vote, which was taken after the district's special state-funded Miller-Unruh reading program was ended.

Affairs Council Will Seek Role In Land Fuss

Directors of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs have voted to seek court permission to become an intervening party in opposing a Kentfield resident's suit to block a senior citizens' housing porject on the Dominican Priory site in Kentfield.

The action was approved at the board's meeting Wednesday, according to Adelaide P. Wilson, council co-chairman.

The suit by Louis F. Hawkins is the latest move in a lengthy battle to prevent the project, sponsored by the Ecumenical Housing Association of Marin and Catholic Social Services of Marin.

The Marin Council for Civic Affairs has been an active member of the housing association since its inception, Mrs. Wilson said.

Impeachment Said A Certainty Now

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Wall Street Journal said today that President Nixon's impeachment now seems assured, that the main question is the margin.

The newspaper said the President's refusal to heed subpoenas by the House Judiciary Committee have cost him more support among Republicans and that Rep. Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, the top Republican on the committee and a top Nixon defender, "appears increasingly troubled by the trend of events."

Driver Is Held For Drug Probe

A Cotati man, reportedly carrying more than 10,000 Benzadrine tablets in his car, was arrested by Novato police early today.

Gerald J. Billings, 32, of 9560 Redwood Highway was arrested on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs for sale and possession of marijuana.

Police said Billings was driving north on Highway 101 at Hamilton Air Force Base at a high rate of speed and his car was weaving at 2:43 a.m.

After he was stopped, he attempted to push a brown paper bag, containtiang the tablets under the driver's seat, police said. In a lunch box, he was carrying what appeared to be marijuana, police reported.

Billings was booked at Marin County Jail, bail was set at $15,000 and he was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Suicide Barrier Plan 'Man Can Go Through'

The Golden Gate Bridge District has spent — so far — $120,000 and three and one-half years to design a suicide prevention barrier that "a man can walk right through," a bridge official reported today.

The problem was revealed by Harry Reilich, district engineer, in a report to the district's finance and auditing committee. The committee was reviewing next year's budget for the span, which includes a proposed $55,000 item for more testing of the barrier.

Reilich explained that the bridge district's own engineering department built a full-scale piece of the eight-foot-high barrier, exactly as it had been designed by the Anshen and Allen architectural firm of San Francisco.

The design earlier passed given wind tunnel and other tests, but the bridge staff found it was easy to bend the vertical ⅜-inch steel rods apart enough to slip through. Even when the spacing was reduced from the original 7 inches to 3.5 inches, the barrier was ineffective, Reilich reported.

The long quest has been to replace the present chest-high railing with an eight-foot barrier that still would not block the view from the span.

Six Are Jailed

LISBON (UPI) — Portugal's new government has locked up at least six top officials of the ousted right-wing regime in a military prison, the newspaper O Seculo said today.

The government said yesterday it would court-martial former Interior Minister Cesar Moreira Baptista, whose department had charge of the dreaded secret police, and Former Defense Minister Joaquin Silva Cunha on unspecified charges.

OLD CHAPEL RESTORED

An historic Russian chapel at Fort Ross on the Sonoma County coast has been meticulously restored at a cost of $52,000 following a 1970 fire. One of several California State Historical parks in the Redwood Empire, the site was occupied by colonists from Czarist Alaska between 1812 and 1841. Now, Coast Highway travelers can tour several authentically restored buildings with the log stockade walls of the former Muscovite bastion. (UPI Telephoto)

U.S. Film Wins Cannes Grand Prize

CANNES (UPI) — The Cannes Film Festival jury today awarded its grand prize to "The Conversation" by American director Francis Ford Coppola, who made "The Godfather."

Best actor award went to American Jack Nicholson for his role in "The Last Detail."

Best actress award went to Marie-Jose Nat for her performance in "Les Violons du Bal" (Violins of the Ball).

Jury prize: "Cousin Angelica" by Carlos Saura of Spain.

Best screenplay: "Sugarland Express" (United States).

Best short subject: "The Island" (Soviet Union).

The jury said it "rendered particular homage" to Charles Boyer for his acting in Alain Resnais' French film, "Stavisky."

Gene Hackman plays the role of a professional electronic snoop in "The Conversation." The screenplay, despite its Watergate overtones, was started by Coppolo before the 1972 bugging of the Democratic party headquarters.

But critics said Watergate added extra appeal to the film which recounts Hackman's devious ways and his preoccupation with the conversation of one young couple he has been hired to "overhear."

MUSIC REVIEW

One-Act Operas Examine Marriage

By VERA M. OLMSTED

The institution of marriage is examined and found wanting in two entertaining one-act operas currently being staged at the College of Marin Studio Theater.

The two works presented by the opera workshop are dissimilar in both style and approach. "The Devil Take Her" by English composer Arthur Benjamin is a light, comic bit of fluff, while Marc Bucci's "Tale for a Deaf Ear" eavesdrops on a marriage being corroded by continuous strife.

"Tale for a Deaf Ear," directed by Phyllis Murphy, was the more polished of the two and had a stronger cast.

The plot describes a presumably upper-middle-class couple who constantly bicker. During one of their fights the husband has a heart attack and dies, leaving the wife suddenly repentant and sincerely sorry for the conditions that led up to his death.

The story line becomes a bit thick here as a chorus of robed figures enters and discloses to the audience that under certain conditions (too involved to go into here), four miracles can be granted if a true penitent pleads for the return of the dead.

Three separate scenes portray the pleadings of three different penitents: a Florentine woman mourning the death of her child; a farm girl wishing her cow back, and a German soldier overcome by the death of his brother in combat.

The wife, crying over the body of her husband, is suddenly granted the fourth miracle and he comes back to life without realizing what has happened to him. Instead of changing their ways, they begin to quarrel all over again, at which point the husband suffers another heart attack, this time the final end.

Tommie Sue Anderson and Daniel Pae as wife and husband get full honors for their performance. They knew how to move and act naturally on stage, and their enunciation was so clear that every syllable could be heard even when Both were singing different words at the same time.

Martha Hill, as the Florentine woman, has a promising voice, sweet and expressive, and Larry Bedini gave a dramatic and touching interpretation in his aria as a German soldier.

The singers were accompanied by two pianos and celeste, played by Mrs. Murphy and William Clark. Composer Bocci, lives and works in Southern California, and the music was lyric and essentially tonal, with bits of ballade and jazz sound thrown in, and the three penitent scenes were handled in the appropriate eclectic style.

"The Devil Take Her," directed by Clark, lacked focus and the singers had some difficulty moving around the stage, but the cast was clearly enthusiastic about its work.

Elaine Messer as the wife was attractive and pert, but not really shrewish; Larry Bedini, as the poet-husband was a solid performer, and Robert Martini as the doctor-devil displayed a light, pleasing voice and an easy acting manner.

The same program will be repeated today, tomorrow and Sunday at 8:30 p.m.

OLD CHAPEL RESTORED

An historic Russian chapel at Fort Ross on the Sonoma County coast has been meticulously restored at a cost of $52,000 following a 1970 fire. One of several California State Historical parks in the Redwood Empire, the site was occupied by colonists from Czarist Alaska between 1812 and 1841. Now, Coast Highway travelers can tour several authentically restored buildings with the log stockade walls of the former Muscovite bastion. (UPI Telephoto)

U.S. Film Wins Cannes Grand Prize

CANNES (UPI) — The Cannes Film Festival jury today awarded its grand prize to "The Conversation" by American director Francis Ford Coppola, who made "The Godfather."

Best actor award went to American Jack Nicholson for his role in "The Last Detail."

Best actress award went to Marie-Jose Nat for her performance in "Les Violons du Bal" (Violins of the Ball).

Jury prize: "Cousin Angelica" by Carlos Saura of Spain.

Best screenplay: "Sugarland Express" (United States).

Best short subject: "The Island" (Soviet Union).

The jury said it "rendered particular homage" to Charles Boyer for his acting in Alain Resnais' French film, "Stavisky."

Gene Hackman plays the role of a professional electronic snoop in "The Conversation." The screenplay, despite its Watergate overtones, was started by Coppolo before the 1972 bugging of the Democratic party headquarters.

But critics said Watergate added extra appeal to the film which recounts Hackman's devious ways and his preoccupation with the conversation of one young couple he has been hired to "overhear."

MUSIC REVIEW

One-Act Operas Examine Marriage

By VERA M. OLMSTED

The institution of marriage is examined and found wanting in two entertaining one-act operas currently being staged at the College of Marin Studio Theater.

The two works presented by the opera workshop are dissimilar in both style and approach. "The Devil Take Her" by English composer Arthur Benjamin is a light, comic bit of fluff, while Marc Bucci's "Tale for a Deaf Ear" eavesdrops on a marriage being corroded by continuous strife.

"Tale for a Deaf Ear," directed by Phyllis Murphy, was the more polished of the two and had a stronger cast.

The plot describes a presumably upper-middle-class couple who constantly bicker. During one of their fights the husband has a heart attack and dies, leaving the wife suddenly repentant and sincerely sorry for the conditions that led up to his death.

The story line becomes a bit thick here as a chorus of robed figures enters and discloses to the audience that under certain conditions (too involved to go into here), four miracles can be granted if a true penitent pleads for the return of the dead.

Three separate scenes portray the pleadings of three different penitents: a Florentine woman mourning the death of her child; a farm girl wishing her cow back, and a German soldier overcome by the death of his brother in combat.

The wife, crying over the body of her husband, is suddenly granted the fourth miracle and he comes back to life without realizing what has happened to him. Instead of changing their ways, they begin to quarrel all over again, at which point the husband suffers another heart attack, this time the final end.

Tommie Sue Anderson and Daniel Pae as wife and husband get full honors for their performance. They knew how to move and act naturally on stage, and their enunciation was so clear that every syllable could be heard even when Both were singing different words at the same time.

Martha Hill, as the Florentine woman, has a promising voice, sweet and expressive, and Larry Bedini gave a dramatic and touching interpretation in his aria as a German soldier.

The singers were accompanied by two pianos and celeste, played by Mrs. Murphy and William Clark. Composer Bocci, lives and works in Southern California, and the music was lyric and essentially tonal, with bits of ballade and jazz sound thrown in, and the three penitent scenes were handled in the appropriate eclectic style.

"The Devil Take Her," directed by Clark, lacked focus and the singers had some difficulty moving around the stage, but the cast was clearly enthusiastic about its work.

Elaine Messer as the wife was attractive and pert, but not really shrewish; Larry Bedini, as the poet-husband was a solid performer, and Robert Martini as the doctor-devil displayed a light, pleasing voice and an easy acting manner.

The same program will be repeated today, tomorrow and Sunday at 8:30 p.m.

Seniors' Art Show Will Become An Annual Event

Marin County's first senior citizens' arts and crafts show — timed for the San Rafael Centennial celebration — was such a success that it will be an annual competition, the Marin Senior Coordinating Council announced yesterday.

The judges — all officials of Marin artist groups or galleries — had to choose among 227 entries to find their winners.

The best in show award went to "Tranquility," an oil and collage painting by Vale Smith.

One prize — the first award in the crafts competition — went to the creator rather than the work, according to Lotte McWatters, show chairman.

The winner was 91-year-old Jules Benjamin, who combined leather and woodworking skills in three violins he entered.

Painting, Lou Berger, second, and Kharvina Brubeck, third.

Embroidery, Anne M. Steinhoff, first; Vivian Hoffman and Belle Rhodes second, and Sister Bertha, third.

Knit and crochet — Esther Dearth, first; Anna Buol, second, and Ruth Aceves, third.

223 Motorists Get Defective Warning Notices

San Rafael police issued 223 warning notices last week to motorists driving cars with equipment violations, a police spokesman reported today.

Traffic administrator Sgt. Kenneth R. Homen said the warnings were issued for infractions ranging from bald tires to cracked windshields.

In addition, police issued 64 citations for more serious violations, he said.

Homen said the equipment crackdown is part of a traffic safety aware..ess program being promoted by the department.

On June 4, we will all have the chance to retain Law and Common Sense. Up to now the election of the District Attorney, a non-partisan office, has been based on principle. This is the first election for the office of District Attorney in Marin County history that is being reduced to the level of contentious, capricious political expediency. Marin needs a D.A. with the proven integrity of Bruce Bales.

WHEN ALL THE RHETORIC HAS BEEN SAID . . . AND ALL THE PROMISES HAVE BEEN MADE . . .

IT'S THE RECORD THAT COUNTS!

Since 1964 . . .

CONVICTION RATE:

A tight control is maintained over the issuance of criminal complaints, and only experienced attorneys are assigned this responsibility.

This process screens out the weak cases and insures that those filed have a reasonable probability of conviction. As a result, the office has one of the highest conviction rates of any District Attorney's office in the State. (over 90%, as compared to a statewide average of over 80%!)

"My policy as District Attorney over the past 10 years has resulted in: Reducing the court backlog, saving tax dollars and most important reducing the risk of prosecuting innocent persons."

BRUCE BALES advanced the concept of Career Prosecutors by the elimination of part-time PRIVATE PRACTICE. "All of Marin's Deputy District Attorneys work full time for you."

Responding to the increased complexity and growth of our Criminal Justice System, BRUCE BALES has established the following divisions:

- INVESTIGATIONS AND COMPLAINTS
- TRIAL TRAINING
- LEGAL RESEARCH AND APPLELLATE
- JUVENILE COURT
- WELFARE FRAUD
- CONSUMER PROTECTION

"These Divisions have resulted in specialization and represent far greater efficiency than previously possible."

FAMILY SUPPORT:

The Family Support Division has been highly successful in forcing absent parents to fulfill their financial responsibility of supporting their family receiving public welfare. A burden too long carried by the taxpayers of Marin.

"Revenue from this expanded effort will exceed $750,000 this year, UP OVER 300% from a year ago."

ATTITUDES TOWARD THE LAW REFLECT THE "WILL" OF THE PEOPLE . .

Positions . . .

CONSUMER PROTECTION:

Increased attention is being given to this rapidly developing area of criminal law.

A special unit of the District Attorney's office evaluates complaints referred to the office directly or through such special sources as the "Consumer Hot Line".

"My office will continue to support and defend Marin's buying public."

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION:

"I have successfully prosecuted cases involving contamination of watershed areas in Marin, oil spillage violations and cases involving strip cutting of West Marin forest areas.

In cooperation with the Attorney General's Office, I have engaged in extensive litigation to insure public access to State-owned tidelands on the Bolinas Sandspit Area."

ORGANIZED CRIME:

"There is no organized crime or corruption in Marin County. I intend to keep it just that way!"

PLEA BARGAINING:

"Plea bargaining means recommending a reduced charge or penalty to induce a guilty plea simply to avoid a trial. As defined, I disapprove of and do not engage in plea bargaining. I recommend what I consider an appropriate sentence for each particular defendant on his specific charge without regard to whether he pleads guilty or is convicted following trial.

To do otherwise fosters contempt for the law and threatens eventual breakdown of our criminal justice system."

Bruce Bales:

HIS BACKGROUND:

- University of California, A.B. Degree, 1946
- U.S. Navy Line Officer, World War II
- University of California Law School, Doctor of Jurisprudence, 1949
- Four years of private practice of law in Marin
- Six years Deputy District Attorney in Marin
- Four years Assistant District Attorney in Marin
- Native Californian
- Resident of Marin County for 24 years
- Married with three children, ages 24, 20 and 14
- Active leadership in Church, Civic and School affairs
- Past President Marin County Junior Chamber of Commerce
- Past President Marin County Peace Officers's Association
- Past President San Rafael Exchange Club
- Director, Terra Linda Rotary
- Member Marin County, California and American Bar Associations
- Member Elks Club, American Legion and Native Sons
- Member of Executive Board, Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America

DISTRICT ATTORNEY
BRUCE BALES
HAS NEVER WAIVERED FROM HIS ORIGINAL COMMITTMENT TO HIS FELLOW CITIZENS:

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY must continue to serve and protect the rights of all the people.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY must continue to prosecute vigorously but fairly.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY must continue to maintain in Marin a law enforcement climate free from corruption or organized crime.

MARIJUANA:

The prosecution and/or treatment of problems attendant to marijuana are not on the same level as those involving hard drugs.

The legalization of any of the so-called "hard narcotics", including but not limited to heroin, cocaine, the amphetamines and hallucinogenics is dangerous and IS COURTING DISASTER.

"I am unalterably opposed to misdemeanor disposition for possession of 'hard narcotics'."

CURRENT CODES DEMAND THAT A STABLE DISTRICT ATTORNEY PRESERVE THE DELICATE BALANCE BETWEEN THE "LETTER" OF THE LAW AND THE "SPIRIT" OF THE LAW . . .

. . . and there's a difference between "re-acting" to pressures and "responding" to trends . . . the District Attorney's office represents Law by Legislation . . . it also represents the codes and conscience of the community . . . the District Attorney has no right to manipulate the law, simply to satisfy the whims of a passing phase, neither can he unnecessarily stand steadfast against a rising tide of both legal and legislative change . . .

. . . the more trying the times, the more important is Stability, integrity and Experience in the proven record of our public officials . . .

ABOVE ALL,
A DISTRICT ATTORNEY IS OBLIGED TO PROTECT THE TAXPAYERS INVESTMENT IN A SYSTEM OF JUSTICE AND LAW ENFORCEMENT THAT PROTECTS HUMAN LIFE AND PROPERTY!

BRUCE BALES has proven to be Marin County's best assurance of a stable, consistent and qualitative DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

1418 LINCOLN AVENUE
SAN RAFAEL
456-6061

THERE'S NO "GUESSWORK" HERE . . .

It is important that
BRUCE BALES
be re-elected as District Attorney for Marin County
on June 4.

RETAIN BRUCE BALES THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

On June 4, we will all have the chance to retain Law and Common Sense. Up to now the election of the District Attorney, a non-partisan office, has been based on principle. This is the first election for the office of District Attorney in Marin County history that is being reduced to the level of contentious, capricious political expediency. Marin needs a D.A. with the proven integrity of Bruce Bales.

WHEN ALL THE RHETORIC HAS BEEN SAID . . . AND ALL THE PROMISES HAVE BEEN MADE . . .

IT'S THE RECORD THAT COUNTS!

Since 1964 . . .

CONVICTION RATE:

A tight control is maintained over the issuance of criminal complaints, and only experienced attorneys are assigned this responsibility.

This process screens out the weak cases and insures that those filed have a reasonable probability of conviction. As a result, the office has one of the highest conviction rates of any District Attorney's office in the State. (over 90%, as compared to a statewide average of over 80%!)

"My policy as District Attorney over the past 10 years has resulted in: Reducing the court backlog, saving tax dollars and most important reducing the risk of prosecuting innocent persons."

BRUCE BALES advanced the concept of Career Prosecutors by the elimination of part-time PRIVATE PRACTICE. "All of Marin's Deputy District Attorneys work full time for you."

Responding to the increased complexity and growth of our Criminal Justice System, BRUCE BALES has established the following divisions:

- INVESTIGATIONS AND COMPLAINTS
- TRIAL TRAINING
- LEGAL RESEARCH AND APPLELLATE
- JUVENILE COURT
- WELFARE FRAUD
- CONSUMER PROTECTION

"These Divisions have resulted in specialization and represent far greater efficiency than previously possible."

FAMILY SUPPORT:

The Family Support Division has been highly successful in forcing absent parents to fulfill their financial responsibility of supporting their family receiving public welfare. A burden too long carried by the taxpayers of Marin.

"Revenue from this expanded effort will exceed $750,000 this year, UP OVER 300% from a year ago."

ATTITUDES TOWARD THE LAW REFLECT THE "WILL" OF THE PEOPLE . .

Positions . . .

CONSUMER PROTECTION:

Increased attention is being given to this rapidly developing area of criminal law.

A special unit of the District Attorney's office evaluates complaints referred to the office directly or through such special sources as the "Consumer Hot Line".

"My office will continue to support and defend Marin's buying public."

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION:

"I have successfully prosecuted cases involving contamination of watershed areas in Marin, oil spillage violations and cases involving strip cutting of West Marin forest areas.

In cooperation with the Attorney General's Office, I have engaged in extensive litigation to insure public access to State-owned tidelands on the Bolinas Sandspit Area."

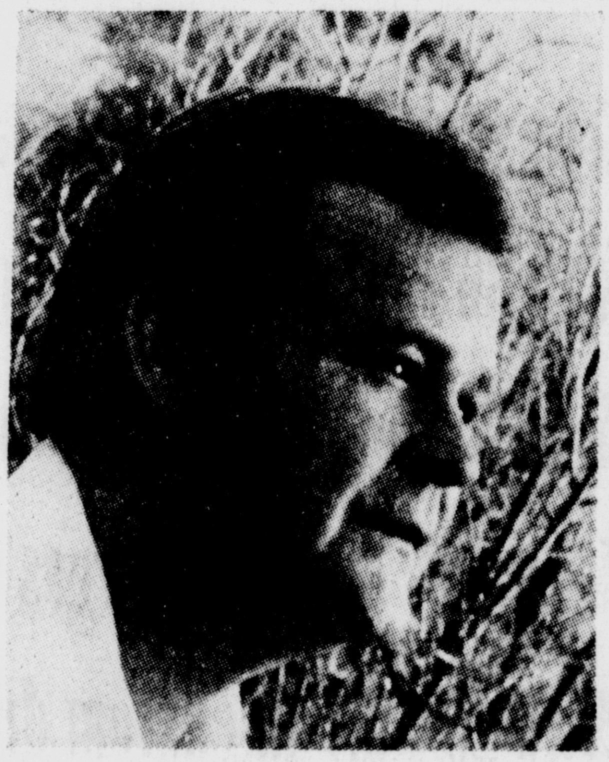
ORGANIZED CRIME:

"There is no organized crime or corruption in Marin County. I intend to keep it just that way!"

PLEA BARGAINING:

"Plea bargaining means recommending a reduced charge or penalty to induce a guilty plea simply to avoid a trial. As defined, I disapprove of and do not engage in plea bargaining. I recommend what I consider an appropriate sentence for each particular defendant on his specific charge without regard to whether he pleads guilty or is convicted following trial.

To do otherwise fosters contempt for the law and threatens eventual breakdown of our criminal justice system."



Bruce Bales:

HIS BACKGROUND:

- University of California, A.B. Degree, 1946
- U.S. Navy Line Officer, World War II
- University of California Law School, Doctor of Jurisprudence, 1949
- Four years of private practice of law in Marin
- Six years Deputy District Attorney in Marin
- Four years Assistant District Attorney in Marin
- Native Californian
- Resident of Marin County for 24 years
- Married with three children, ages 24, 20 and 14
- Active leadership in Church, Civic and School affairs
- Past President Marin County Junior Chamber of Commerce
- Past President Marin County Peace Officers's Association
- Past President San Rafael Exchange Club
- Director, Terra Linda Rotary
- Member Marin County, California and American Bar Associations
- Member Elks Club, American Legion and Native Sons
- Member of Executive Board, Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America

DISTRICT ATTORNEY
BRUCE BALES
HAS NEVER WAIVERED FROM HIS ORIGINAL COMMITTMENT TO HIS FELLOW CITIZENS:

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY must continue to serve and protect the rights of all the people.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY must continue to prosecute vigorously but fairly.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY must continue to maintain in Marin a law enforcement climate free from corruption or organized crime.

MARIJUANA:

The prosecution and/or treatment of problems attendant to marijuana are not on the same level as those involving hard drugs.

The legalization of any of the so-called "hard narcotics", including but not limited to heroin, cocaine, the amphetamines and hallucinogenics is dangerous and IS COURTING DISASTER.

"I am unalterably opposed to misdemeanor disposition for possession of 'hard narcotics'."

CURRENT CODES DEMAND THAT A STABLE DISTRICT ATTORNEY PRESERVE THE DELICATE BALANCE BETWEEN THE "LETTER" OF THE LAW AND THE "SPIRIT" OF THE LAW . . .

. . . and there's a difference between "re-acting" to pressures and "responding" to trends . . . the District Attorney's office represents Law by Legislation . . . it also represents the codes and conscience of the community . . . the District Attorney has no right to manipulate the law, simply to satisfy the whims of a passing phase, neither can he unnecessarily stand steadfast against a rising tide of both legal and legislative change . . .

. . . the more trying the times, the more important is Stability, integrity and Experience in the proven record of our public officials . . .

ABOVE ALL, A DISTRICT ATTORNEY IS OBLIGED TO PROTECT THE TAXPAYERS INVESTMENT IN A SYSTEM OF JUSTICE AND LAW ENFORCEMENT THAT PROTECTS HUMAN LIFE AND PROPERTY!

BRUCE BALES has proven to be Marin County's best assurance of a stable, consistent and qualitative DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

1418 LINCOLN AVENUE
SAN RAFAEL
456-6061

THERE'S NO "GUESSWORK" HERE . . .

It is important that BRUCE BALES be re-elected as District Attorney for Marin County on June 4.

Thailand Judge Visits In Marin

A judge of the juvenile court in Chiang Mai province, Thailand, Mrs. Orapin Setamanit was in Marin yesterday morning to tour Marin Juvenile Hall and to observe the court proceedings of juvenile court referee Jack L. Blaine.

The judge is on a U.S. Department of State tour to study American juvenile probation methods and programs and child study clinics. This is her first trip abroad from her Bangkok home.

During her Bay Area stay, through tomorrow, she has been visiting a small county system in Marin and the San Francisco juvenile system.

Mrs. Setamanit, 29, is a member of the Bar Association of Thailand and was a probation officer before she became juvenile court judge.

Her husband, Dr. Surin Setamanit, is secretary general of Chula Longkorn University in Bangkok.

THAI JUDGE Orapin Setamanit (right) of the Juvenile Court in Chiang Mai province is briefed on Marin juvenile court and probation procedures by juvenile court referee Jack L. Blaine at Marin Juvenile Hall. They were accompanied yesterday by volunteer court hostess Peggy Kramer. Judge Setamanit is also interested in the use of volunteers in juvenile work.

ON THE AGENDA

Interior Designer To Present Ideas On Personalizing Homes

Interior designer Diane C. Weinstein will offer ideas on bringing personality into the home through interior design Wednesday at 10 a.m. at a public lecture and slide show in the Sunny Hills gymnasium in San Anselmo.

The presentation will be sponsored by the Sunny Hills Guild Governing Council as a benefit for the Sunny Hills Services.

Mrs. Weinstein will describe how a designer works to discover the personal tastes and needs of clients and to express them through design. She participated last month in the Marin Designers Showcase at Monte Alegre in Ross.

Music Has Always Been Big Thing

By BETTY FROST

Music has always been an important part of Pamela Polland's life.

For the past four years she has been living in Mill Valley in a comfortable older home in a wooded setting. There she writes the songs which she has recorded and develops the material which she performs throughout the country.

She was born in Los Angeles. She grew up in North Hollywood. Her father is a classical musician, and her mother had a brief career as a dancer and singer, appearing in shows and movies during the 1930s.

"As a child my parents put me in a position of having the opportunity to explore any musical activity. I learned to play the recorder, had a flute, and took guitar and piano lessons. My father was always disappointed that I didn't complete my classical musical training. However, now that I am a mature woman with a respected career, my father has been able to overcome his disappointment," the singer said.

Although she was composing her own songs as long as 10 years ago, she did not use them at first in her performances. Instead, Miss Polland chose a musical hobby, her collection of rural blues songs, which she sang with Ry Cooder, guitar player.

"IT TOOK about a year for me to feel secure enough to sing my own songs. Then I sang with groups I had formed or as a solo artist," she explained.

Her first album, "Pamela Polland," made for the Columbia label, was a success. She toured all over the United States and then went to England.

She also sang blues with Taj Mahal, was the lead singer with Gentle Soul and went on tour with Mad Dogs and Englishmen.

Office Memo Lists The Rules For Streaking By Employees

DEAR HELEN:

Thought you'd like to read an interoffice memo that's making the rounds at our company. Hope it doesn't streak by your desk too late to catch the fad:

MEMO TO: All employees
SUBJECT: Streaking

Streaking will be permitted as follows:

1. Female employees will streak on odd days.

2. Male employees will streak on even days.

3. On payday, all employees may streak.

Streaking is subject to the following rules:

1. Girls who have tattoos on the lower half of their bodies, such as "Sock it to me," or "What you see is what you get" will not be permitted to streak, due to inspection regulations.

3. Junior executives may carry their briefcases while streaking; however, the usual rule applies: Junior executives may never carry any business papers, but may carry the usual — such as box of tissues, lunch, wife's shopping list, and Playboy magazine.

4. Girls with bust size larger than 36-B must wear a bra while in the shop area or any moving machinery. Girls wearing smaller than a 36-B should not try to impress people by wearing a bra.

5. If you streak where food is served, wear aprons. These will be available in the vending machine by the cafeteria.

6. In the event that your physical make-up is such that your sex cannot be determined, such as flat chest on girls or long hair on boys, you must wear a tag stating, "I am a boy," or "I am a girl." Tags will be attached with a hairpin, paper clip or rubber band. Please return the paper clips and rubber bands to the supply unit after you finish streaking.

7. Girls may wear jewelry while streaking, but (due to insurance regulations) in no event should they ever try to retrieve it should it fall.

8. Secretaries may streak in their boss' private offices only after hours or by appointment.

9. In keeping with office dress codes, men streakers must wear neckties and matching socks at all times; women should not (un) dress in provocative fashion.

10. In no event should fig leaves be used by modest streakers. Medical science has revealed they cause skin rashes. — THE MANAGEMENT

DEAR HELEN:

My wife had curves in all the right places, but her appetite is turning them into bulges. Please write something I can tape to the refrigerator door as a reminder not to eat. — WORRIED ABOUT HER HEALTH, AMONG OTHER THINGS

DEAR WORRIED:

How about: "Don't let your hourglass figure turn into a sundial!"

Okay? — H.

ON BEING BLACK

Health, Happiness, History All Wrapped Up In Cycling

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Distributed by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate

SALT LAKE CITY — History is a record of pride, pain, joy, sorrow, endurance and adventure. It gives faces to the faceless and courage to the downtrodden. The men of the 25th U.S. Infantry have been faceless since 1897. On June 14, black college students will provide faces for these black men with a recreation of their historic bicycle test trip.

This little-known group of black soldiers was directed to test the utility of the bicycle for traveling use by the Army. The 25th Infantry Bicycle Corps was drilled thoroughly by making several practice trips over the mountainous terrain of Yellowstone Park. They experimented with various packing methods, and soon were averaging about 45 miles a day (not on fancy, lightweight 10-speeds). The test trip from Missoula, Mont., to St. Louis, Mo., was made in 40 days and nights. It was a distance of 1,900 miles.

ACCORDING TO newspaper accounts by The New York Times and the Salt Lake Tribune in 1897, the bicycle was officially designated for service in the U.S. Army as a result of this test trip.

The memorial trip in honor of the 25th Infantry was scrapped last summer for lack of funds. This year, the governors of Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska and Missouri have pledged interest and support to herald this historical event. The congressional Black Caucus has given the students a vote of confidence.

Jay Barbree has just written a book about war bicycles, and the 25th Infantry's trip is included in the manuscript.

A well-known black celebrity (who has asked that his name be withheld from the prior publicity) will be in Missoula to meet with students and "cycle across the campus. . . at least."

The trip is being dedicated to Dorsie Willis, sole surviving member of the black infantry summarily discharged by President Theodore Roosevelt after the Brownsville raid; all survivors of the 25th Infantry; all deceased black soldiers, and all black Americans.

IN ADDITION to the physical exhilaration of cycling and the comradeship of such a group experience, students will visit historical societies and the original stopping places in each state along the route. They will seek out people who have recollections of the original event and read the 1897 local newspaper accounts of the trek.

David G. Everett, administrative service librarian at the University of California, Irvine, in response to my last year's column about the 25th Infantry, brought to my attention Marshall "Major" Taylor, who won national bicycle sprint championships in 1898, 1899 and 1900. His autobiography, "The Fastest Bicycle Rider in the World," is recommended reading for historians and cyclists.

For cycling health, happiness and history, join us in Missoula on June 14. Information and application forms may be obtained from Pferron L. Doss, Black Studies, University of Montana, Missoula, Mont. 59801.

MUSIC

Dudgeon, who is the producer for Elton John, worked with her to make an album of her own songs. Because of what she calls "bureaucratic problems" the recording company did not release that album. Bitterly disappointed, she drifted for about six months until her career took another turn.

"I bumped into a guitar player, Ken Bloom, and we did a few performances of rural blues together in Chicago. The response was overwhelming. Because of the popularity of nostalgia, I decided to do more research in the music of the '20s and '40s," the artist said.

She acquired a new theatrical name, Melba Rounds, which, she joked, "came right off a cracker box," a new personality, and a new wardrobe with false eyelashes, high heels, and a more sophisticated approach.

Now in her acts she does some nostalgic songs and includes some of her original songs.

Next week she will be performing at a women's festival in Champaign, Ill. Miss Polland performed during "The Female of the Species" program in San Francisco on April 7.

"I am interested in the women's movement because I am a human being," the artist said. "I support equal rights and equal pay, and better educational opportunities for women. I am against an involuntary caste system."

HER UPCOMING professional dates include appearances in Los Angeles, Chicago, Cabaret After Dark in San Francisco, a concert in Half Moon Bay and engagements in Cotati, Fairfax and Mill Valley.

For several years Miss Polland has practiced transcendental meditation and has qualified as a teacher.

"I have such an erratic, adventurous life style, travel so much, and am constantly exposed to new people and new ideas. Transcendental meditation is the one constant force in my life. It gives me a sense of calm and a centering," she explained.

What does she do for recreation? She is taking tap dancing lessons at the Mill Valley Ballet Center, in a class that meets one morning a week.

"I enjoy it so much that I hate to miss a class even if it means flying back from Los Angeles after a performance and arriving at the class without any sleep. It's so much fun. We all feel like we're in the Ziegfeld Follies," she kidded.

Office Memo Lists The Rules For Streaking By Employees

DEAR HELEN:

Thought you'd like to read an interoffice memo that's making the rounds at our company. Hope it doesn't streak by your desk too late to catch the fad:

MEMO TO: All employees
SUBJECT: Streaking

Streaking will be permitted as follows:

1. Female employees will streak on odd days.

2. Male employees will streak on even days.

3. On payday, all employees may streak.

Streaking is subject to the following rules:

1. Girls who have tattoos on the lower half of their bodies, such as "Sock it to me," or "What you see is what you get" will not be permitted to streak, due to inspection regulations.

3. Junior executives may carry their briefcases while streaking; however, the usual rule applies: Junior executives may never carry any business papers, but may carry the usual — such as box of tissues, lunch, wife's shopping list, and Playboy magazine.

4. Girls with bust size larger than 36-B must wear a bra while in the shop area or any moving machinery. Girls wearing smaller than a 36-B should not try to impress people by wearing a bra.

5. If you streak where food is served, wear aprons. These will be available in the vending machine by the cafeteria.

6. In the event that your physical make-up is such that your sex cannot be determined, such as flat chest on girls or long hair on boys, you must wear a tag stating, "I am a boy," or "I am a girl." Tags will be attached with a hairpin, paper clip or rubber band. Please return the paper clips and rubber bands to the supply unit after you finish streaking.

7. Girls may wear jewelry while streaking, but (due to insurance regulations) in no event should they ever try to retrieve it should it fall.

8. Secretaries may streak in their boss' private offices only after hours or by appointment.

9. In keeping with office dress codes, men streakers must wear neckties and matching socks at all times; women should not (un) dress in provocative fashion.

10. In no event should fig leaves be used by modest streakers. Medical science has revealed they cause skin rashes. — THE MANAGEMENT

DEAR HELEN:

My wife had curves in all the right places, but her appetite is turning them into bulges. Please write something I can tape to the refrigerator door as a reminder not to eat. — WORRIED ABOUT HER HEALTH, AMONG OTHER THINGS

DEAR WORRIED:

How about: "Don't let your hourglass figure turn into a sundial!"

Okay? — H.

ON BEING BLACK

Health, Happiness, History All Wrapped Up In Cycling

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Distributed by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate

SALT LAKE CITY — History is a record of pride, pain, joy, sorrow, endurance and adventure. It gives faces to the faceless and courage to the downtrodden. The men of the 25th U.S. Infantry have been faceless since 1897. On June 14, black college students will provide faces for these black men with a recreation of their historic bicycle test trip.

This little-known group of black soldiers was directed to test the utility of the bicycle for traveling use by the Army. The 25th Infantry Bicycle Corps was drilled thoroughly by making several practice trips over the mountainous terrain of Yellowstone Park. They experimented with various packing methods, and soon were averaging about 45 miles a day (not on fancy, lightweight 10-speeds). The test trip from Missoula, Mont., to St. Louis, Mo., was made in 40 days and nights. It was a distance of 1,900 miles.

ACCORDING TO newspaper accounts by The New York Times and the Salt Lake Tribune in 1897, the bicycle was officially designated for service in the U.S. Army as a result of this test trip.

The memorial trip in honor of the 25th Infantry was scrapped last summer for lack of funds. This year, the governors of Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska and Missouri have pledged interest and support to herald this historical event. The congressional Black Caucus has given the students a vote of confidence.

Jay Barbree has just written a book about war bicycles, and the 25th Infantry's trip is included in the manuscript.

A well-known black celebrity (who has asked that his name be withheld from the prior publicity) will be in Missoula to meet with students and "cycle across the campus. . . at least."

The trip is being dedicated to Dorsie Willis, sole surviving member of the black infantry summarily discharged by President Theodore Roosevelt after the Brownsville raid; all survivors of the 25th Infantry; all deceased black soldiers, and all black Americans.

IN ADDITION to the physical exhilaration of cycling and the comradeship of such a group experience, students will visit historical societies and the original stopping places in each state along the route. They will seek out people who have recollections of the original event and read the 1897 local newspaper accounts of the trek.

David G. Everett, administrative service librarian at the University of California, Irvine, in response to my last year's column about the 25th Infantry, brought to my attention Marshall "Major" Taylor, who won national bicycle sprint championships in 1898, 1899 and 1900. His autobiography, "The Fastest Bicycle Rider in the World," is recommended reading for historians and cyclists.

For cycling health, happiness and history, join us in Missoula on June 14. Information and application forms may be obtained from Pferron L. Doss, Black Studies, University of Montana, Missoula, Mont. 59801.

Dudgeon, who is the producer for Elton John, worked with her to make an album of her own songs. Because of what she calls "bureaucratic problems" the recording company did not release that album. Bitterly disappointed, she drifted for about six months until her career took another turn.

"I bumped into a guitar player, Ken Bloom, and we did a few performances of rural blues together in Chicago. The response was overwhelming. Because of the popularity of nostalgia, I decided to do more research in the music of the '20s and'40s," the artist said.

She acquired a new theatrical name, Melba Rounds, which, she joked, "came right off a cracker box," a new personality, and a new wardrobe with false eyelashes, high heels, and a more sophisticated approach.

Now in her acts she does some nostalgic songs and includes some of her original songs.

Next week she will be performing at a women's festival in Champaign, Ill. Miss Polland performed during "The Female of the Species" program in San Francisco on April 7.

"I am interested in the women's movement because I am a human being," the artist said. "I support equal rights and equal pay, and better educational opportunities for women. I am against an involuntary caste system."

HER UPCOMING professional dates include appearances in Los Angeles, Chicago, Cabaret After Dark in San Francisco, a concert in Half Moon Bay and engagements in Cotati, Fairfax and Mill Valley.

For several years Miss Polland has practiced transcendental meditation and has qualified as a teacher.

"I have such an erratic, adventurous life style, travel so much, and am constantly exposed to new people and new ideas. Transcendental meditation is the one constant force in my life. It gives me a sense of calm and a centering," she explained.

What does she do for recreation? She is taking tap dancing lessons at the Mill Valley Ballet Center, in a class that meets one morning a week.

"I enjoy it so much that I hate to miss a class even if it means flying back from Los Angeles after a performance and arriving at the class without any sleep. It's so much fun. We all feel like we're in the Ziegfeld Follies," she kidded.

Five Arrested For Art Fakery

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI)— Special police investigating a rash of art fakery arrested five suspects Wednesday and seized 22 paintings from the 16th Century master Caravaggio to the modern Modigliani.

Officials of the Finance Guard said the suspects included a Florentine painter and a Genoese art critic who privately published a book containing reproductions of paintings falsely attributed to important artists.

104 Pounds Shed Via Wired Jaws

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — "I'll never eat bread and potatoes again in my life."

So vowed Shirley Turner, the British housewife who had her jaws cemented together for six months to lose weight.

It worked. Mrs. Turner lost 101 pounds, dropping from 247 pounds to 146. She survived the drastic diet by sipping liquid foods.

Mrs. Turner, 36, had her jaws uncemented after they began to ache.

"The pain was red hot, my face felt swollen. I couldn't sleep," she said. Her doctors said they thought she had had enough of the ordeal.

Five Arrested For Art Fakery

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI)— Special police investigating a rash of art fakery arrested five suspects Wednesday and seized 22 paintings from the 16th Century master Caravaggio to the modern Modigliani.

Officials of the Finance Guard said the suspects included a Florentine painter and a Genoese art critic who privately published a book containing reproductions of paintings falsely attributed to important artists.

104 Pounds Shed Via Wired Jaws

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — "I'll never eat bread and potatoes again in my life."

So vowed Shirley Turner, the British housewife who had her jaws cemented together for six months to lose weight.

It worked. Mrs. Turner lost 101 pounds, dropping from 247 pounds to 146. She survived the drastic diet by sipping liquid foods.

Mrs. Turner, 36, had her jaws uncemented after they began to ache.

"The pain was red hot, my face felt swollen. I couldn't sleep," she said. Her doctors said they thought she had had enough of the ordeal.

ARTHUR F. HOLLINGSWORTH

Chamber Names New President

Hollingsworth, 36, owns an insurance agency at 7300 Commerce Boulevard and is a member of the Rohnert Park Planning Commission.

He is a former director of marketing and development for the economist division of the Foremost-McKesson Corp. in San Francisco.

In 1972 he chaired the committee which updated Rohnert Park's master plan, and he served last year on a committee to preserve open space in the city.

He is the chairman of the chamber's industrial development committee and is a member of the Rohnert Park Lion's Club and the Men's Golf Club.

Chinese Find Wheat Tainted

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — The Chinese have found dwarf bunt in Pacific Northwest wheat and they don't like it.

Dr. John F. Schafer of Washington State University's plant pathology department said Tuesday that the Chinese have a more rigid form of testing for the fungus than the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Schafer said 17 of 42 shiploads of U.S. wheat were found to have unacceptable levels of dwarf bunt.

To CYA Board

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — James E. Stratten, chief of the state Division of Apprenticeship Standards, was named Wednesday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to a four-year term on the California Youth Authority Board.

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, May 24, the 144th day of 1974 with 221 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

Queen Victoria of England was born May 24, 1819.

On this day in history:

In 1626, the Dutch West Indies Trading Co. bought the island of Manhattan from the Indians for the equivalent of $24.

In 1883, the Brooklyn Bridge, linking the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Manhattan, was opened to the public for the first time.

In 1941, the HMS Hood of the British navy, world's largest battleship at the time, was sunk by the German battlewagon Bismarck between Greenland and Iceland.

A thought for the day: Elmer Davis, American writer and radio commentator and head of the World War II Office of War Information, said, "This will remain the land of the free only so long as it is the home of the brave."

One East player used his knowledge of Borneo beetles to defeat the contract. He overtook the king of diamonds with the ace and shot back the seven of hearts. This made him look like the kind of wasp who had a singleton or doubleton in hearts.

A LOW HEART

Naturally, South put up the ace of hearts and led trumps. East won with the ace of spades and returned a waspish five of hearts.

South didn't dare finesse for fear of losing the queen of hearts and a heart ruff. When declarer put up the king of hearts, West ruffed — and South was down!

Chinese Find Wheat Tainted

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — The Chinese have found dwarf bunt in Pacific Northwest wheat and they don't like it.

Dr. John F. Schafer of Washington State University's plant pathology department said Tuesday that the Chinese have a more rigid form of testing for the fungus than the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Schafer said 17 of 42 shiploads of U.S. wheat were found to have unacceptable levels of dwarf bunt.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — James E. Stratten, chief of the state Division of Apprenticeship Standards, was named Wednesday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to a four-year term on the California Youth Authority Board.

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, May 24, the 144th day of 1974 with 221 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

Queen Victoria of England was born May 24, 1819.

On this day in history:

In 1626, the Dutch West Indies Trading Co. bought the island of Manhattan from the Indians for the equivalent of $24.

In 1883, the Brooklyn Bridge, linking the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Manhattan, was opened to the public for the first time.

In 1941, the HMS Hood of the British navy, world's largest battleship at the time, was sunk by the German battlewagon Bismarck between Greenland and Iceland.

In 1972, at a summit meeting in Moscow, President Nixon and Soviet Premier Kosygin signed an agreement on joint space exploration.

A thought for the day: Elmer Davis, American writer and radio commentator and head of the World War II Office of War Information, said, "This will remain the land of the free only so long as it is the home of the brave."

Natural History Proves Some Help In Executing A Contract

Certain beetles in Borneo spend their time studying to look like wasps. Even if you're not planning a trip to Broneo in the next six months, you might still profit by the example.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Christopher's In Sausalito Does Great Things With Sole

I feel sorry for them — those who think seafood is only a "sometime thing."

They are the confirmed meat eaters, usually heavy on steaks. And they know not what they are missing. When they tear themselves away from a New York or filet it's usually to compromise on steak and lobster or occasionally to settle on lobster alone.

Fish and shell fish are the natural source of proteins and the diet mainstays of many countries of the world. The infinite varieties and the many ways of preparing them can keep both a skilled chef and an investigative diner busy in their respective roles for a lifetime. I'm not advocating meatless meals but I do hold for more of them featuring what comes from the sea — especially fresh fish.

Take sole. Chefs can do many things with it and usually it's in bountiful supply along our coast. At Christopher's in Sausalito, for instance, chef Tom Wilkins offers it up in several forms — sole caprice, sole doree, petrale meuniere, sole oscar, sole bonne femme and rex sole sauteed in wine sauce. Rex sole, of course, is somewhat different, but it's of the same family Soleidae. These dishes range from $3.85 to $5.85 — not as cheap as prices used to be, but for the most part less than the red-blooded meats as offered in a regular dining house. Lobster tails, abalone and even cracked crab are still way up. Some restaurants like Christopher's are now offering petite lobster tails at less cost.

Better buys that still make fine entrees are red snapper, sand dabs and albacore. Christopher's has all of these and offers sand dabs saute at $3.75 and its albacore specialty at $4.95. Salmon in season is also a good buy and you can order several casseroles at reasonable prices.

This is one of the restaurants primarily devoted to seafoods, although a section of the menu is given over to items preferred by that class of diners-out mentioned at the head of this column - New Yorks, sirloins, prime rib and similar offerings.

It definitely fits comfortably into the category of "nice dining house," has a pleasant dining room and cocktail lounge without going overboard on non-essential frills, offers a good harbor view and prices are not out of line. If you sympathize with a housewife, who has to do the best she can with today's food prices and not incur the wrath of husband, you can do the same for the restaurateur faced with having to charge his customers and keep them, too.

Incidentally, we're glad to notice that Frits Verburg, who was full time at the bar, has moved part time into the dining room as maitre d' — recognized for his food experience by owners Brad and Lynn McNutt. (Frits is also a chef in his own right and former restaurant owner).

A VIEW OF BAY — Frits Verburg (right) serves as maitre d' at Christopher's restaurant in Sausalito. The restaurant, which specializes in fish entrees, offers diners a bay view.

CHINESE FOOD has finally come officially to the Montecito Shopping Center in San Rafael. George Whang and Peter Chu, who have the Mr. T-Bone Family Steak House at 411 Third Street have bowed to the requests from their patrons of the past two years.

This week they opened Peking Low in the rear part of Mr. T-Bone. This part of the restaurant was formerly used as a banquet area. Now a decorative divider separates it from Mr. T-Bone and almost literally gives it the appearance of a "Peking House," which is the rough translation of Peking Low.

They have acquired a talented young chef who, though he speaks little or no English, has westernized his name to Jackson Chiang and is already being hailed by the customers as Jack. His food is excellent and prepared in the Mandarin style of northern China.

There are two complete dinners at $2.75 and $3.25, however, those experienced in Chinese cuisine will undoubtedly prefer to make up their own combinations from the generous list of a la carte dishes. Lunches and dinners will be served Tuesdays through Sundays. I am told there will be some lunch specials. Meanwhile Mr. T-Bone in the front continues its "own thing" seven days a week - serving T-Bone, Porterhouse, New York and top sirloin steaks, chicken, prawns, fish and chips, burgers sandwiches and salads - all at moderate prices. It has been very popular with merchants in the center.

Restaurateurs Whang and Chu are not the first of their race in Marin to drift from western food back into their own cuisine. You will recall that David Woo, who used to own Der Hauf Brau Haus at Northgate, did it when he took over Lin Fa Gardens a few doors away.

THE INSIDE OUT CAFE at the Great Store, 1122 Fourth Street, San Rafael will feature dinners and productions of the San Francisco Repertory Co. beginning June 6, when the company opens its 1974 summer season with "June Moon." The latter will also be offered June 7, 14, 22, 27, July 18, 27, Aug. 1, 2, 17 and 24.

And other productions will be put on - "Silly Putty" on June 8, 13, 23, July 25, 26, Aug. 15, 22, and 31; "Old Times" on July 11, 12, 13, 19, Aug. 9, 10, 23 and 30; and "The Drunkard" on June 15, 20, 21, 29, July 20, Aug. 3, 8, 16 and 29.

Doors open at 7 p.m. for dinner. Admission for dinner and show will be $8.50. Performance begins at 8:30 p.m. Admission for the show only is $4. Reservations may be made at the Great Store.

Ordinarily the Inside Out Cafe serves only lunches but will offer dinners during the foregoing show nights. Menu consists of an aperatif, soup, salad, entree (crepes, stuffed pepper, quiche Lorraine or perhaps some other) and dessert - all home cooked food. Wines and beers are available. Show will start during the entree.

CONGRATULATIONS to Guy Francoz and Gilbert Duquesne, who will celebrate their third anniversary of a very successful operation at Le Camembert in Tamalpais Valley next Wednesday. This has been one of those food places that "clicked" with the dining out public from its beginning.

Incidentally, Le Camembert now offers gift certificates for its French dinners. They make excellent birthday and anniversary presents. The restaurant is open for dinners seven days a week.

MARIO BRENTA, former manager at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael, has come out of retirement to join his old co-worker Jim Pius at New Joe's in Corte Madera and is now assistant manager there. Sometime ago he and Jim were 12 years together at Dominic's and for a while also at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera. Earlier in his restaurant career Mario was many years at New Joe's in San Francisco.

Starting next week there will be a new "blackboard menu" for lunches served in the bar at New Joe's. Jim promises that prices will be rolled back to the 50s and even drinks will be 60 cents.

TWO MARIN RESTAURANTS that offered Sunday brunch for the first time on Mother's Day have decided to make this a regular Sunday occurrence — Lark Creek Inn at Larkspur and the Grotto in San Rafael.

Lark Creek's brunch hours are from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Items include a variety of omelets and eggs combinations from $2.75 to $5.50 - the latter being the Victorian brunch which starts off with champagne and orange juice and fresh strawberries and features a choice of eggs hussarde or eggs Portuguese.

The Grotto's Sunday brunch from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. offers a number of seafood specialties from $1.75 up, including omelets of avocado and curried shrimp; crabmeat, shrimp, bell pepper; crabmeat and mushrooms; mahi mahi - not to mention such things as steak and eggs and sour dough French toast.

Picture Framing Workshop Is Set

The Gallinas Village Community Services District will sponsor a picture framing workshop at Fairfax Lumber Co. at 9 a.m. Wednesday, a spokesman said today.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Christopher's In Sausalito Does Great Things With Sole

I feel sorry for them — those who think seafood is only a "sometime thing."

They are the confirmed meat eaters, usually heavy on steaks. And they know not what they are missing. When they tear themselves away from a New York or filet it's usually to compromise on steak and lobster or occasionally to settle on lobster alone.

Fish and shell fish are the natural source of proteins and the diet mainstays of many countries of the world. The infinite varieties and the many ways of preparing them can keep both a skilled chef and an investigative diner busy in their respective roles for a lifetime. I'm not advocating meatless meals but I do hold for more of them featuring what comes from the sea — especially fresh fish.

Take sole. Chefs can do many things with it and usually it's in bountiful supply along our coast. At Christopher's in Sausalito, for instance, chef Tom Wilkins offers it up in several forms — sole caprice, sole doree, petrale meuniere, sole oscar, sole bonne femme and rex sole sauteed in wine sauce. Rex sole, of course, is somewhat different, but it's of the same family Soleidae. These dishes range from $3.85 to $5.85 — not as cheap as prices used to be, but for the most part less than the red-blooded meats as offered in a regular dining house. Lobster tails, abalone and even cracked crab are still way up. Some restaurants like Christopher's are now offering petite lobster tails at less cost.

Better buys that still make fine entrees are red snapper, sand dabs and albacore. Christopher's has all of these and offers sand dabs saute at $3.75 and its albacore specialty at $4.95. Salmon in season is also a good buy and you can order several casseroles at reasonable prices.

This is one of the restaurants primarily devoted to seafoods, although a section of the menu is given over to items preferred by that class of diners-out mentioned at the head of this column - New Yorks, sirloins, prime rib and similar offerings.

It definitely fits comfortably into the category of "nice dining house," has a pleasant dining room and cocktail lounge without going overboard on non-essential frills, offers a good harbor view and prices are not out of line. If you sympathize with a housewife, who has to do the best she can with today's food prices and not incur the wrath of husband, you can do the same for the restaurateur faced with having to charge his customers and keep them, too.

Incidentally, we're glad to notice that Frits Verburg, who was full time at the bar, has moved part time into the dining room as maitre d' — recognized for his food experience by owners Brad and Lynn McNutt. (Frits is also a chef in his own right and former restaurant owner).

Judge Finds TV Actor Innocent In Assault Case

Stewart, 45, who has played Uncle Henry in the "All In The Family" series, waived his right to a jury trial.

The Cleveland girl accused Stewart of raping her Dec. 1 after she met him at Karamu House, a local theater where Stewart began his career.

She testified Stewart took her to a house he said belonged to his family and pulled her by the arm to an upstairs bedroom, telling her that "having sex with him would make a woman out of me."

She also testified that Stewart called her on the telephone two days later and apologized.

In testimony Wednesday, Stewart's cousin, Edward Burnett, said he found Stewart and the girl "hugging and kissing" when he returned to his home Dec. 1.

Stewart's brother, Morris, 43, who lives in the same neighborhood, said Stewart came to his home after the alleged rape and asked him to drive him and the girl to her home.

Judge Finds TV Actor Innocent In Assault Case

Stewart, 45, who has played Uncle Henry in the "All In The Family" series, waived his right to a jury trial.

The Cleveland girl accused Stewart of raping her Dec. 1 after she met him at Karamu House, a local theater where Stewart began his career.

She testified Stewart took her to a house he said belonged to his family and pulled her by the arm to an upstairs bedroom, telling her that "having sex with him would make a woman out of me."

She also testified that Stewart called her on the telephone two days later and apologized.

In testimony Wednesday, Stewart's cousin, Edward Burnett, said he found Stewart and the girl "hugging and kissing" when he returned to his home Dec. 1.

Stewart's brother, Morris, 43, who lives in the same neighborhood, said Stewart came to his home after the alleged rape and asked him to drive him and the girl to her home.

Farmer-To-Consumer Celebration Tomorrow

The Sonoma County Farm Trails celebration, held yearly to commemorate direct farmer-to-customer marketing, will begin at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Green Mill Inn, 10201 Old Redwood Highway, Cotati.

The inn is the starting point for a parade to the Penngrove Park, where a picnic and brass band concert will take place.

During the picnic candidates for Sonoma County offices will present five-minute campaign talks. A spokesman said participants should bring their own picnic lunches, although refreshments will be sold.

Held for the first time last year, the celebration brought many Northern Californians into Sonoma's back roads, where more than 200 farmers and artisans sold them brown eggs, blackberries, watercolors and other home-produced goods.

Maritime Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — The United States and Soviet Union will begin talks in Washington next November on revising their 1972 maritime agreement, a U.S. official said yesterday.

Highway Commission Is Against Prop. 5

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Highway Commission yesterday opposed Proposition 5, the June ballot measure which would allow the use of gas tax funds for mass transit.

The stand by the seven commission members, all appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, was in direct conflict with the governor, who earlier, announced his support for the measure.

Commissioner Chairman Winston R. Fuller said that in taking the action the commission was not opposing the development of public transit.

"The commission does not wish to be cast in an adversary role against public transit or any other mode of transportation," he said.

But, he added, a balanced transportation system "cannot be achieved by impoverishing the already seriously underfunded streets, roads and highway programs."

He said this was particularly true "in view of the certainty that roadways and their rights of way will continue to be the backbone of even the most visionary future transportation system in our state."

Two Business Agents Indicted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Patty Duke's two business managers have been indicted on charges of stealing $34,000 of her money.

Brownstein was arrested Wednesday, freed on bond and is to be arraigned May 30. Stitch lives in New York City and has not yet been arrested, police said yesterday The alleged theft was said to be discovered by Miss Duke's husband, actor John Austin.

Cereal 'Talks Back' To Children

By PAUL CANE

The world of Madison Avenue, in the form of a Rice Krispies breakfast cereal commercial, came to a startled group of Ladybug Pre-School students this week.

A 10-man crew representing the Leo Burnett advertising agency of Chicago brought cameras, hidden microphones, bright lights, and boxes and boxes of the snap-crackle-pop cereal to the Kentfield nursery school for a day of spontaneous filming of youngsters eating — and listening to — Kellogg's Rice Krispies.

The filmed efforts will be made into a 30-second commercial spot which should be ready for airing sometime this summer, according to company officials.

More than 30 unsuspecting 4-to-6-year-olds were brought one by one into a "bugged" playroom for a brief talk with Bob Schwartz, an interviewer from Eyeview Co. of New York, the group that gained fame for filming "Candid Camera."

"Listen to the cereal," Schwartz would say to each one. "I think it's making noise."

The wide-eyed child would typically put an ear to the bowl in front of him and say, "It's talking to me!"

Some of the reactions went like this:

Scott Chirco, 4, of Sonoma said, "It's doing something. It's talking!"

Andrew Reed, 5, of Ross said, "The milk and these things get together and make sounds. It's popping! This is fun."

But some of the most amusing comments were those that probably will never be on the air.

Five-year-old Janli Degenhardt of Larkspur exclaimed, "It's popping! I'm telling you the truth, it really is!"

Interviewer Schwartz was delighted. He asked, hopefully, "Do you hear anything else? Any snaps or crackles?"

"Nope, just pops," Miss Degenhardt said firmly.

Schwartz seemed deflated at this. "Do you want to taste them?" he asked finally.

"No, I already ate cereal this morning," she said.

One child said the snapping noise sounded like dinosaurs. Another was suspicious of all the bright lights in the school playroom and was uncooperative.

But the man in charge, Burnett vice-president Hooper White, thought the whole project was tremendous, and laughed along with everyone else watching on monitors at some of the children's comments.

"These are marvelous kids," observed Joel Hochberg, an art director of the agency. "If you tried to do something like this in the inner-city, they'd look at you with the great stone face and clam up."

The agency paid Ladybug School $200 to use the facilities for filming, and each child to go before the camera received $10. If the commercial is aired, each youngster in the final version will get extra money, possibly as much as $4,000, according to Peg Pragoff, director of the school.

Care was taken to keep the curious children unaware of what was going on until after they had been filmed, in order to assure unfeigned responses. The Candid Camera people filmed from behind a cluttered bookcase at the front of the room, and the microphone was hidden in a paper napkin dispenser on the table where the children were seated.

Schwartz's questions and encouragement will be edited out of the commercial, leaving a montage of five or six youths reacting to the snaps, crackles and pops, according to members of the agency.

Water Board Candidates Speak To Small Audience

By GEORGE NEVIN

Three candidates for the Marin Municipal Water District's third division seat had a chance last night to gain exactly 10 votes.

That's how many of voting age were in the audience to hear the three define their stands, answer questions and otherwise try to drum up support for themselves in the election a week from Tuesday.

Running for the seat being vacated by Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., whose division encompasses San Anselmo, Oak Manor, Fairfax, Ross, Larkspur, Greenbrae and part of Kentfield are:

Dr. William J. Filante, 44, of Kentfield, an ophthalmologist; Margaret Neese, 38, of Ross, a housewife and former water district employee, and Joan Seminario, 35, of Kentfield, a law student.

Mrs. Neese and Filante expressed strong opposition to the moratorium on new water pipeline extensions — struck down in March by a judge — and said the water district had no business performing planning.

Mrs. Seminario, however, supported the moratorium and spoke out against the North Marin Intertie, which the other two endorsed.

On the question of reusing reclaimed wastewater for drinking, Mrs. Seminario and Filante supported the proposal in one form or another in the future.

But Mrs. Neese had doubts. Instead, she favored such methods as increasing the capacity of present reservoirs by raising water levels, the Lagunitas Creek diversion to recapture water flowing into Tomales Bay, and using Phoenix Lake as a water source once more.

Other views of candidates:

On using water to control growth:

SEMINARIO — "It's not a function of the water board to be a planning agency."

FILANTE — "We shouldn't use the water district as a growth control mechanism."

NEESE — "The water board has absolutely no place in planning."

On special leases of water district land to private clubs such as the Meadow Club:

FILANTE — "Private leaseholds should be compatible with the public good."

NEESE — "The leases are a good source of revenue to keep down the cost to consumers. We have to put up with things like this."

SEMINARIO — "Times have changed. It may not be in the best interests of the water district to continue the leases."

On where to find future water for a growing population:

NEESE — "We could get 4,000 acre-feet from the Intertie, 8,000 from the Lagunitas Creek diversion" and more from Phoenix Lake and the streams flowing down the Mill Valley side of Mount Tamalpais.

FILANTE — "Make it if not mandatory then highly suggestive to users to stop wasting water," which he estimated could cut demand in half, and increase reservoir capacity, build the Intertie and develop wastewater reclamation.

SEMINARIO — "We could neutralize our present overdraft by using wastewater reclamation and conservation."

During opening remarks, Filante told the audience, "Present water users should not be held responsible for a supply of water to future users."

He later elaborated, saying any property owner whose land is annexed to the district in the future will enjoy an increase in his land's value, and thus should pay more to the district for service.

But when asked if he meant the owner of land presently undeveloped should pay more for his water than a homeowner who has been in the county 20 years, Filante would not be pinned down.

"I'm sorry for being vague," he said, "but I don't want to say anything I don't mean."

Catering Firm Robbed Of $300

Police said the bandit entered Harvey's Lunches, 27 Gate 5 Road, at 1:30 p.m., pulled a 10-inch carving knife from his pant leg and forced employee Charles Pelogin to lie on the floor.

He then scooped money from the cash register and fled after cutting the receiver from the office telephone, officers reported. The holdup man was described as black, in his late 20s, and wearing a yellow sweater and plaid slacks.

Towed Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 10-ton dump truck delivering a load of asphalt to fill a hole in front of city hall Wednesday managed to back into the four-foot-square excavation and get stuck. It eventually was towed out.

County Planners Agree To Cut The Goal For Low-Cost Housing

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Planning Commission indicated yesterday it would support a consultant's recommendation to reduce the number of low-cost and moderate-cost dwellings called for in the county general plan.

While no vote was taken, commissioners voiced general agreement that the plan's housing goals are "unreachable and unrealistic." Their comments came during a special meeting which was adjourned to next Thursday at 2 p.m. at Civic Center.

The general plan, as adopted by supervisors, says 22,000 new dwellings for low-income and moderate-income families should be built by 1990. It calls for about 15,000 new homes for higher income families.

The aim is to keep Marin's population mix about the same in 1990 as it was in 1970. While more low-cost and moderate-cost homes are called for, the population mix would remain in balance because of the increased value of existing homes, according to the plan.

Commissioners Margaret B. Azevedo and Jerry Friedman challenged the goal yesterday, saying the county has provided little new housing for the poor so far and to propose 22,000 by 1990 "is unrealistic."

Economic consultant Angus N. McDonald recommended that planners lower the number to about 13,000 dwellings by 1990.

He said his forecasts do not indicate enough state, federal and local tax funds to subsidize the number of new homes recommended in the plan.

McDonald estimated the total public cost of subsidizing 22,000 low-cost and moderate-cost homes at about $472 million by 1990. He said $310 million of that would have to come from "local sources."

About $47.8 million in local funds could be raised if the county placed a tax on new development and another $17.7 million from other county funds.

The remaining $244.5 million is listed as coming from unknown new sources.

While commissioners agreed that the plan must be modified, they did not indicate to what extent it should be changed.

Planning director Werner Von Gundell and his assistant, Sol Silver, argued against any change.

"We believe the plan's goal (of 22,000 dwellings) is not only worth striving for but, if we fail, then most of the plan will then be only for insuring a beautiful setting for the 'beautiful people,' " Von Gundell said.

On a related matter, McDonald backed off a recommendation that an office of housing be created in the public works department to assume the responsibilities of the county housing authority and redevelopment agency.

McDonald said he made the recommendation because of the department's "administrative track record" and because of its expertise in land development and acquisition.

He dropped the proposal, for the time being at least, after Von Gundel urged that the planning department coordinate the plan's housing program on a trial basis.

He recommended a multi-agency approach with the planning department as coordinator.

McDonald said such an approach might work and urged that one person (such as Von Gundell) be responsible for the success or failure of the program.

"Just make sure that at the end of the road you don't have all the actors sitting in a circle pointing fingers at each other," he told the commission.

Volunteer Job Opportunities Are Announced

A wide assortment of volunteer job opportunities is now available to high school and college age young people the Switching Yard, Youth Division of The Volunteer Bureau of Marin, has announced.

These opportunities include working in pre-schools, childrens' centers, nursery schools, state and national parks, programs for the physically and metally handicapped, hospitals, prison reform groups, and political campaigns.

The duration of these jobs ranges from one afternoon to all summer long. Interested young people may obtain further information by calling the Switching Yard, 1022 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo.

County Is Urged To Buy Grove Of Redwood Trees

A San Geronimo Valley woman has urged the county to consider purchasing and preserving a large grove of redwood trees north of the San Geronimo Valley Golf Course.

Jean Berensmeier told the county parks, recreation and open space commission Wednesday that the stand of virgin redwoods should be a candidate for acquisition if Proposition 1 passes on the June 4 ballot.

(Proposition 1 is a statewide bond measure to raise funds for parks and open space. Some funds would be used by the state and other funds funneled to the counties. Marin's share would be about $860,000.)

Mrs. Berensmeier, a spokesman for the San Geronimo Valley Planning Group, said the grove is located on about 70 acres just north of the golf course on the Nicasio-San Geronimo road. The area might be developed if not acquired, she said.

Commissioners said they would look into the site if the state measure passes but did not commit themselves.

County Planners Agree To Cut The Goal For Low-Cost Housing

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Planning Commission indicated yesterday it would support a consultant's recommendation to reduce the number of low-cost and moderate-cost dwellings called for in the county general plan.

While no vote was taken, commissioners voiced general agreement that the plan's housing goals are "unreachable and unrealistic." Their comments came during a special meeting which was adjourned to next Thursday at 2 p.m. at Civic Center.

The general plan, as adopted by supervisors, says 22,000 new dwellings for low-income and moderate-income families should be built by 1990. It calls for about 15,000 new homes for higher income families.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ORDINANCE NO. 2094

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I: The C-P (Planned Commercial District) Master Plan for the Hayden's Market portion only of the Marin City Neighborhood Shopping Center, prepared by Don Dommer and dated February 23, 1974, further identified as Exhibit "A" on file with the Marin County Planning Department, is hereby approved subject to the following conditions:

I. Drainage/Flood Control

A. Developed area shall preferably drain to ponding basin.

B. At the Precise Development Plan stage, there shall be a foundation investigation to determine the need for pile supports.

C. Prior to approval of any land division or approval of any development on any portion of the area, the following conditions must be met:

1. 15' wide drainage easement, 7.5' on each side of pipe centerline to be offered to the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District for drainage purposes.

2. When the distance between culverts is 15' or less, there shall be one common easement with limits extending 7.5' out from the centerline of the outer culverts.

3. A non-exclusive access strip 20' in width from the top of bank of the lagoon shall be offered to the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District. This strip to be for flood control drainage and access purposes.

D. Structures shall not be constructed within drainage easements nor within 15' of any drainage pipe centerline.

II. Transit

A. The frontage shown on the plan as the bus stop area shall be constructed and frontage dedicated as necessary to provide a 12' bus stopping lane between the two adjacent driveways.

B. The existing bus shelter shall be replaced with a new shelter of a design accommodating twenty passengers and styled compatibly with the architecture of the shopping center and subject to the review of the Transit District. Cost of the shelter shall be shared by all shopping center occupants and the Community Services District. Final decision will be made at the time of consideration of Precise Development Plan.

III. Traffic

A. The first drive entrance onto Donahue Street west of Highway 101 may have to be eliminated or constructed as an entrance only. Final decision will be made at the time of consideration of Precise Development Plan.

B. As discussed in previous memos regarding Richardson Highlands proposal, there is some question as to the capacity of this interchange to handle any significant increase in traffic. At a minimum, the intersection of Donahue Street at Highway 101 will probably require signalization due to the increased traffic generated by this development — therefore the developer and occupants of the shopping center should be required to participate in the cost for modifying the intersection and installing signals. Final decision will be made at the time of consideration of Precise Development Plan.

IV. Miscellaneous

A. the present plan does not clearly indicate provision for access to the sewage pumping station which is already located on this site. Data available from Gonzalez & Oberkamper indicating property and easement boundaries should be incorporated into plan.

SECTION II. This Ordinance shall be and is hereby declared to be in full force and effect as of thirty (30) days from and after the date of its passage and shall be published once before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage, with the names of the Supervisors voting for and against the same in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin on the 21st day of May, 1974, by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: Supervisors: Peter R. Arrigoni, Gary Giacomini, Bob Roumiguiere, Arnold M. Baptiste, Michael Wornum

SECTION I: The C-P (Planned Commercial District) Master Plan for the Hayden's Market portion only of the Marin City Neighborhood Shopping Center, prepared by Don Dommer and dated February 23, 1974, further identified as Exhibit "A" on file with the Marin County Planning Department, is hereby approved subject to the following conditions:

I. Drainage/Flood Control

A. Developed area shall preferably drain to ponding basin.

B. At the Precise Development Plan stage, there shall be a foundation investigation to determine the need for pile supports.

C. Prior to approval of any land division or approval of any development on any portion of the area, the following conditions must be met:

1. 15' wide drainage easement, 7.5' on each side of pipe centerline to be offered to the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District for drainage purposes.

2. When the distance between culverts is 15' or less, there shall be one common easement with limits extending 7.5' out from the centerline of the outer culverts.

3. A non-exclusive access strip 20' in width from the top of bank of the lagoon shall be offered to the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District. This strip to be for flood control drainage and access purposes.

D. Structures shall not be constructed within drainage easements nor within 15' of any drainage pipe centerline.

II. Transit

A. The frontage shown on the plan as the bus stop area shall be constructed and frontage dedicated as necessary to provide a 12' bus stopping lane between the two adjacent driveways.

B. The existing bus shelter shall be replaced with a new shelter of a design accommodating twenty passengers and styled compatibly with the architecture of the shopping center and subject to the review of the Transit District. Cost of the shelter shall be shared by all shopping center occupants and the Community Services District. Final decision will be made at the time of consideration of Precise Development Plan.

III. Traffic

A. The first drive entrance onto Donahue Street west of Highway 101 may have to be eliminated or constructed as an entrance only. Final decision will be made at the time of consideration of Precise Development Plan.

B. As discussed in previous memos regarding Richardson Highlands proposal, there is some question as to the capacity of this interchange to handle any significant increase in traffic. At a minimum, the intersection of Donahue Street at Highway 101 will probably require signalization due to the increased traffic generated by this development — therefore the developer and occupants of the shopping center should be required to participate in the cost for modifying the intersection and installing signals. Final decision will be made at the time of consideration of Precise Development Plan.

IV. Miscellaneous

A. the present plan does not clearly indicate provision for access to the sewage pumping station which is already located on this site. Data available from Gonzalez & Oberkamper indicating property and easement boundaries should be incorporated into plan.

SECTION II. This Ordinance shall be and is hereby declared to be in full force and effect as of thirty (30) days from and after the date of its passage and shall be published once before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage, with the names of the Supervisors voting for and against the same in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin on the 21st day of May, 1974, by the following vote, to-wit:

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Life Extended To 'Nonsmokers Bill'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly has narrowly rejected an attempt to sidetrack the so-called "Nonsmokers Bill of Rights."

Assemblyman Robert Badham, R-Newport Beach, yesterday tried to send the legislation to the Health Committee but the move was rejected on a 37-36 vote. Assemblyman John Briggs, author of the two bills, then decided to delay a final vote since passage requires 41 votes.

The Fullerton Republican's legislation (AB2755-2756) would require restaurants, governmental agencies, theaters and hospitals to set aside special nonsmoking areas. Violators could be fined up to $50.

Briggs said sending the bills to the health committee would kill them.

Badham contended the measures involved a serious health question and noted that they had been sent only to the criminal justice committee, which Briggs argued had thoroughly reviewed the issue.

BOND ISSUES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill designed to make it easier for school districts to gain voter approval of bond issues was approved by the Assembly yesterday on a 73-0 vote and sent to the Senate.

The measure (AB638) by Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, would make revenue bonds more attractive to investors by making them tax-free. This feature would make them more competitive with general obligation bonds, the type used most frequently now.

The key is the fact that revenue bonds require only a simple majority vote in school elections while general obligation bonds require a two-thirds vote.

Many California districts have been unable to finance new school facilities because of failures to muster the necessary two-thirds vote, although surpassing a simple majority.

MEETING PLACE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill eliminating the legal requirement that the California Republican State Convention be held in Sacramento was passed yesterday by the Senate on a 28-0 vote.

The measure (SB1773) by Sen. John Stull, R-Leucadia, would allow Republican party officials to meet anywhere they wish.

MORE HELP

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure calling on local police agencies to assign more women on night shifts to aid rape victims was passed yesterday by the Assembly.

Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles, said more women police officers should be available at night because more rapes occur then and women are more sensitive to the victim's needs.

SYLMAR CLAIMS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill providing just over $1 million as the state's portion of $9 million in liability claims arising from the 1971 Sylmar Tunnel explosion has won final legislative approval.

Without debate, the Assembly yesterday passed and sent the bill to Gov. Ronald Reagan on a 73-0 vote. Author of the measure (SB2173) was Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco.

The Southern California disaster of June 1971 left 17 persons dead.

A Successful Coalition Report

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister-designate Yitzhak Rabin informed President Ephraim Katzir today that he had succeed in forming a coalition government but had not yet been able to bring together a cabinet.

Rabin met for 40 minutes with the president and said afterwards that he hoped to have by tomorrow a list of the full 24-man cabinet. Katzir gave him until Tuesday.

Adelle Davis Defends Her Theory

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Nutritionist Adelle Davis, who has long maintained that eating organic foods prevents many diseases, like cancer, argues that the discovery she has cancer herself does not invalidate her theory.

She ate a lot of "junk food" like white bread and soft drinks in college, Miss Davis said.

Miss Davis, 69, has written four widely read books, and made countless lecture and television talk show appearances promoting her beliefs that many diseases are the result of eating food processed by modern methods.

She revealed recently that back pains she began to feel about 18 months ago were diagnosed a year ago as the result of bone cancer, and she is currently undergoing chemotherapy which appears to have temporarily arrested the disease.

"I think that I'm sympathetic with the people who are quite annoyed at the fact that I have cancer," she said in a recent interview with the Los Angeles magazine "Let's Live."

"When I was told I had it, I could not believe it either. I thought this was for people who drink soft drinks, who eat white bread, who eat refined sugar and so on," she said.

She admitted, her first reaction was that "I have been a failure."

But then in going over her life, she said, she realized that while growing up on a farm in Indiana she ate organic foods — raw milk and fruits and vegetables grown without chemicals —but her diet changed when she went away to Purdue University at age 19.

From 1924 to the early 1950s, she said, she ate "commercial junk, so you see, I didn't really have good food most of my life." She also blamed her heavy work load and a series of x-ray examinations.

"The very fact I have cancer does not change what I've said over the years about nutrition. In my opinion, there is no question whatsoever that the terrific amount of cancer we have now is related to the inadequacies of our American diet."

She said that although health food stores have their shortcomings, she hopes news of her illness will not disillusion believers.

"It's tragic the junk a lot of them sell, the misstatements they make," she said. "On the other hand, I don't know of many places where you can get the foods you need. If physicians knew more about nutrition, there wouldn't be any health food outfits."

Ziegler Claims Facts Distorted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, says news leaks have distorted President Nixon's characterization of the events of March 21, 1973.

According to some members of the House Judiciary Committee who listened to a dictabelt Nixon recorded on the evening of March 21, the President said "it was an uneventful day."

Ziegler said that the complete Nixon quotation was: "As far as the day was concerned, it was uneventful except for the talk with Dean."

Nixon was referring to his conversat on with former White House counsel John W. Dean III. It was in that conversation that Nixon said he first learned of the scope of the Watergate coverup.

It Wasn't All Good News In A Mistaken Raid

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Federal agents had one of those "good news, bad news" routines for Garrett D. Zwart yesterday.

First, the good news: It was a case of mistaken identity that led to police and agents of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration raiding Zwart's apartment. Only after the raid did they realize he was not the suspect they were after, police said.

The bad news: He went to jail anyway when the apologetic officers noticed some of the things he had around the apartment, including six submachine guns — four Russian made and two American — 2,000 rounds of ammunition, hundreds of bogus drivers licenses, credit cards and birth certificates.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Bare Or Shod, Feet A Problem For People Throughout World

Feet are abused in many different ways. Nature may have intended for us to walk barefoot, but this would leave the feet unprotected and subject them to injury. Going without shoes would also create an entry point for the causative microbes and parasites responsible for many diseases.

It is estimated that hookworms infest more than 500 million persons, not only in America, but elsewhere. The larvae of the hookworms enter through the bare feet, usually between the toes. Most of the victims have walked through muddy fields where the night soil has been used as fertilizer and the mud crawls with the larvae.

A TRANSITORY eruption (ground or dew itch) occurs during the migration through the skin. From the foot, the parasites are carried in the bloodstream to the lungs. After they ascend into the throat and are swallowed, they attach themselves to the wall of the small intestine. The now mature worm sets up housekeeping and lives by sucking the blood of its host. The victim becomes emaciated, anemic, and is incapable of efficient work.

Other parasites enter the body in much the same way. Schistosoma parasites live in snails that inhabit much of the water in Western Asia and Africa. The microscopic larvae leave the snails and seek out the bare feet and legs of people working or playing near or in contaminated water. The result is a debilitating parasitic disease that is said to afflict 150 million persons in Western Asia and Africa alone.

SANDFLIES ALSO have a special preference for the foot and ankle. These critters are carriers of many serious diseases such as Oroya, kala-azar, and "oriental sore." Many fungi are partial to the feet, including the ringworm that causes athlete's foot. Madura foot, another fungal infection, is a mutilating disease.

Yet, those of us who wear shoes are plagued with hard and soft corns, calluses, plantar warts, ingrown toenails, fallen-arches, bunions, and what have you. The foot problems of the aged are many and seem to be on the increase. Perhaps the most common causes of foot troubles are poor circulation and arthritis.

DIABETES CAUSE

M. B. writes: Under what circumstances would a potential diabetic develop the disease?

REPLY

A potential diabetic is a person destined to develop the disease next month or 10 years from now. Whatever happens to the individual just before the diagnosis is made usually is blamed. This is especially true when sugar is noted in the urine after an injury, operation, or illness. But the majority of diabetics tell of gaining weight before the symptoms appeared, demonstrating the need for persons with a family history of diabetes to remain slim.

NERVE DISORDERS

A reader writes: Are the symptoms of polyneuritis similar to those of multiple sclerosis?

REPLY

Somewhat the same, especially the early symptoms consisting of numbness, weakness, and a pins-and-needles sensation in the extremities. By this we mean that the early symptoms of multiple sclerosis resemble a polyneuritis.

Richard Burton Is Discharged From Hospital

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Actor Richard Burton has been released from St. John's Hospital, "fully recovered" from a lung infection and hand injury that kept him hospitalized for more than six weeks, a St. John's spokesman said yesterday.

Burton was discharged from the hospital Wednesday in the company of his nurse, but his travel plans were not disclosed.

The Welsh actor was treated for a form of bronchitis and a hand injury he suffered during the filming of "The Klansman" in a fight scene.

During his six and one half week stay in the hospital, Burton and his wife Elizabeth Taylor announced they were ending their 10-year marriage.

Foreman Found Guilty Of Drunken Driving

HOUSTON (UPI) — Percy Foreman, a skillful hulking defense attorney accustomed to winning highly publicized divorce and murder cases, was found guilty yesterday of driving while intoxicated last New Year's Eve.

Foreman, overdue for a murder trial in El Laso because of the six-day proceeding, casually sauntered from the courtroom after the verdict and left questions of a possible appeal unanswered.

"There's no plans yet," the 71-year-old Foreman said. "We'll discuss that later."

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Life Extended To 'Nonsmokers Bill'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly has narrowly rejected an attempt to sidetrack the so-called "Nonsmokers Bill of Rights."

Assemblyman Robert Badham, R-Newport Beach, yesterday tried to send the legislation to the Health Committee but the move was rejected on a 37-36 vote. Assemblyman John Briggs, author of the two bills, then decided to delay a final vote since passage requires 41 votes.

The Fullerton Republican's legislation (AB2755-2756) would require restaurants, governmental agencies, theaters and hospitals to set aside special nonsmoking areas. Violators could be fined up to $50.

Briggs said sending the bills to the health committee would kill them.

Badham contended the measures involved a serious health question and noted that they had been sent only to the criminal justice committee, which Briggs argued had thoroughly reviewed the issue.

BOND ISSUES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill designed to make it easier for school districts to gain voter approval of bond issues was approved by the Assembly yesterday on a 73-0 vote and sent to the Senate.

The measure (AB638) by Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, would make revenue bonds more attractive to investors by making them tax-free. This feature would make them more competitive with general obligation bonds, the type used most frequently now.

The key is the fact that revenue bonds require only a simple majority vote in school elections while general obligation bonds require a two-thirds vote.

Many California districts have been unable to finance new school facilities because of failures to muster the necessary two-thirds vote, although surpassing a simple majority.

MEETING PLACE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill eliminating the legal requirement that the California Republican State Convention be held in Sacramento was passed yesterday by the Senate on a 28-0 vote.

The measure (SB1773) by Sen. John Stull, R-Leucadia, would allow Republican party officials to meet anywhere they wish.

MORE HELP

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure calling on local police agencies to assign more women on night shifts to aid rape victims was passed yesterday by the Assembly.

Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles, said more women police officers should be available at night because more rapes occur then and women are more sensitive to the victim's needs.

Sieroty's resolution (ACR219) was sent to the Senate on a unanimous voice vote.

SYLMAR CLAIMS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill providing just over $1 million as the state's portion of $9 million in liability claims arising from the 1971 Sylmar Tunnel explosion has won final legislative approval.

Without debate, the Assembly yesterday passed and sent the bill to Gov. Ronald Reagan on a 73-0 vote. Author of the measure (SB2173) was Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco.

The Southern California disaster of June 1971 left 17 persons dead.

A Successful Coalition Report

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister-designate Yitzhak Rabin informed President Ephraim Katzir today that he had succeed in forming a coalition government but had not yet been able to bring together a cabinet.

Rabin met for 40 minutes with the president and said afterwards that he hoped to have by tomorrow a list of the full 24-man cabinet. Katzir gave him until Tuesday.

Adelle Davis Defends Her Theory

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Nutritionist Adelle Davis, who has long maintained that eating organic foods prevents many diseases, like cancer, argues that the discovery she has cancer herself does not invalidate her theory.

She ate a lot of "junk food" like white bread and soft drinks in college, Miss Davis said.

Miss Davis, 69, has written four widely read books, and made countless lecture and television talk show appearances promoting her beliefs that many diseases are the result of eating food processed by modern methods.

She revealed recently that back pains she began to feel about 18 months ago were diagnosed a year ago as the result of bone cancer, and she is currently undergoing chemotherapy which appears to have temporarily arrested the disease.

"I think that I'm sympathetic with the people who are quite annoyed at the fact that I have cancer," she said in a recent interview with the Los Angeles magazine "Let's Live."

"When I was told I had it, I could not believe it either. I thought this was for people who drink soft drinks, who eat white bread, who eat refined sugar and so on," she said.

She admitted, her first reaction was that "I have been a failure."

But then in going over her life, she said, she realized that while growing up on a farm in Indiana she ate organic foods — raw milk and fruits and vegetables grown without chemicals —but her diet changed when she went away to Purdue University at age 19.

From 1924 to the early 1950s, she said, she ate "commercial junk, so you see, I didn't really have good food most of my life." She also blamed her heavy work load and a series of x-ray examinations.

"The very fact I have cancer does not change what I've said over the years about nutrition. In my opinion, there is no question whatsoever that the terrific amount of cancer we have now is related to the inadequacies of our American diet."

She said that although health food stores have their shortcomings, she hopes news of her illness will not disillusion believers.

"It's tragic the junk a lot of them sell, the misstatements they make," she said. "On the other hand, I don't know of many places where you can get the foods you need. If physicians knew more about nutrition, there wouldn't be any health food outfits."

Ziegler Claims Facts Distorted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, says news leaks have distorted President Nixon's characterization of the events of March 21, 1973.

According to some members of the House Judiciary Committee who listened to a dictabelt Nixon recorded on the evening of March 21, the President said "it was an uneventful day."

Ziegler said that the complete Nixon quotation was: "As far as the day was concerned, it was uneventful except for the talk with Dean."

Nixon was referring to his conversation with former White House counsel John W. Dean III. It was in that conversation that Nixon said he first learned of the scope of the Watergate coverup.

It Wasn't All Good News In A Mistaken Raid

First, the good news: It was a case of mistaken identity that led to police and agents of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration raiding Zwart's apartment. Only after the raid did they realize he was not the suspect they were after, police said.

The bad news: He went to jail anyway when the apologetic officers noticed some of the things he had around the apartment, including six submachine guns — four Russian made and two American — 2,000 rounds of ammunition, hundreds of bogus drivers licenses, credit cards and birth certificates.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Bare Or Shod, Feet A Problem For People Throughout World

Feet are abused in many different ways. Nature may have intended for us to walk barefoot, but this would leave the feet unprotected and subject them to injury. Going without shoes would also create an entry point for the causative microbes and parasites responsible for many diseases.

It is estimated that hookworms infest more than 500 million persons, not only in America, but elsewhere. The larvae of the hookworms enter through the bare feet, usually between the toes. Most of the victims have walked through muddy fields where the night soil has been used as fertilizer and the mud crawls with the larvae.

A TRANSITORY eruption (ground or dew itch) occurs during the migration through the skin. From the foot, the parasites are carried in the bloodstream to the lungs. After they ascend into the throat and are swallowed, they attach themselves to the wall of the small intestine. The now mature worm sets up housekeeping and lives by sucking the blood of its host. The victim becomes emaciated, anemic, and is incapable of efficient work.

Other parasites enter the body in much the same way. Schistosoma parasites live in snails that inhabit much of the water in Western Asia and Africa. The microscopic larvae leave the snails and seek out the bare feet and legs of people working or playing near or in contaminated water. The result is a debilitating parasitic disease that is said to afflict 150 million persons in Western Asia and Africa alone.

SANDFLIES ALSO have a special preference for the foot and ankle. These critters are carriers of many serious diseases such as Oroya, kala-azar, and "oriental sore." Many fungi are partial to the feet, including the ringworm that causes athlete's foot. Madura foot, another fungal infection, is a mutilating disease.

Yet, those of us who wear shoes are plagued with hard and soft corns, calluses, plantar warts, ingrown toenails, fallen-arches, bunions, and what have you. The foot problems of the aged are many and seem to be on the increase. Perhaps the most common causes of foot troubles are poor circulation and arthritis.

DIABETES CAUSE

M. B. writes: Under what circumstances would a potential diabetic develop the disease?

REPLY

A potential diabetic is a person destined to develop the disease next month or 10 years from now. Whatever happens to the individual just before the diagnosis is made usually is blamed. This is especially true when sugar is noted in the urine after an injury, operation, or illness. But the majority of diabetics tell of gaining weight before the symptoms appeared, demonstrating the need for persons with a family history of diabetes to remain slim.

NERVE DISORDERS

A reader writes: Are the symptoms of polyneuritis similar to those of multiple sclerosis?

REPLY

Somewhat the same, especially the early symptoms consisting of numbness, weakness, and a pins-and-needles sensation in the extremities. By this we mean that the early symptoms of multiple sclerosis resemble a polyneuritis.

Richard Burton Is Discharged From Hospital

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Actor Richard Burton has been released from St. John's Hospital, "fully recovered" from a lung infection and hand injury that kept him hospitalized for more than six weeks, a St. John's spokesman said yesterday.

Burton was discharged from the hospital Wednesday in the company of his nurse, but his travel plans were not disclosed.

The Welsh actor was treated for a form of bronchitis and a hand injury he suffered during the filming of "The Klansman" in a fight scene.

During his six and one half week stay in the hospital, Burton and his wife Elizabeth Taylor announced they were ending their 10-year marriage.

Foreman Found Guilty Of Drunken Driving

HOUSTON (UPI) — Percy Foreman, a skillful hulking defense attorney accustomed to winning highly publicized divorce and murder cases, was found guilty yesterday of driving while intoxicated last New Year's Eve.

Foreman, overdue for a murder trial in El Laso because of the six-day proceeding, casually sauntered from the courtroom after the verdict and left questions of a possible appeal unanswered.

"There's no plans yet," the 71-year-old Foreman said. "We'll discuss that later."

Summer School Program Varied

A wide-ranging summer school program has been planned by San Rafael City Schools.

Dollar Loss By Forgery Up In State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger said yesterday the dollar loss due to forgery in California jumped from $25 million in 1972 to $35 million in 1973.

And the figure "is expected to be much higher in 1974," Younger told a meeting of the California Check Investigators Association.

"The forgery problem is worse today than it has ever been," Younger declared.

For the most part the victims are the operators of busy retail outlets who themselves contribute to the upward trend with a desire "to keep the customer happy," the attorney general said.

"The merchant is friendly, trusting and eager to please. He reprimands the help when customers complain. He sets the stage for the check and card passers who must rely on speed, bluff, and unaware employes to make his scheme pay off," he said.

To combat the forger, Younger suggested better communication and a greater sharing of "bad paper" information among cities and states and the imprinting of the bearer's face on credit cards and checks.

Reward Of $500 For Death Tips

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Peace Officers Research Association of California yesterday announced it is offering rewards of up to $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone killing a law officer in the line of duty.

The reward program, called "We Turn in Cop Killers" or "We TICK," provides that tipsters do not have to give their names. Under the program they will be given a code name and number to be used to pick up rewards at a prearranged drop point.

"In some cases, citizens who are fearing retaliation or lengthy court involvements or who are wanted by law enforcement agencies for other crimes are witness to the slaying of a police officer and remain anonymous," said Bill Bean, president of the group which represents 17,000 officers across the state.

"These individuals will now have the opportunity to make an anonymous report through a toll-free statewide telephone line," he added.

The telephone line, (800) 472-7785, is open from noon to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Bean said the program is being held in conjunction with a group called We Turn in Pushers.

Not Real Thing

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you hear a wolf call in the Shoshone National Park in Wyoming, you may just be tuning in on a tape recording intended to flush any real wolves out of the woods.

ABA Leader Views Nixon's Tape Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The president of the American Bar Association (ABA) said yesterday that President Nixon has a right "to look out for his own best interests" in releasing Watergate material but that failure to obey a court order is a different matter.

"I place very little belief myself that anything the President is now doing is protecting the future of the presidency," said Chesterfield Smith of Lakeland, Fla. in discussing release of data to the House Judiciary Committee. "Insofar as impeachment is an adversary proceeding, he has a right to look out for his own best interests."

At the same time, Smith told reporters at breakfast, the committee has power to make noncooperation a ground for impeachment.

The ABA president said, on the other hand, if Nixon fails to comply with a court order which has not been appealed he is flouting the law and that is an impeachable offense. In Smith's opinion the President made a mistake last year in not getting a definitive ruling from the Supreme Court on his right to withhold what has been subpoenaed in a court action.

As for former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, who pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor May 16, Smith said he has "grave doubts that any serious sanction will be imposed on him." Kleindienst represents the Federal Bar Association in the ABA's policy making House of Delegates.

Smith said he likes Kleindienst and is sorry for what he did. He said there is no way to justify the misdemeanor but the "totality of his conduct" should be considered.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 8:30 p.m. — Stanley Belmont, played by Dom DeLuise, hurts his back in a home accident and tries to fake an injury that would make the bus company where he is employed liable for his medical expenses on the weekly comedy series "Lotsa Luck."

KRON (4), 8:30 p.m. — "The Big Broadcast of '74," a 90-minute musical special featuring the Oakland Symphony Orchestra in a "live" pops concert will be hosted by Terry Lowry and Fred LaCosse. KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 9 p.m. — "Coffee, Tea or Me?", a romantic comedy starring Karen Valentine, John Davidson and Michael Anderson Jr. will be the first part of a double bill presentation on the "Friday Night Movies." "Young Love," the second portion of the double bill stars Meredith Baxter and Michael Burns in the tender romance of a young couple whose marriage is disrupted by the possibility that their family is expanding.

KQED (9), 10 p.m. — In St. Thomas and St. Croix, host Tony Batten talks with natives, tourists, part-time residents and Governor Melvin H. Evans, the first black governor of the Virgin Islands on "Crisis in Paradise," a presentation of "Interface."

Summer School Program Varied

A wide-ranging summer school program has been planned by San Rafael City Schools.

Dollar Loss By Forgery Up In State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger said yesterday the dollar loss due to forgery in California jumped from $25 million in 1972 to $35 million in 1973.

And the figure "is expected to be much higher in 1974," Younger told a meeting of the California Check Investigators Association.

"The forgery problem is worse today than it has ever been," Younger declared.

For the most part the victims are the operators of busy retail outlets who themselves contribute to the upward trend with a desire "to keep the customer happy," the attorney general said.

"The merchant is friendly, trusting and eager to please. He reprimands the help when customers complain. He sets the stage for the check and card passers who must rely on speed, bluff, and unaware employes to make his scheme pay off," he said.

To combat the forger, Younger suggested better communication and a greater sharing of "bad paper" information among cities and states and the imprinting of the bearer's face on credit cards and checks.

Reward Of $500 For Death Tips

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Peace Officers Research Association of California yesterday announced it is offering rewards of up to $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone killing a law officer in the line of duty.

The reward program, called "We Turn in Cop Killers" or "We TICK," provides that tipsters do not have to give their names. Under the program they will be given a code name and number to be used to pick up rewards at a prearranged drop point.

"In some cases, citizens who are fearing retaliation or lengthy court involvements or who are wanted by law enforcement agencies for other crimes are witness to the slaying of a police officer and remain anonymous," said Bill Bean, president of the group which represents 17,000 officers across the state.

"These individuals will now have the opportunity to make an anonymous report through a toll-free statewide telephone line," he added.

The telephone line, (800) 472-7785, is open from noon to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Bean said the program is being held in conjunction with a group called We Turn in Pushers.

Not Real Thing

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you hear a wolf call in the Shoshone National Park in Wyoming, you may just be tuning in on a tape recording intended to flush any real wolves out of the woods.

ABA Leader Views Nixon's Tape Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The president of the American Bar Association (ABA) said yesterday that President Nixon has a right "to look out for his own best interests" in releasing Watergate material but that failure to obey a court order is a different matter.

"I place very little belief myself that anything the President is now doing is protecting the future of the presidency," said Chesterfield Smith of Lakeland, Fla. in discussing release of data to the House Judiciary Committee. "Insofar as impeachment is an adversary proceeding, he has a right to look out for his own best interests."

At the same time, Smith told reporters at breakfast, the committee has power to make noncooperation a ground for impeachment.

The ABA president said, on the other hand, if Nixon fails to comply with a court order which has not been appealed he is flouting the law and that is an impeachable offense. In Smith's opinion the President made a mistake last year in not getting a definitive ruling from the Supreme Court on his right to withhold what has been subpoenaed in a court action.

As for former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, who pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor May 16, Smith said he has "grave doubts that any serious sanction will be imposed on him." Kleindienst represents the Federal Bar Association in the ABA's policy making House of Delegates.

Smith said he likes Kleindienst and is sorry for what he did. He said there is no way to justify the misdemeanor but the "totality of his conduct" should be considered.

Gut Pressure Of Basketball

It's too bad the pressures of being head basketball coach at College of Marin got to be too much for John Panagakis. It's too bad, but it's not too surprising.

Panagakis, 37, head basketball coach at Marin since 1969, announced this week that he was stepping down as head coach but would remain on the staff as assistant. Jim Webster, John's assistant coach, has been promoted to head coach.

JOHN PANAGAKIS

"It was just tying me up inside and more and more each year," said Panagakis in announcing his decision. "I had some stomach problems when I was in college, and they were starting to reoccur."

Those same problems were present in the early '60s when John was head basketball coach at Novato High School. In those days, John was the fieriest coach on the Marin scene. He was up and down on the Novato bench like a jack in the box. More than once he had to be warned by the refs to keep it down when his raspy-voiced shrieks became too much for their ears. He did little to hide his emotions. You knew how he felt, the excitement came bubbling forth. But his stomach hurt even then.

He came to College of Marin in 1966 to be assistant to Cal Riemcke, a man who had built quite a basketball dynasty at the college. In the Golden Valley Conference then, if Marin didn't win the championship it came darned close. In 12 years, Cal's College of Marin teams won seven conference titles and had a win-loss record of 199-136.

BUT RIEMCKE DIDN'T like the changes taking place among the younger generation in the Bay Area. He decided to move north where things were quieter and in 1969 took a head coaching job at Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., where he is coaching today. Panagakis moved up to head coach and the self pressure was on. He "had" to keep Marin a winner. That he did, and in the tougher Camino Norte Conference.

College of Marin won the Camino Norte title in 1973 and finished in fourth place in the state tournament. The Tars were in the running the other years of Panagakis' tenure. John's five-year record at Marin? A very outstanding 119 wins and 29 losses. He was one of the most successful junior college coaches in the state.

But John learned how to appear calmer during basketball games after his move from Novato High to Marin. This was Riemcke's trademark — appearing to be calm during a frantic basketball game. He never appeared to get excited. John learned from Cal.

AT MARIN, PANAGAKIS tried to keep his yelling to a minimum. Because of that he kept a lot of his emotions bottled up inside, but the carbonation tore at his guts. It finally forced his decision to slow down.

Now the pressure is on Webster, whether anybody wants to admit it or not. It's like Alvin Dark taking over the A's after Dick Williams managed them to two straight world championships. If the A's win the fans will say "so what," but if they lose they'll call Dark a bum.

Webster is a very capable coach who should be able to keep College of Marin's basketball program one of the best among the junior colleges in the state.

I wish him all the luck possible. He's got a fine coach as his assistant.

Webster's Venture 'Wasted'

ij Sports

Friday, May 24, 1974 Independent-Journal, 41

A superior court judge yesterday dismissed a lawsuit seeking to stop Sunday's 500-mile auto race, ending the Mill Valley owner's hopes of getting his car into the 33-man field.

His "Webster Offy" and 10 other vehicles were denied a chance to qualify last Saturday, and in testimony yesterday, Webster said "I would have gone home" if he had known May 11, when the trials opened, that that would happen.

Judge Frank A. Symmes Jr. of Marin County Superior Court here ruled the five plaintiffs, including Webster, failed to exhaust all remedies available to them after they were denied a protest seeking extension of the trials. The owners' alternative, before going to court, was to appeal to a board of judges.

Damage suits against the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Corp. remained and there were indications the five owners will press their case. They seek more than $1 million for "beach of contract."

Thousands of spectators paid a dollar each to watch the zooming cars. Two of them got more than they bargained for when an exploding turbocharger of Bob Harkey's car scattered bits of metal like shrapnel. One man was cut near the mouth and another had his finger slashed by a whirling piece of casing.

Johnny Rutherford, last year's pole sitter relegated to the ninth row this Sunday when he ran afoul of a United States Auto Club time qualification rule, toured a lap in the top time of 193.424 miles an hour.

Eleven cars were left standing at the starting line when the rain-shortened qualifying runs ended. Their owners' protest was denied by the United States Auto Club and Indianapolis Motor Speedway on grounds one car "broke the qualifying line" when it was presented for qualifications a second time.

Since a full field fo 33 cars plus two alternates was achieved by the time the trials ended, officials ruled that qualifications were over.

The protest involved a car qualified by rookie Johnny Parsons of Indianapolis, son of the 1959 race winner.

Car owner Carl Gehlhausen testified yesterday Parsons' car was pushed ahead of his own to be qualified and that he and other owners were assured by a USAC official that their machines would all get a chance to make the field. However, rain cut into the time allotted for the trials and the 11 cars never got a chance to qualify.

Rookie driver Eldon Rasmussen, Indianapolis, owner of his entry, said he spent "more than $100,000" to get the car ready.

"Our understanding was we qualify until everyone has one attempt," he said. "We were in line to be qualified and had no previous indications we would not be allowed to qualify."

Lindsey Hopkins, Miami, a member of USAC's board of directors, said the non-qualified cars should have received a chance-even if it meant one of his three cars already in the field would be bumped. He also testified he read the disputed rule eight times "and I still don't understand it.

"I was told by (Speedway Vice President) Joe Cloutier about it and he said I should read the fine print."

An Opportune Time For Giants' Meeting

Floundering S.F. Gets Perfect Tonic — Bonds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants couldn't have picked a more opportune time to hold a team meeting.

Here they were floundering at two games over .500 with the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers in town and threatening to make a shambles of the National League West race.

So, at the behest of Tito Fuentes and Chris Speier, team leader Bobby Bonds called the meeting last night before the Giants went out to meet the Dodgers in the first game of a four-game series.

According to Bonds, the meeting proved the tonic the Giants needed to shake themselves, which they did a few hours later by rallying for four runs in the seventh inning for a 7-6 victory.

"We got a lot of things off our chest," said Bonds. "Nearly everyone on the club participated and in general we agreed that we were too good a team to be playing the way were were."

Bonds said the main criticism was that too many players were trying to carry the load as individuals.

"We decided that if every man does his own particular job the best he can," explained Bonds, "then we would be all right. The fact the Dodgers were in town had something to do with calling the meeting. Heck, we couldn't have picked a better time."

The Giants were down 6-3 to unbeaten Andy Messersmith when they mounted their winning rally last night.

A walk to Bonds, his third of the game, and singles by Garry Maddox and Steve Ontiveros netted one run and chased Messersmith. Mike Marshall, the Dodgers' ace reliever appearing in a game for the seventh straight day, came on and the bases became loaded on a little tap to third by Gary Matthews.

A high popup behind second into a stiff wind by Dave Kingman fell in for a single as a second run scored and then an infield out and a single by Dave Rader scored two more.

Kingman hit a solo homer for another Giant run while red-hot Steve Garvey drove in three of the Dodgers' runs with his ninth and 10th homers and now has 39 runs batted in, second only in the NL to teammate Jim Wynn's 41.

Marshall took the loss while Elias Sosa won in relief and now is 5-0. Randy Moffitt, with two shutout relief innings, picked up his ninth save.

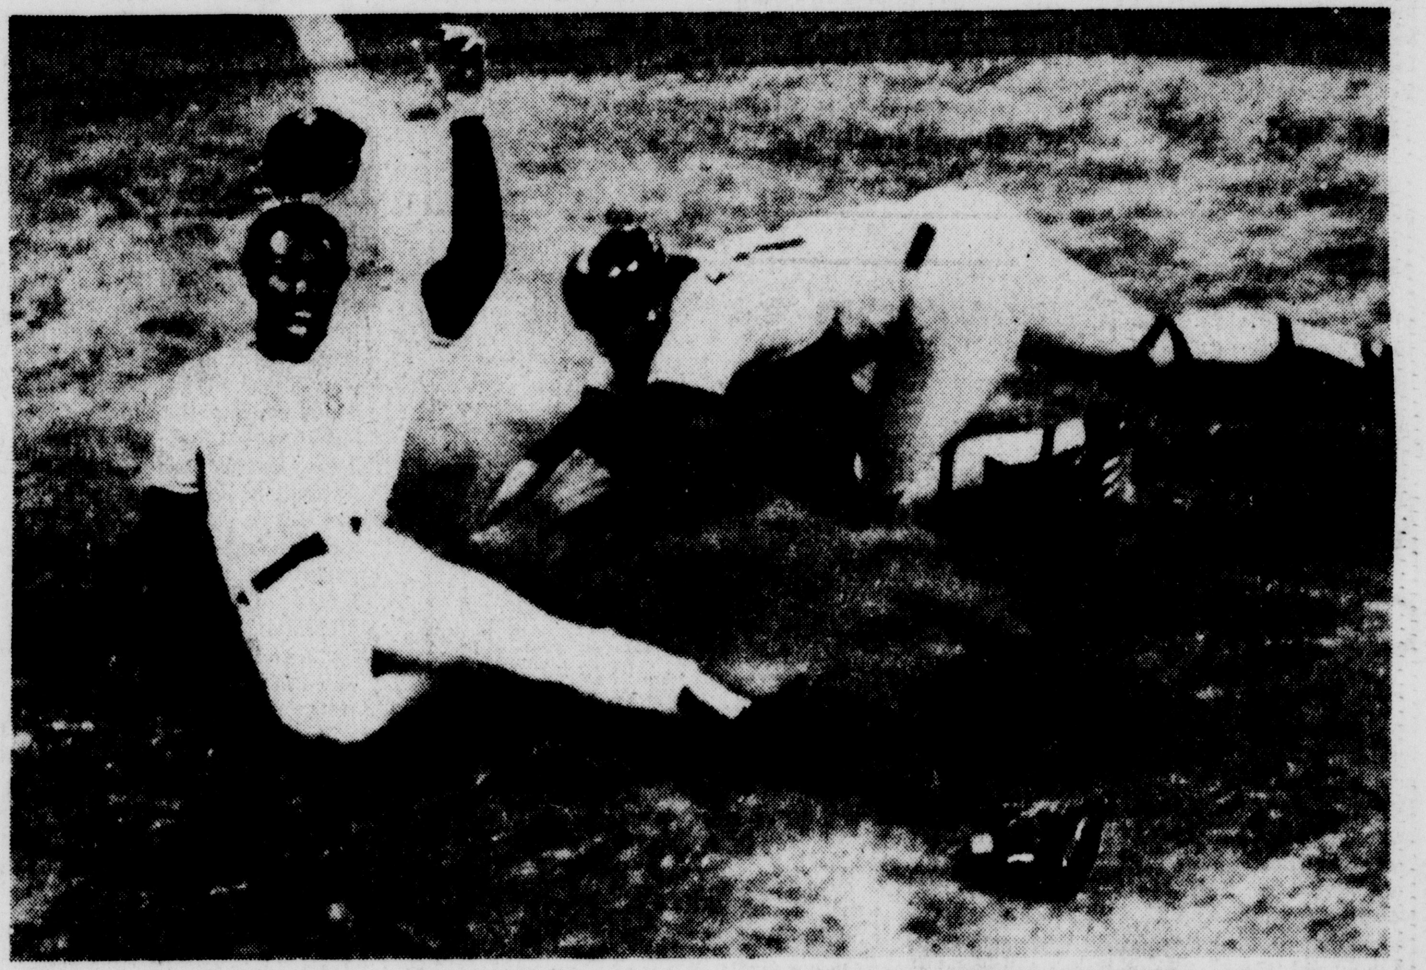
Dodger skipper Walter Alston was philosophical about the loss.

"We need a game like this once in a while," he said, "to prove winning isn't all that easy."

(See Giants bos score on inside page.)



OUT AT PLATE — San Francisco Giants' Bobby Bonds was tagged out last night at the plate by Los Angeles Dodgers catcher Joe Ferguson in the third inning at Candlestick Park. Giants' batter Steve Ontiveros had grounded to shortstop Bill Russell whose throw to first base was bobbled by first baseman Steve Garvey. Second baseman Lee Lacy, backing up Garvey, threw to the plate to nab Bonds who tried to score from second.

Hot A's To Try Padding Win Streak

ANAHEIM (AP) — The Oakland A's have won four straight games since owner Charlie Finley chewed out manager Alvin Dark, and baseball's world champions could extend their streak to seven with a weekend sweep of the California Angels.

The A's have their top pitcher, Jim Hunter with a 7-3 record, ready to face the Angels' Dick Lange, 0-0, tonight. Oakland was off yesterday.

Finley saw the A's play in Chicago last weekend and told Dark, loud enough to be heard through a closed clubhouse door, that the team better get going — or else.

"Campy and North are getting on base a lot now, and when they do that, we score runs," says Dark, citing one big reason for the surge to first in the American League West.

Bert Campaneris and Billy North, who bat at the top of the order, have both raised their batting averages dramatically this month. They have 29 stolen bases between them so far this season.

Reggie Jackson, now the A's designated hitter instead of right fielder because of a sore leg, is 7-for-15 at the plate with two homers and seven runs batted in during the winning streak.

"I just think of it as my job," said the $135,000 cleanup hitter after the A's 7-4 victory at Minnesota Wednesday night.

Car owner Carl Gehlhausen testified yesterday Parsons' car was pushed ahead of his own to be qualified and that he and other owners were assured by a USAC official that their machines would all get a chance to make the field. However, rain cut into the time allotted for the trials and the 11 cars never got a chance to qualify.

Rookie driver Eldon Rasmussen, Indianapolis, owner of his entry, said he spent "more than $100,000" to get the car ready.

"Our understanding was we qualify until everyone has one attempt," he said. "We were in line to be qualified and had no previous indications we would not be allowed to qualify."

Lindsey Hopkins, Miami, a member of USAC's board of directors, said the non-qualified cars should have received a chance-even if it meant one of his three cars already in the field would be bumped. He also testified he read the disputed rule eight times "and I still don't understand it.

"I was told by (Speedway Vice President) Joe Cloutier about it and he said I should read the fine print."

An Opportune Time For Giants' Meeting

Floundering S.F. Gets Perfect Tonic — Bonds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants couldn't have picked a more opportune time to hold a team meeting.

Here they were floundering at two games over .500 with the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers in town and threatening to make a shambles of the National League West race.

So, at the behest of Tito Fuentes and Chris Speier, team leader Bobby Bonds called the meeting last night before the Giants went out to meet the Dodgers in the first game of a four-game series.

According to Bonds, the meeting proved the tonic the Giants needed to shake themselves, which they did a few hours later by rallying for four runs in the seventh inning for a 7-6 victory.

"We got a lot of things off our chest," said Bonds. "Nearly everyone on the club participated and in general we agreed that we were too good a team to be playing the way were were."

Bonds said the main criticism was that too many players were trying to carry the load as individuals.

"We decided that if every man does his own particular job the best he can," explained Bonds, "then we would be all right. The fact the Dodgers were in town had something to do with calling the meeting. Heck, we couldn't have picked a better time."

The Giants were down 6-3 to unbeaten Andy Messersmith when they mounted their winning rally last night.

A walk to Bonds, his third of the game, and singles by Garry Maddox and Steve Ontiveros netted one run and chased Messersmith. Mike Marshall, the Dodgers' ace reliever appearing in a game for the seventh straight day, came on and the bases became loaded on a little tap to third by Gary Matthews.

A high popup behind second into a stiff wind by Dave Kingman fell in for a single as a second run scored and then an infield out and a single by Dave Rader scored two more.

Kingman hit a solo homer for another Giant run while red-hot Steve Garvey drove in three of the Dodgers' runs with his ninth and 10th homers and now has 39 runs batted in, second only in the NL to teammate Jim Wynn's 41.

Marshall took the loss while Elias Sosa won in relief and now is 5-0. Randy Moffitt, with two shutout relief innings, picked up his ninth save.

The victory still left the Giants eight games behind the Dodgers, who now have lost only three of their last 16 starts.

Dodger skipper Walter Alston was philosophical about the loss.

"We need a game like this once in a while," he said, "to prove winning isn't all that easy."

OUT AT PLATE — San Francisco Giants' Bobby Bonds was tagged out last night at the plate by Los Angeles Dodgers catcher Joe Ferguson in the third inning at Candlestick Park. Giants' batter Steve Ontiveros had grounded to shortstop Bill Russell whose throw to first base was bobbled by first baseman Steve Garvey. Second baseman Lee Lacy, backing up Garvey, threw to the plate to nab Bonds who tried to score from second.

Hot A's To Try Padding Win Streak

ANAHEIM (AP) — The Oakland A's have won four straight games since owner Charlie Finley chewed out manager Alvin Dark, and baseball's world champions could extend their streak to seven with a weekend sweep of the California Angels.

The A's have their top pitcher, Jim Hunter with a 7-3 record, ready to face the Angels' Dick Lange, 0-0, tonight. Oakland was off yesterday.

Finley saw the A's play in Chicago last weekend and told Dark, loud enough to be heard through a closed clubhouse door, that the team better get going — or else.

"Campy and North are getting on base a lot now, and when they do that, we score runs," says Dark, citing one big reason for the surge to first in the American League West.

Bert Campaneris and Billy North, who bat at the top of the order, have both raised their batting averages dramatically this month. They have 29 stolen bases between them so far this season.

Reggie Jackson, now the A's designated hitter instead of right fielder because of a sore leg, is 7-for-15 at the plate with two homers and seven runs batted in during the winning streak.

"I just think of it as my job," said the $135,000 cleanup hitter after the A's 7-4 victory at Minnesota Wednesday night.

Cleveland's G. Perry Is Doing Some Psyche Job

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Gaylord Perry is doing some psyche job on the American League.

Perry, accused on numerous occasions over the years of throwing an illegal pitch but never caught in the act, has had AL batters guessing about his pitches more than ever this year despite having done away with all the gyrations he used to go through on the mound.

The 35-year-old right-hander had the Baltimore Orioles completely baffled last night when he tossed a three-hitter for his seventh straight victory while pitching the Cleveland Indians to a 2-0 triumph.

"I've cut out the gyrations completely. It gives the umpires ideas," said Perry, referring to the new rule this season which leaves it up to the umpire's discretion whether or not a pitcher is throwing an illegal pitch. "But I hope the hitters think that I'm doing something. What I might be doing better this year than last is setting the hitters up better."

Perry, who bested 1973 Cy Young Award winner Jim Palmer in the pitchers' duel, recorded his 34th shutout.

In the only other scheduled AL games, Chicago trimmed Texas 9-6, California beat Kansas City 3-1 and Milwaukee downed Detroit 7-3.

San Francisco nipped Los Angeles 7-6, Montreal beat Pittsburgh 5-4, San Diego topped Cincinnati 5-4 in 13 innings and Chicago at New York was rained out in the only scheduled National League games.

White Sox 9, Rangers 6

Carlos May drove in three runs with a double and a sacrifice fly to spark the White Sox' triumph. Skip Pitlock worked five innings in relief to gain his first AL win and also became the first pitcher in the league to bat this season when he reached base on an error in the sixth.

Angels 3, Royals 1

Nolan Ryan pitched a four-hitter to highlight the Angels' victory. Ryan, who struck out six and walked four, outdueled Bruce Dal Canton in notching his sixth win in 10 decisions.

Brewers 7, Tigers 3

Sonoma Staters To China

Although basketball season officially ended more than two months ago, it's not over for four Sonoma State College stars.

Bill Belander, Bob LeBrun, Tom Fitchie and Steve Tiedeman will be part of a 12-man team leaving for the Republic of China (Taiwan) May 31 to play a series of exhibition games.

The two-week tour, sponsored by the Basketball Federation of the Republic of China, was arranged by San Francisco State coach Dr. Lyle Damon through a Taiwan student at the school.

The squad, composed of the all-star teams from the Far Western Conference, will play seven games against Taipei University, the Taiwan Olympic team and the Army and Navy all-stars.

Joining the Sonoma players on the team are John Slater, Bill Drew and Darrell Jackson from San Francisco, Stan Cherry from Hayward, Dave Moore and Steve Albrecht from Chico, Mike McCormack from Sacramento and Bruce Fernandez from Humboldt.

Cleveland's G. Perry Is Doing Some Psyche Job

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Perry, accused on numerous occasions over the years of throwing an illegal pitch but never caught in the act, has had AL batters guessing about his pitches more than ever this year despite having done away with all the gyrations he used to go through on the mound.

The 35-year-old right-hander had the Baltimore Orioles completely baffled last night when he tossed a three-hitter for his seventh straight victory while pitching the Cleveland Indians to a 2-0 triumph.

"I've cut out the gyrations completely. It gives the umpires ideas," said Perry, referring to the new rule this season which leaves it up to the umpire's discretion whether or not a pitcher is throwing an illegal pitch. "But I hope the hitters think that I'm doing something. What I might be doing better this year than last is setting the hitters up better."

Perry, who bested 1973 Cy Young Award winner Jim Palmer in the pitchers' duel, recorded his 34th shutout.

In the only other scheduled AL games, Chicago trimmed Texas 9-6, California beat Kansas City 3-1 and Milwaukee downed Detroit 7-3.

San Francisco nipped Los Angeles 7-6, Montreal beat Pittsburgh 5-4, San Diego topped Cincinnati 5-4 in 13 innings and Chicago at New York was rained out in the only scheduled National League games.

White Sox 9, Rangers 6

Carlos May drove in three runs with a double and a sacrifice fly to spark the White Sox' triumph. Skip Pitlock worked five innings in relief to gain his first AL win and also became the first pitcher in the league to bat this season when he reached base on an error in the sixth.

Angels 3, Royals 1

Nolan Ryan pitched a four-hitter to highlight the Angels' victory. Ryan, who struck out six and walked four, outdueled Bruce Dal Canton in notching his sixth win in 10 decisions.

Brewers 7, Tigers 3

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

North Coast Streams To Open Tomorrow

The stream trout fishing season for the North Coast District opens tomorrow. Trout fishing in reservoirs and lakes throughout the state and in most streams is already open.

Included in the North Coast District portion of the open season areas are all streams in Del Norte, Humboldt, Marin, Mendocino and Sonoma counties; also in the Mad River drainage below Ruth Dam in Trinity County; in the Eel River drainage in Lake and Trinity counties; in the Applegate River drainage in Siskiyou County, and in the Klamath River drainage including all tributary streams below the Iron Gate and Dwinnell dams in Siskiyou County and below Lewiston Dam in Trinity County.

In Marin County, I'm afraid it won't be much of an opener. The streams are low and few fish of any size have been noted. Even the 25 or so fishermen who fished for short periods of time before the season opened had very few fish.

I LIKED THE OLD days much better when both the lakes and streams in the county opened on the same day, usually May 1. It was sort of a glamorous time with everyone talking and thinking trout. Each of the lakes was planted with approximately 10,000 trout which really turned the fishermen out. One time at Lagunitas Lake, 1,000 fishermen took 7,000 trout the first day. Everywhere you looked, there was a trout fisherman.

When I was a kid, Lagunitas School actually was closed if the opening day happened to be on a day other than Saturday or Sunday. Those were the good old days! One time Neil McIsaac of Nicasio and I hiked from Woodacre over the hill to the Big and Little Carson creeks (now the site of Kent Dam). What fishing! And we didn't see a soul. We took 50 trout (the limit was 25 at that time) and we were picked up below Lagunitas by our folks who were looking forward to a real fish fry.

PROSPECTS ARE RATED fair to good in most of the newly opening areas. Water and road conditions are generally forecast as good, although anglers should inquire locally about access to particular areas especially in the mountainous districts. I received a post card from Bob and Jenny Jacks, formerly of Novato, who are now running the Webber Lake resort in Sierra County. The altitude at Webber is about 8,000 feet. They say, "We are open. Due to the new state law all trailers and campers with holding tanks must be capped."

That's all they wrote, but they must have just gotten into the lake cabins. The ice on the lake should be thawed, but I doubt if you will be able to get above Webber Lake itself.

FISHING AT WEBBER and the Little Truckee River that starts its flow from Webber is a good early season area. In the old days, it always opened May 30 because that was the earliest time that one could get there. The lake has some big browns, some good brookies and a good number of 10-inch rainbows. Boat fishing with bait is best, but some good fish are taken from around the shoreline. Be sure and check in with Bob or Jenny before you start fishing or you will make the list! The lake is surrounded by private property.

Me? I'm going to Lake Tahoe for a day and give it a go for a mackinaw trout. Drifting with live bait seems to be on the hot side up there now, and I've never caught one. Then maybe I'll take a run up to Webber just to check things out. Unless pulling those one-armed bandits at South Shore doesn't wear my arms out.

IT LOOKS LIKE we may be getting a break in the weather. These winds are due to stop for a day or so. Tomorrow at 9:12 a.m. there's a -1.3 tide and on Sunday, there's a -0.9 tide. If it's not too rough, a limit of abalones shouldn't be too hard to come by. These tides are also good for clams, though the annual mussel quarantine is now in effect. No worry about eating abalones, but only the muscle part of the clams should be eaten. Mussels are strictly out.

With these low tides, the first downstream runs of stripers should start to show in San Pablo. By June 1, the bay should be full of fish. Trolling and shiner drifting will be worth a try over this weekend at The Brothers, Red Rock and the Richmond Bridge.

6 Redwood Players On All-Stars

Six players and the coach from Redwood High School's powerful baseball team head the Marin roster for the fourth annual Marin-Sonoma All-Star Baseball Game scheduled next month.

The game will be held Saturday, June 15, at 8 p.m. at Albert Field in San Rafael. It matches 15-man teams of top graduating seniors from the two counties.

Sponsor is the Italian Athletic Club of Corte Madera, which uses proceeds to fund a college scholarship. Last year a $500 stipend went to Mike Connor of Redwood, now attending Stanford University. Connor will be one of the judges for this year's most valuable player award.

The six Redwood players are Marin County Athletic League batting champion Phil Bacigalupi, MCAL earned run average leader Jeff Lucchesi, outfielders Rob Long and Jeff Vogel, shortstop Gary LaTorre and catcher Doug Hartman. Bacigalupi is a third baseman.

The coach is Al Endriss, who has guided Redwood to three straight MCAL titles, including this year's, in which the Giants compiled the best record in league history, 13-1.

The players were chosen this week by the MCAL coaches. The Sonoma team will be announced later.

By AL GIDDINGS

North Coast Streams To Open Tomorrow

The stream trout fishing season for the North Coast District opens tomorrow. Trout fishing in reservoirs and lakes throughout the state and in most streams is already open.

Included in the North Coast District portion of the open season areas are all streams in Del Norte, Humboldt, Marin, Mendocino and Sonoma counties; also in the Mad River drainage below Ruth Dam in Trinity County; in the Eel River drainage in Lake and Trinity counties; in the Applegate River drainage in Siskiyou County, and in the Klamath River drainage including all tributary streams below the Iron Gate and Dwinnell dams in Siskiyou County and below Lewiston Dam in Trinity County.

In Marin County, I'm afraid it won't be much of an opener. The streams are low and few fish of any size have been noted. Even the 25 or so fishermen who fished for short periods of time before the season opened had very few fish.

I LIKED THE OLD days much better when both the lakes and streams in the county opened on the same day, usually May 1. It was sort of a glamorous time with everyone talking and thinking trout. Each of the lakes was planted with approximately 10,000 trout which really turned the fishermen out. One time at Lagunitas Lake, 1,000 fishermen took 7,000 trout the first day. Everywhere you looked, there was a trout fisherman.

When I was a kid, Lagunitas School actually was closed if the opening day happened to be on a day other than Saturday or Sunday. Those were the good old days! One time Neil McIsaac of Nicasio and I hiked from Woodacre over the hill to the Big and Little Carson creeks (now the site of Kent Dam). What fishing! And we didn't see a soul. We took 50 trout (the limit was 25 at that time) and we were picked up below Lagunitas by our folks who were looking forward to a real fish fry.

PROSPECTS ARE RATED fair to good in most of the newly opening areas. Water and road conditions are generally forecast as good, although anglers should inquire locally about access to particular areas especially in the mountainous districts. I received a post card from Bob and Jenny Jacks, formerly of Novato, who are now running the Webber Lake resort in Sierra County. The altitude at Webber is about 8,000 feet. They say, "We are open. Due to the new state law all trailers and campers with holding tanks must be capped."

That's all they wrote, but they must have just gotten into the lake cabins. The ice on the lake should be thawed, but I doubt if you will be able to get above Webber Lake itself.

FISHING AT WEBBER and the Little Truckee River that starts its flow from Webber is a good early season area. In the old days, it always opened May 30 because that was the earliest time that one could get there. The lake has some big browns, some good brookies and a good number of 10-inch rainbows. Boat fishing with bait is best, but some good fish are taken from around the shoreline. Be sure and check in with Bob or Jenny before you start fishing or you will make the list! The lake is surrounded by private property.

Me? I'm going to Lake Tahoe for a day and give it a go for a mackinaw trout. Drifting with live bait seems to be on the hot side up there now, and I've never caught one. Then maybe I'll take a run up to Webber just to check things out. Unless pulling those one-armed bandits at South Shore doesn't wear my arms out.

IT LOOKS LIKE we may be getting a break in the weather. These winds are due to stop for a day or so. Tomorrow at 9:12 a.m. there's a -1.3 tide and on Sunday, there's a -0.9 tide. If it's not too rough, a limit of abalones shouldn't be too hard to come by. These tides are also good for clams, though the annual mussel quarantine is now in effect. No worry about eating abalones, but only the muscle part of the clams should be eaten. Mussels are strictly out.

With these low tides, the first downstream runs of stripers should start to show in San Pablo. By June 1, the bay should be full of fish. Trolling and shiner drifting will be worth a try over this weekend at The Brothers, Red Rock and the Richmond Bridge.

6 Redwood Players On All-Stars

Six players and the coach from Redwood High School's powerful baseball team head the Marin roster for the fourth annual Marin-Sonoma All-Star Baseball Game scheduled next month.

The game will be held Saturday, June 15, at 8 p.m. at Albert Field in San Rafael. It matches 15-man teams of top graduating seniors from the two counties.

Sponsor is the Italian Athletic Club of Corte Madera, which uses proceeds to fund a college scholarship. Last year a $500 stipend went to Mike Connor of Redwood, now attending Stanford University. Connor will be one of the judges for this year's most valuable player award.

The six Redwood players are Marin County Athletic League batting champion Phil Bacigalupi, MCAL earned run average leader Jeff Lucchesi, outfielders Rob Long and Jeff Vogel, shortstop Gary LaTorre and catcher Doug Hartman. Bacigalupi is a third baseman.

The coach is Al Endriss, who has guided Redwood to three straight MCAL titles, including this year's, in which the Giants compiled the best record in league history, 13-1.

Other pitchers will be Jim Beckham of Tamalpais, Mike Farris of San Rafael and Kevin Kirby of Terra Linda.

In the infield will be Tim Little of Marin Catholic and Novato's Jeff Pond and Jeff Rubino.

The players were chosen this week by the MCAL coaches. The Sonoma team will be announced later.

The tournament annually attracts the Bay Area's top professional and amateur players. Last year it was won by Tom Brown of San Francisco.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investor Doing Well On His Own

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I retire in about 12 years and would like to invest in mutual funds. I have some shares of Chemical Fund, but am interested in Reserve Fund and David L. Babson. Please give me your opinion. — E.H.

A. You seem to be doing very well on your own. Chemical Fund and David L. Babson Investments were among the top twenty-five performers (based on total returns) for both the latest five and 10-year periods. Reserve Fund, which strives to provide maximum income from short-term money market instruments, has been in operation about 18 months and has an excellent record for that period. This no-load fund, as of the end of the first quarter of 1974, had assets of $150 million and yielded an annualized average rate of 8.44 per cent for the period.

Chemical Fund invests in the common or convertible securities of high-quality science-oriented companies. Founded in 1938, this load fund has assets of close to $900 million under management, with about 10 per cent of this in cash at last report. The no-load Babson fund has grown since its founding in 1959 to a $142 million fund. Its predominantly blue chip common stock portfolio also contains a smattering of junior growth stocks. With investments in these three diverse funds, you will have assembled a well-balanced investment cushion for growth with income.

Q. We are in the 42 per cent tax bracket with $15,000 of this from interest on certificates of deposit and FHA notes. Should we invest in tax-exempt municipal bonds instead? — T.Y.

A. That would appear to make sense in your case. Newly issued AAA-rated tax-exempt bonds are being offered at prices to yield about 5.3 per cent to 5.4 per cent. In your tax bracket this yield is equivalent to 9.1 per cent to 9.3 per cent in taxable income.

If your state exempts interest on its own municipal issues, it would be advisable to buy one of the high-rated general obligations or highway bonds.

CENTENNIAL ATTIRE

Bonnets and pinafores will blossom this weekend in San Rafael during the Centennial Fair at Forest Meadows on Saturday and downtown parade on Sunday. Sue Anderson (right), of Sue's Stuff & Nonsense at 1016 B Street, fully dressed for the occasion with checkered bonnet and dress plus white pinafore, shows Kate Linscott of Fairfax how the authentic country bonnet should be worn.

Pool Buyers Cautioned About Getting Promises In Writing

Home ownrs in the Bay Area who expect to splash around in their own swimming pools within the next few months are warned to get any pool construction promises in writing.

"Files at the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco," reports Don Schwartz, BBB executive vice president, "show that the most common fault of swimming pool companies is their failure to keep time schedules.

"This has resulted in pools being completed as long as two to four months after the promised date. A penalty clause added to the contract helps avoid this. The clause, invalid unless signed by both the company and the buyer, commits the company to a daily cash penalty to be paid the buyer for each day the job is held up in excess of the date promised," Schwartz said.

with signed contract in hand, the pool salesman may assure the buyer, "Don't worry, we'll take care of you." This may very well be true, but the Better Business Bureau suggests that the buyer should worry — before he signs the contract.

Schwartz points out some of the buyer's responsibilities: Be prepared to oversee each phase of the pool construction to assure that the design is as planned, the color of the plaster as chosen, the location of the pool light box convenient, excavation debris disposed of as agreed, shrubbery protected, and warranty papers delivered.

1. Know the reputation of the contractor or builder. Consult the BBB for information, if necessary.

2. Be sure all contractor's promises are in writing, including the specifications as to type and extent of work; when it is to be completed; description of materials (quality, grade or name, weight, color, style); and total cost. Read the contract carefully, sign it and keep a copy.

3. Do not sign completion certificates before the work is finished in accordance with the contract.

4. See that all work conforms to local building codes and regulations. If a permit is required, be sure that you comply with all specifications. If inspections are required by local ordinances, be sure they are completed. See that all construction conforms with building and contract requirements.

5. Invesitgate "bargain" offers before signing anything.

6. If in doubt, get expert advice. It is easier to avoid disputes in advance than to settle them afterward.

Stocks In Early Rally

NEW YORK (UPI) — A sharp rally early today in response to an interruption in the prime rate spiral lost some of its steam by noon on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was active.

What prompted the early rally, especially among the blue chips and glamors, was news that First National City Bank of New York did not raise its prime lending rate from 11 ½ per cent and a decline in the demand for business loans last week. Further, the nation's balance of payments improved again last month.

Transportation and oil-related issues were irregular.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Marinduque "B" was the most active issue, unchanged at 4 ¼ on 70,600 shares.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I retire in about 12 years and would like to invest in mutual funds. I have some shares of Chemical Fund, but am interested in Reserve Fund and David L. Babson. Please give me your opinion. — E.H.

A. You seem to be doing very well on your own. Chemical Fund and David L. Babson Investments were among the top twenty-five performers (based on total returns) for both the latest five and 10-year periods. Reserve Fund, which strives to provide maximum income from short-term money market instruments, has been in operation about 18 months and has an excellent record for that period. This no-load fund, as of the end of the first quarter of 1974, had assets of $150 million and yielded an annualized average rate of 8.44 per cent for the period.

Chemical Fund invests in the common or convertible securities of high-quality science-oriented companies. Founded in 1938, this load fund has assets of close to $900 million under management, with about 10 per cent of this in cash at last report. The no-load Babson fund has grown since its founding in 1959 to a $142 million fund. Its predominantly blue chip common stock portfolio also contains a smattering of junior growth stocks. With investments in these three diverse funds, you will have assembled a well-balanced investment cushion for growth with income.

Q. We are in the 42 per cent tax bracket with $15,000 of this from interest on certificates of deposit and FHA notes. Should we invest in tax-exempt municipal bonds instead? — T.Y.

A. That would appear to make sense in your case. Newly issued AAA-rated tax-exempt bonds are being offered at prices to yield about 5.3 per cent to 5.4 per cent. In your tax bracket this yield is equivalent to 9.1 per cent to 9.3 per cent in taxable income.

If your state exempts interest on its own municipal issues, it would be advisable to buy one of the high-rated general obligations or highway bonds.

CENTENNIAL ATTIRE

Bonnets and pinafores will blossom this weekend in San Rafael during the Centennial Fair at Forest Meadows on Saturday and downtown parade on Sunday. Sue Anderson (right), of Sue's Stuff & Nonsense at 1016 B Street, fully dressed for the occasion with checkered bonnet and dress plus white pinafore, shows Kate Linscott of Fairfax how the authentic country bonnet should be worn.

Pool Buyers Cautioned About Getting Promises In Writing

Home ownrs in the Bay Area who expect to splash around in their own swimming pools within the next few months are warned to get any pool construction promises in writing.

"Files at the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco," reports Don Schwartz, BBB executive vice president, "show that the most common fault of swimming pool companies is their failure to keep time schedules.

"This has resulted in pools being completed as long as two to four months after the promised date. A penalty clause added to the contract helps avoid this. The clause, invalid unless signed by both the company and the buyer, commits the company to a daily cash penalty to be paid the buyer for each day the job is held up in excess of the date promised," Schwartz said.

with signed contract in hand, the pool salesman may assure the buyer, "Don't worry, we'll take care of you." This may very well be true, but the Better Business Bureau suggests that the buyer should worry — before he signs the contract.

Schwartz points out some of the buyer's responsibilities: Be prepared to oversee each phase of the pool construction to assure that the design is as planned, the color of the plaster as chosen, the location of the pool light box convenient, excavation debris disposed of as agreed, shrubbery protected, and warranty papers delivered.

1. Know the reputation of the contractor or builder. Consult the BBB for information, if necessary.

2. Be sure all contractor's promises are in writing, including the specifications as to type and extent of work; when it is to be completed; description of materials (quality, grade or name, weight, color, style); and total cost. Read the contract carefully, sign it and keep a copy.

3. Do not sign completion certificates before the work is finished in accordance with the contract.

4. See that all work conforms to local building codes and regulations. If a permit is required, be sure that you comply with all specifications. If inspections are required by local ordinances, be sure they are completed. See that all construction conforms with building and contract requirements.

5. Invesitgate "bargain" offers before signing anything.

6. If in doubt, get expert advice. It is easier to avoid disputes in advance than to settle them afterward.

Stocks In Early Rally

NEW YORK (UPI) — A sharp rally early today in response to an interruption in the prime rate spiral lost some of its steam by noon on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was active.

What prompted the early rally, especially among the blue chips and glamors, was news that First National City Bank of New York did not raise its prime lending rate from 11 ½ per cent and a decline in the demand for business loans last week. Further, the nation's balance of payments improved again last month.

Transportation and oil-related issues were irregular.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Marinduque "B" was the most active issue, unchanged at 4 ¼ on 70,600 shares.

Nicholson's Hallmark Shop at 915 Fourth is decorated with mementos from the previous century: Signs like "Billiard Parlour" and "Public Bath — Soap 2 cents, towel 5 cents." Whitey's Stationery next door has old portraits and books including a history of Marin County written in 1880.

California Bakery at 919 Fourth has a centennial coin sketched on a large sheet cake, prepared by Toni Albini.

Hydrogen Seen As Energy Answer

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — There's enough hydrogen energy in the world's oceans to provide mankind with all the energy it needs for billions of years, starting early in the next century.

So, says Stanley G. Schaffer who is president of the Pennsylvania Electric Association and from whom that assurance comes, while more immediate energy needs remain a worry the world is not going to have any "long-range energy problem."

Schaffer, a York, Pa., native who heads both PEA and Pittsburgh's Duquesne Light Co., said:

Technological feasibility "is very close," he said, adding:

"The oceans are loaded with heavy atoms of hydrogen. Estimates indicate there are enough to provide the world all the energy it needs for the next 4.5 billion years — roughly the time the earth has existed."

He said three universities are working on the fusion power process — Princeton, Cornell and Texas University at Austin — and "Princeton believes it is very close to technological feasibility."

Schaffer predicts the next step — practical adaptation — will come "in the first quarter of the new century — 2000 to 2025 — about the same time period needed for nuclear power."

He said the two principal barriers to use of fusion power have been the 100 million degrees centigrade needed to join deuterium and tritium and "some sort of box to put it in."

Schaffer said Princeton experts believe a field of magnetic force may be used as a figurative box. There is also the alternative potential of laser = targeted fusion using small pellets of deuterium and tritium for more manageable quantities of hot gas.

"It's still early to determine costs," Schaffer said, "but since the basic fuel exists in such profusion, presumably its recovery can come at lower cost than some fuels."

As to the ecological ramifications of fusion, "there are essentially none. The process would produce some short-life radioactivity."

Other exotic energy possibilities, Schaffer believes, are minimal to limited.

"Geothermal energy tapping the earth's molten core has some growth potential in the western U.S. — particularly California — but, again, that is limited. Ditto windmills," he said.

"Further conservation may be necessary," he said. "For example, if turning back home and business thermostats six degrees this year saved, say, the equivalent of one year's growth, what do you do for an encore?

"You'll have new houses, new families and new demands, and you can't go on turning back the thermostat yet another six degrees."

For the intermediate years — 1980-2000 — Schaeffer said the rapid completion of new nuclear power plants and increased use of coal will have to provide the answers.

He noted Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.'s acquisition of new production from southwest Pennsylvania, and said some strip and deepmine operations can be increased for general use.

"But a large percentage of Pennsylvania's best coal is owned by steel companies, and coal companies have certain mines committed to specific needs of certain customers.

"They are not going to deplete those reserves for general use," Schaffer said, "and Duquesne Light is in exactly the same position."

Warranty Plan

Subaru dealers announced a warranty plan that goes well beyond the standard coverage offered for 1974 cars. Instead of the usual coverage of one year or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first, Subaru dealers are issuing one-year warranties with no mileage restriction of any kind.

He said three universities are working on the fusion power process — Princeton, Cornell and Texas University at Austin — and "Princeton believes it is very close to technological feasibility."

Schaffer predicts the next step — practical adaptation — will come "in the first quarter of the new century — 2000 to 2025 — about the same time period needed for nuclear power."

He said the two principal barriers to use of fusion power have been the 100 million degrees centigrade needed to join deuterium and tritium and "some sort of box to put it in."

Schaffer said Princeton experts believe a field of magnetic force may be used as a figurative box. There is also the alternative potential of laser = targeted fusion using small pellets of deuterium and tritium for more manageable quantities of hot gas.

Research for fusion is now hitting $100 million a year.

"It's still early to determine costs," Schaffer said, "but since the basic fuel exists in such profusion, presumably its recovery can come at lower cost than some fuels."

As to the ecological ramifications of fusion, "there are essentially none. The process would produce some short-life radioactivity."

Other exotic energy possibilities, Schaffer believes, are minimal to limited.

"Solar energy is fabulously expensive — though better housing designs with proper overhang and construction oriented to the sun can be useful.

"Geothermal energy tapping the earth's molten core has some growth potential in the western U.S. — particularly California — but, again, that is limited. Ditto windmills," he said.

Current energy problems, meantime, remain problems, Schaffer acknowledged.

"Further conservation may be necessary," he said. "For example, if turning back home and business thermostats six degrees this year saved, say, the equivalent of one year's growth, what do you do for an encore?

"You'll have new houses, new families and new demands, and you can't go on turning back the thermostat yet another six degrees."

For the intermediate years — 1980-2000 — Schaeffer said the rapid completion of new nuclear power plants and increased use of coal will have to provide the answers.

He noted Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.'s acquisition of new production from southwest Pennsylvania, and said some strip and deepmine operations can be increased for general use.

"But a large percentage of Pennsylvania's best coal is owned by steel companies, and coal companies have certain mines committed to specific needs of certain customers.

"They are not going to deplete those reserves for general use," Schaffer said, "and Duquesne Light is in exactly the same position."

Warranty Plan

Subaru dealers announced a warranty plan that goes well beyond the standard coverage offered for 1974 cars. Instead of the usual coverage of one year or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first, Subaru dealers are issuing one-year warranties with no mileage restriction of any kind.

Marin County Coroner: Cooke Or Jindrich?

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
46 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1974 EDITORIAL PAGE

Whether Marin's incumbent coroner-public administrator should be replaced will be decided in the June 4 primary.

Dr. Donovan O. Cooke of Belvedere has held the office since January, 1967. He won in the 1966 primary, getting over half the vote while the remainder was divided among three other candidates.

Cooke has also worn other hats for the county since becoming coroner. The board of supervisors made him county medical officer in 1969, and put him in charge of the county's mental health program in 1970. The following year, he was also made head of the county public health department.

These mergers did not work out, and Cooke has given up the extra hats. He now holds only the coroner-public administrator office to which he has been twice elected.

He seeks a third term. Running against him is Dr. Ervin Jindrich of Mill Valley, who is San Francisco County coroner.

With only two candidates, the June 4 primary is decisive.

BUDGET AND STAFF of the coroner-public administrator office have grown substantially since Cooke took over from Frank J. Keaton. During the period when he was also holding down other positions for the county, Cooke had little time to devote to his duties as coroner. They perforce were turned over to his staff. The operation has continued largely in that fashion.

A question arises immediately about Cooke's opponent: Why should the coroner of San Francisco County want a lower-paid job as coroner of Marin County?

The answer is that Jindrich is filling the San Francisco post on a two-year "acting" appointment during Navy service of Dr. Boyd Stephens, who became San Francisco coroner following the death of Dr. Henry W. Turkel. The position in San Francisco is under civil service. Jindrich does not hold a civil service rating and will have to give up the office on Stephens' return from Navy duty.

As a Marin County resident for six years, he seeks the coroner's office here.

DR. JINDRICH is a pathologist specializing in forensic medicine — an unusual qualification for coroner. (Dr. Cooke is a general practitioner.) He has the experience, gained in the larger San Francisco office. He promises he will devote full time to the job if elected. He contends the Marin coroner's investigation of homicides (including accidental deaths) needs improvement, and claims he can improve it. Few, if any, inquests have been held during Cooke's incumbency. Jindrich belives in holding inquests wherever a question about the manner of death arises.

We have become somewhat disenchanted with Cooke through his willingness to assume too many jobs and his consequent lack of attention to the job to which he was elected.

Jindrich is unusually well qualified for the coroner position. It is not a case of replacing an incumbent with someone of unknown or questionable qualifications.

We feel, therefore, that this is not a case where incumbency should tip the scales. Those voters who are less than completely satisfied with the present office holder may turn with a high degree of confidence to his opponent.

Frank Ikard's Bombast May Not Save Depletion Allowance

WASHINGTON — Frank Ikard is a gentleman of affable personality and substantive background. He is a former judge and former congressman from the 13th District of Texas, around Wichita Falls. He is Texas-size in stature and hospitality. He has a gracious and gregarious wife, and week ends he raises fruit and vegetables on his farm in West Virginia. His credentials as an oil industry spokesman-lobbyist are solid gold.

Ikard has what I almost said is a thankless job, but I caught myself. He is thanked generously by the American Petroleum Institute, of which he is president. Call it instead one hell of a tough job, especially these days, trying to put a nice face on the oil industry while gasoline prices seem to go up a penny a day at the pump.

As if the last few months have not been tough enough for him, a time when booming oil profits barely managed to assuage the companies for their unfortunate public image, these next few weeks are going to be even tougher. These are weeks when the depletion allowance, the holy cornerstone of oil industry prosperity for 48 years now, is facing its most serious challenge ever.

THE HOUSE DEMOCRATIC Caucus has voted to force a straight up-or-down floor vote on amendments to end the depletion allowance immediately — something that always has been avoided before by the Ways and Means or Rules committees.

You may recall that the depletion allowance, in existence since 1926, allows oil companies to take 22 per cent off the top of their gross profits before paying taxes on the rest — and that 22 per cent of gross can run up to 50 per cent of their net. The individual taxpayer should be so lucky.

The depletion allowance lies behind the vast profits reported by the companies in recent business quarters — Texaco, for example, up 123 per cent in the first quarter of 1974 compared to a year earlier. We innocent bystanders might assume that fairness would let the depletion allowance be ended, and the companies' profit increases drop down around the same percentage figure with which inflation blesses us all.

THAT IS WHERE Ikard comes in. His duty is to sound the klaxon and warn that if the depletion allowance falls, the republic cannot be long after.

Abolishment "paves the way for liquidation of the independent domestic producer," he said. "It would virtually destroy the industry's ability to generate the vast amounts of capital needed to bring forth new energy supplies.

"If a lynch-mob attitude prevails in Congress over petroleum tax legislation, the nation will suffer a devastating setback in its efforts to attain a reasonable degree of energy self-sufficiency.

"There may be some temporary political hay for congressmen who are demanding punitive tax action aimed at petroleum producers. But all of the citizens of our country will reap the bitter harvest of energy shortages, higher prices, economic slowdown, and increasing dependency on foreign sources of supply."

NOW THAT IS BLUNT talk, I would say Texas-style but for my Texas friends who might resent it. It is a warning: If you cut off our depletion, you'll be sorry. The money we thus pay in taxes will not come out of our astronomical profits, it will come out of the public's hide.

Thing is, man-on-man, Ikard might charm a lot of congressmen into accepting that line. But this time the vote on depletion will be on the floor, with the public watching and more interested than ever. And in cold light of public interest, the industry argument is preposterous.

Energy shortages? Higher prices? Economic slowdown?

Anybody who has idled in a gasoline line lately, or paid for a fill-up, or looked for a job in this country — and that covers a lot of Americans — is likely to respond to Ikard's threat in words I can never slip into a family newspaper.

He warns of a "bitter harvest." Indeed!

Supervisors On Their Way, But Where Are They Going?

Would you like to get a real perspective of your county government's operation? I mean legislative (?) and administrative (?). (Those question marks are used advisedly.)

Well, if you would, try this: In reading your I-J, mark those items that have to do with the throne room, the administrator's office, the planning department and its staff. Now clip them and lay the clippings aside for, say a month. Then go over them — read them again. I'll bet they will "wonder" you too — and a further bet; you'll say to yourself, "Sure enough, dizzy land it is."

THERE IS EVERY evidence that they are on their way, but don't know where they are going. The sad part is you are paying the bill for all this drifting. Here is an example: Last Tuesday the supervisors rezoned about 2,200 acres of land on the San Rafael-Sleepy Hollow divide to reduce the number of homesites from a natural 1,275 to about 300.

One owner's attorney said that his client was being discriminated against as his 80 acres was only allowed eight homesites, a unit for each 10 acres, while surrounding lands were allowed one home unit for every five acres, which his client would agree to.

Here comes the bit of dizzyness: On recommendation of the planning staff, four of the supes (Roumiguiere dissenting) told him that the county would consider granting a higher density once his client's development plans for the land are submitted showing it could be developed more densely.

That throne room is too cozy to leave next week, shorten their lunch time, and go out and look at the land themselves. It would be interesting to know how many of them, if any, knew first hand anything about the layout.

HAD YOU BEEN CLIPPING before this, you would read that they are appointing committees and commissions by the yard. Then you would find them, on Barrow's urging, trying to get legislation passed, which would prohibit any of their appointees from advocating at the state legislative level and elsewhere the very things that the supes didn't know of hence the appointment of the commissions, etc.

Time and again the ideas of Barrows and his man Friday, Campanella, go sour when put into operation. Yet the "in" thing to do is to swell their ego, "refer to staff." Boy that sounds good and real important. A list of successful accomplishments would be nice reading — wouldn't it?

Inflation Profits State At Expense Of People

By RUS WALTON

It's like I keep telling the fellas down at Babylon's big balloon factory: inflation is a gasser.

It gets you coming and going. It steals from the working folks to fatten the government and support the non-producers. The wage-earner must run like crazy just to stay even, and folks on fixed incomes slide farther down the drain each year.

The state? It makes money on the big steal. Look at it this way:

WAGES RISE to meet inflation. The higher the wage, the more the income taxed, the higher the taxes.

State Finance Director Verne Orr says the state will rake in an extra $200 million this coming year because of inflation. State income taxes will increase $70 million, the state sales tax wil grab an extra $100 million, and other taxes will slurp up an additional $23 million.

Orr says the increased revenues come from a booming economy. Hah! Since when is galloping inflation a sign of a booming economy? Ask the lady with the shrinking shopping bag about that one.

THE FOLKS WHO ARE producing the least and charging the most are those birds in government — state and federal. Since 1968, the total amount of money in circulation (currency and credit) has increased more than two and one-half times faster than the increase in the gross national product. Rising wages and costs are not the cause of inflation, they are the consequences.

And, since Mr. Orr has been the state's high mucky-muck of finances, Babylon's annual expenditures have risen about 40 per cent. Some fella waters his milk and he gets thrown in the pokey. Politicians water our dollar and they are hailed as economic wizards.

You'd think they would take that $200 million from inflation revenues and return it to the taxpayer whence it came. No way! It's already tagged and wrapped for spending:

- about $40 million more to increase the increases for state employes.
- $79 million more for the state's Medi-Cal program.
- $20 million more for food for the state prisons, and
- $30 million more for Babylon's new towers.

NOTHING GIVES some of these birds in Babylon diarrhea of the budget faster than a windfall of the people's tax money. Now the 1974-75 state budget is up to $10 billion. That's more than twice what the budget was just seven years ago.It comes to about $1,515 for every non-government working man and woman in California.

If Ford Becomes President, Who Will Be Vice President?

WASHINGTON — The time may come when Vice President Gerald Ford will be required to choose his successor.

Obviously, there is the possibility — some believe the probability — that President Nixon will be impeached or will resign or both.

Under this circumstance the 25th Amendment will come instantly into play and its pertinent provision reads:

"Whenever there is a vacancy in the office of vice president, the president shall nominate a vice president who shall take office upon confirmation by a majority of both houses of Congress."

There is no provision for delay. There should be no delay. This means, if the need arises, that President Ford would have to be ready to make one of his most important political decisions soon after taking office.

HIS CHOICE for his vice president would be unusually critical because:

2—The right choice could help restore trust in government and unity in the country.

3—It would bear significantly on the make-up of the Republican presidential ticket in 1976.

Mr. Ford would have a wide range of selection, but in the end his thinking would probably come down to four candidates. I offer some analysis of these possible choices.

SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER — No one shudders at the thought. The nation has corrected its views of Goldwater and Goldwater has corrected some of his views of the United States. He would add a special sense of integrity and conscience to his place in the White House. He would be strengthening the president but not looking for the presidency.

FORMER GOV. NELSON ROCKEFELLER — He has stature, experience and maturity. He has been the most electable governor in one of the two most populous states of the nation. A Ford-Rockefeller team would comprise a strong administration and a strong ticket in 1976. His acceptance would be uncertain because it would probably put a ceiling on Rockefeller's political future.

ELLIOT RICHARDSON — He is the former attorney general who dared to resign. He has done more than well in every federal post to which he has been appointed. If he became vice president, he would almost certainly be Ford's running mate in 1976. His presence on the ticket would reduce Watergate as an issue.

SEN. CHARLES PERCY — Like Elliot Richardson, the choice of Percy as vice president would add political balance to a Ford administration and would add freshness to a 1976 GOP presidential ticket. His presence in the vice presidency and on the stump would further separate a Ford administration from a Watergate hangover.

The premise here is that Gerald Ford, if he becomes president, will run in his own right for a four-year term. If seems a sound premise.

Bill To Benefit Outside Users Questioned

I noted, with amusement, that Jack Felson stands behind AB 3859 and that it passed the Marin Municipal Water District directors unanimously. Was this a majority of two?

This bill would allow the MMWD to sell "surplus" water outside the district to non-taxpayers because of tradition. I have been paying taxes and assessments to the district for 23 years, traditionally of course, but have been denied the privilege of filing an application for water three times in one calendar year.

It was also very odd that Mr. Felson went outside the district to get action on this bill (Knox - Contra Costa) since no legislator from the district would entertain such a bill over the heads of the Marin Board of Supervisors, which voted against by a vote of 5-0.

It might interest this individual to know that unless strict constitutional measures are followed in the very near future, MMWD is in a position to lose state and/or federal aid and that this phony bill AB 3859 stands very little chance of ever being passed. It hasn't been an emergency for 34 years — why now?

Different Experience With Kaiser Hospital

I'd like to express my opinion on Kaiser treatment in rebuttal of Peter M. Alias, M. D., letter. Under a conservatorship and a court order, my mother was forced to be cared for by Kaiser. She was temporarily in a convalescent home in Terra Linda and took a bad fall. Kaiser was contacted to bring a portable x-ray machine and send a doctor over. Six hours later, I contacted Kaiser personally and was told the doctor would be there shortly. To make a very long story short, they were contacted a grand total of 17 times in a four-day period with the same statement the doctor would be there shortly. I personally went to Kaiser in Terra Linda. The administrator was out, the doctors on duty were not authorized to leave as one special doctor cared for all patients in convalescent hospitals. I ended up pleading with the head nurse for help. On the fifth day, results were obtained, an x-ray technician came and took x-rays. My mother had broken her hip and infection had set in. She was transferred to Kaiser in Oakland. She was put in a room where the call bell did not work and being in isolation, no one else was in the room. End result is my mother died of the infection that could not be cured due to her weakened condition at the age of 69, the call button never got fixed. This took place five years ago. . .

Advertising Action May Cut Federal Funds

The choice of not accepting military advertising in the College of Marin Times is indeed a sad evidence of the deterioration in the minds of some young today. I hope the College of Marin has no future need of federal funds, for this decision prohibits the dispersement of any federal aid.

I wish I had the choice of paying or not paying that portion of my property taxes which supports the college "because of the repugnant nature of the" administration which allows this. As former President Calvin Coolidge once said, "The nation which forgets its defenders will itself be forgotten." To refer to military ads as offensive is to me very offensive.

Marin County Water And Arabian Oil

In the years prior to the water district moratorium, Marin County grew at a prodigious rate. Its water supply, controlled as it is by nature, remained constant. As a result, we have begun to come perilously close to a water shortage whenever two dry years occur back-to-back.

If we continue to build and develop Marin County as projected in the general plan, we will soon be running out of water in average rainfall years as well as the very dry ones — unless we finance an aqueduct to bring us somebody else's (i.e. Sonoma's) water.

William Filante, Margaret Neese and Winifred Fredericks, candidates for their respective water districts, oppose a water moratorium in favor of costly importation projects. Apparently these profligates have not learned what the Arabs have taught the rest of the world about what happens when you permit your growth to outstrip your resources: you are forced to become dependent upon the supplies of another. This may wash until he decides that he wants them for himself. (Sonoma is also growing rapidly). . .

(To keep the record straight and avoid running a series of replies to reader Blinder's letter: None of the three candidates mentioned "advocates costly importation projects." Marin County Coroner: Cooke Or Jindrich?

Whether Marin's incumbent coroner-public administrator should be replaced will be decided in the June 4 primary.

Dr. Donovan O. Cooke of Belvedere has held the office since January, 1967. He won in the 1966 primary, getting over half the vote while the remainder was divided among three other candidates.

Cooke has also worn other hats for the county since becoming coroner. The board of supervisors made him county medical officer in 1969, and put him in charge of the county's mental health program in 1970. The following year, he was also made head of the county public health department.

These mergers did not work out, and Cooke has given up the extra hats. He now holds only the coroner-public administrator office to which he has been twice elected.

He seeks a third term. Running against him is Dr. Ervin Jindrich of Mill Valley, who is San Francisco County coroner.

With only two candidates, the June 4 primary is decisive.

BUDGET AND STAFF of the coroner-public administrator office have grown substantially since Cooke took over from Frank J. Keaton. During the period when he was also holding down other positions for the county, Cooke had little time to devote to his duties as coroner. They perforce were turned over to his staff. The operation has continued largely in that fashion.

A question arises immediately about Cooke's opponent: Why should the coroner of San Francisco County want a lower-paid job as coroner of Marin County?

The answer is that Jindrich is filling the San Francisco post on a two-year "acting" appointment during Navy service of Dr. Boyd Stephens, who became San Francisco coroner following the death of Dr. Henry W. Turkel. The position in San Francisco is under civil service. Jindrich does not hold a civil service rating and will have to give up the office on Stephens' return from Navy duty.

We have become somewhat disenchanted with Cooke through his willingness to assume too many jobs and his consequent lack of attention to the job to which he was elected.

Jindrich is unusually well qualified for the coroner position. It is not a case of replacing an incumbent with someone of unknown or questionable qualifications.

We feel, therefore, that this is not a case where incumbency should tip the scales. Those voters who are less than completely satisfied with the present office holder may turn with a high degree of confidence to his opponent.

Frank Ikard's Bombast May Not Save Depletion Allowance

WASHINGTON — Frank Ikard is a gentleman of affable personality and substantive background. He is a former judge and former congressman from the 13th District of Texas, around Wichita Falls. He is Texas-size in stature and hospitality. He has a gracious and gregarious wife, and week ends he raises fruit and vegetables on his farm in West Virginia. His credentials as an oil industry spokesman-lobbyist are solid gold.

Ikard has what I almost said is a thankless job, but I caught myself. He is thanked generously by the American Petroleum Institute, of which he is president. Call it instead one hell of a tough job, especially these days, trying to put a nice face on the oil industry while gasoline prices seem to go up a penny a day at the pump.

As if the last few months have not been tough enough for him, a time when booming oil profits barely managed to assuage the companies for their unfortunate public image, these next few weeks are going to be even tougher. These are weeks when the depletion allowance, the holy cornerstone of oil industry prosperity for 48 years now, is facing its most serious challenge ever.

THE HOUSE DEMOCRATIC Caucus has voted to force a straight up-or-down floor vote on amendments to end the depletion allowance immediately — something that always has been avoided before by the Ways and Means or Rules committees.

You may recall that the depletion allowance, in existence since 1926, allows oil companies to take 22 per cent off the top of their gross profits before paying taxes on the rest — and that 22 per cent of gross can run up to 50 per cent of their net. The individual taxpayer should be so lucky.

The depletion allowance lies behind the vast profits reported by the companies in recent business quarters — Texaco, for example, up 123 per cent in the first quarter of 1974 compared to a year earlier. We innocent bystanders might assume that fairness would let the depletion allowance be ended, and the companies' profit increases drop down around the same percentage figure with which inflation blesses us all.

THAT IS WHERE Ikard comes in. His duty is to sound the klaxon and warn that if the depletion allowance falls, the republic cannot be long after.

Abolishment "paves the way for liquidation of the independent domestic producer," he said. "It would virtually destroy the industry's ability to generate the vast amounts of capital needed to bring forth new energy supplies.

"If a lynch-mob attitude prevails in Congress over petroleum tax legislation, the nation will suffer a devastating setback in its efforts to attain a reasonable degree of energy self-sufficiency.

"There may be some temporary political hay for congressmen who are demanding punitive tax action aimed at petroleum producers. But all of the citizens of our country will reap the bitter harvest of energy shortages, higher prices, economic slowdown, and increasing dependency on foreign sources of supply."

NOW THAT IS BLUNT talk, I would say Texas-style but for my Texas friends who might resent it. It is a warning: If you cut off our depletion, you'll be sorry. The money we thus pay in taxes will not come out of our astronomical profits, it will come out of the public's hide.

Thing is, man-on-man, Ikard might charm a lot of congressmen into accepting that line. But this time the vote on depletion will be on the floor, with the public watching and more interested than ever. And in cold light of public interest, the industry argument is preposterous.

Energy shortages? Higher prices? Economic slowdown?

Anybody who has idled in a gasoline line lately, or paid for a fill-up, or looked for a job in this country — and that covers a lot of Americans — is likely to respond to Ikard's threat in words I can never slip into a family newspaper.

He warns of a "bitter harvest." Indeed!

If Ford Becomes President, Who Will Be Vice President?

WASHINGTON — The time may come when Vice President Gerald Ford will be required to choose his successor.

Obviously, there is the possibility — some believe the probability — that President Nixon will be impeached or will resign or both.

Under this circumstance the 25th Amendment will come instantly into play and its pertinent provision reads:

"Whenever there is a vacancy in the office of vice president, the president shall nominate a vice president who shall take office upon confirmation by a majority of both houses of Congress."

There is no provision for delay. There should be no delay. This means, if the need arises, that President Ford would have to be ready to make one of his most important political decisions soon after taking office.

HIS CHOICE for his vice president would be unusually critical because:

1—It could add to or detract from the quality of his administration.

2—The right choice could help restore trust in government and unity in the country.

3—It would bear significantly on the make-up of the Republican presidential ticket in 1976.

Mr. Ford would have a wide range of selection, but in the end his thinking would probably come down to four candidates. I offer some analysis of these possible choices.

SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER — No one shudders at the thought. The nation has corrected its views of Goldwater and Goldwater has corrected some of his views of the United States. He would add a special sense of integrity and conscience to his place in the White House. He would be strengthening the president but not looking for the presidency.

FORMER GOV. NELSON ROCKEFELLER — He has stature, experience and maturity. He has been the most electable governor in one of the two most populous states of the nation. A Ford-Rockefeller team would comprise a strong administration and a strong ticket in 1976. His acceptance would be uncertain because it would probably put a ceiling on Rockefeller's political future.

ELLIOT RICHARDSON — He is the former attorney general who dared to resign. He has done more than well in every federal post to which he has been appointed. If he became vice president, he would almost certainly be Ford's running mate in 1976. His presence on the ticket would reduce Watergate as an issue.

SEN. CHARLES PERCY — Like Elliot Richardson, the choice of Percy as vice president would add political balance to a Ford administration and would add freshness to a 1976 GOP presidential ticket. His presence in the vice presidency and on the stump would further separate a Ford administration from a Watergate hangover.

The premise here is that Gerald Ford, if he becomes president, will run in his own right for a four-year term. If seems a sound premise.

BILL FUSSELLMAN

Supervisors On Their Way, But Where Are They Going?

Would you like to get a real perspective of your county government's operation? I mean legislative (?) and administrative (?). (Those question marks are used advisedly.)

Well, if you would, try this: In reading your I-J, mark those items that have to do with the throne room, the administrator's office, the planning department and its staff. Now clip them and lay the clippings aside for, say a month. Then go over them — read them again. I'll bet they will "wonder" you too — and a further bet; you'll say to yourself, "Sure enough, dizzy land it is."

THERE IS EVERY evidence that they are on their way, but don't know where they are going. The sad part is you are paying the bill for all this drifting. Here is an example: Last Tuesday the supervisors rezoned about 2,200 acres of land on the San Rafael-Sleepy Hollow divide to reduce the number of homesites from a natural 1,275 to about 300.

One owner's attorney said that his client was being discriminated against as his 80 acres was only allowed eight homesites, a unit for each 10 acres, while surrounding lands were allowed one home unit for every five acres, which his client would agree to.

Here comes the bit of dizzyness: On recommendation of the planning staff, four of the supes (Roumiguiere dissenting) told him that the county would consider granting a higher density once his client's development plans for the land are submitted showing it could be developed more densely.

That throne room is too cozy to leave next week, shorten their lunch time, and go out and look at the land themselves. It would be interesting to know how many of them, if any, knew first hand anything about the layout.

HAD YOU BEEN CLIPPING before this, you would read that they are appointing committees and commissions by the yard. Then you would find them, on Barrow's urging, trying to get legislation passed, which would prohibit any of their appointees from advocating at the state legislative level and elsewhere the very things that the supes didn't know of hence the appointment of the commissions, etc.

Time and again the ideas of Barrows and his man Friday, Campanella, go sour when put into operation. Yet the "in" thing to do is to swell their ego, "refer to staff." Boy that sounds good and real important. A list of successful accomplishments would be nice reading — wouldn't it?

Inflation Profits State At Expense Of People

By RUS WALTON

It's like I keep telling the fellas down at Babylon's big balloon factory: inflation is a gasser.

It gets you coming and going. It steals from the working folks to fatten the government and support the non-producers. The wage-earner must run like crazy just to stay even, and folks on fixed incomes slide farther down the drain each year.

The state? It makes money on the big steal. Look at it this way:

WAGES RISE to meet inflation. The higher the wage, the more the income taxed, the higher the taxes.

Prices rise to meet inflation. The greater the dollar volume, the bigger the sales tax.

State Finance Director Verne Orr says the state will rake in an extra $200 million this coming year because of inflation. State income taxes will increase $70 million, the state sales tax wil grab an extra $100 million, and other taxes will slurp up an additional $23 million.

Orr says the increased revenues come from a booming economy. Hah! Since when is galloping inflation a sign of a booming economy? Ask the lady with the shrinking shopping bag about that one.

THE FOLKS WHO ARE producing the least and charging the most are those birds in government — state and federal. Since 1968, the total amount of money in circulation (currency and credit) has increased more than two and one-half times faster than the increase in the gross national product. Rising wages and costs are not the cause of inflation, they are the consequences.

And, since Mr. Orr has been the state's high mucky-muck of finances, Babylon's annual expenditures have risen about 40 per cent. Some fella waters his milk and he gets thrown in the pokey. Politicians water our dollar and they are hailed as economic wizards.

You'd think they would take that $200 million from inflation revenues and return it to the taxpayer whence it came. No way! It's already tagged and wrapped for spending:

- about $40 million more to increase the increases for state employes.
- $79 million more for the state's Medi-Cal program.
- $20 million more for food for the state prisons, and
- $30 million more for Babylon's new towers.

NOTHING GIVES some of these birds in Babylon diarrhea of the budget faster than a windfall of the people's tax money. Now the 1974-75 state budget is up to $10 billion. That's more than twice what the budget was just seven years ago.It comes to about $1,515 for every non-government working man and woman in California.

And that ain't the consequence of inflation — it's part of the cause.

Bill To Benefit Outside Users Questioned

I noted, with amusement, that Jack Felson stands behind AB 3859 and that it passed the Marin Municipal Water District directors unanimously. Was this a majority of two?

This bill would allow the MMWD to sell "surplus" water outside the district to non-taxpayers because of tradition. I have been paying taxes and assessments to the district for 23 years, traditionally of course, but have been denied the privilege of filing an application for water three times in one calendar year.

It was also very odd that Mr. Felson went outside the district to get action on this bill (Knox - Contra Costa) since no legislator from the district would entertain such a bill over the heads of the Marin Board of Supervisors, which voted against by a vote of 5-0.

It might interest this individual to know that unless strict constitutional measures are followed in the very near future, MMWD is in a position to lose state and/or federal aid and that this phony bill AB 3859 stands very little chance of ever being passed. It hasn't been an emergency for 34 years — why now?

Different Experience With Kaiser Hospital

I'd like to express my opinion on Kaiser treatment in rebuttal of Peter M. Alias, M. D., letter. Under a conservatorship and a court order, my mother was forced to be cared for by Kaiser. She was temporarily in a convalescent home in Terra Linda and took a bad fall. Kaiser was contacted to bring a portable x-ray machine and send a doctor over. Six hours later, I contacted Kaiser personally and was told the doctor would be there shortly. To make a very long story short, they were contacted a grand total of 17 times in a four-day period with the same statement the doctor would be there shortly. I personally went to Kaiser in Terra Linda. The administrator was out, the doctors on duty were not authorized to leave as one special doctor cared for all patients in convalescent hospitals. I ended up pleading with the head nurse for help. On the fifth day, results were obtained, an x-ray technician came and took x-rays. My mother had broken her hip and infection had set in. She was transferred to Kaiser in Oakland. She was put in a room where the call bell did not work and being in isolation, no one else was in the room. End result is my mother died of the infection that could not be cured due to her weakened condition at the age of 69, the call button never got fixed. This took place five years ago. . .

Advertising Action May Cut Federal Funds

The choice of not accepting military advertising in the College of Marin Times is indeed a sad evidence of the deterioration in the minds of some young today. I hope the College of Marin has no future need of federal funds, for this decision prohibits the dispersement of any federal aid.

I wish I had the choice of paying or not paying that portion of my property taxes which supports the college "because of the repugnant nature of the" administration which allows this. As former President Calvin Coolidge once said, "The nation which forgets its defenders will itself be forgotten." To refer to military ads as offensive is to me very offensive.

Marin County Water And Arabian Oil

In the years prior to the water district moratorium, Marin County grew at a prodigious rate. Its water supply, controlled as it is by nature, remained constant. As a result, we have begun to come perilously close to a water shortage whenever two dry years occur back-to-back.

If we continue to build and develop Marin County as projected in the general plan, we will soon be running out of water in average rainfall years as well as the very dry ones — unless we finance an aqueduct to bring us somebody else's (i.e. Sonoma's) water.

William Filante, Margaret Neese and Winifred Fredericks, candidates for their respective water districts, oppose a water moratorium in favor of costly importation projects. Apparently these profligates have not learned what the Arabs have taught the rest of the world about what happens when you permit your growth to outstrip your resources: you are forced to become dependent upon the supplies of another. This may wash until he decides that he wants them for himself. (Sonoma is also growing rapidly). . .

(To keep the record straight and avoid running a series of replies to reader Blinder's letter: None of the three candidates mentioned "advocates costly importation projects." Nixon has set a new world record for repeating, "I won't resign." The former mark was held, you remember, by Spiro Agnew.

Hubert Humphrey earned more money from speeches than any other senator last year. But he'd rather not see the ranking on payment per word.

The judge handed down a decision, and I'm told it declared that they were only paid for the numbers that they would get for you; that if they could collect for the wrong numbers, they would be able to lower the rates, but that they only got about six right numbers in a day, hence they should be allowed the raise.

Sausalito Officials Oppose Terminal But Like Ferries

In view of the City of Sausalito's opposition to rebuilding of the city's downtown ferry terminal, I was surprised one Saturday afternoon to tune in my car radio and hear a city councilman and two other city officials giving endorsements for the Golden Gate Bridge District ferries on a local radio station.

The station was holding "Man on the Street" interviews aboard one of the ferries, and the interviewer happened to run into City Mgr. Thomas McKenzie, City Clerk Janet Tracy, and City Councilman Robin Sweeny.

All said they were enjoying their ride and would ride the ferries often if they were commuters to San Francisco.

Apparently the incident occurred one afternoon when the three were riding to San Francisco to meet Mayor Evert Heynemann for lunch.

I DON'T SUPPOSE the radio reporter knew whom he was talking to, because there were no identifications given other than their names.

Mrs. Sweeny and the rest of the council have opposed the bridge district's new terminal on the grounds that the bigger ferries which will dock there will bring new waves of tourists into Sausalito.

But I guess that doesn't mean the city is totally opposed to ferries or city officials wouldn't be riding the waves themselves.

AS IF TRAFFIC isn't bad enough on construction clogged Miller Avenue in Mill Valley these days, a shopping center stationed an eyestopping walking advertisement out front that slowed the drivers down even more. There was a not-terribly-attractive middle-aged man wearing a barrel and not much else. A sign on the barrel advertised flowers for sale inside the shopping center.

Japan Gobbles Up Sea Urchin Catches

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gathering spiny sea urchins can be sticky business, but in Southern California it is a thriving enterprise.

The urchins' reproductive organs, called roe, are a delicacy known as "Japanese caviar," and nine roe processing plants, all of them small, have sprung up in Southern California in the last year. About half are Japanese owned.

The processing plants pay eight cents a pound for urchins and quickly scoop out the roe and put it on an airliner for Tokyo, where fresh roe has been prized for centuries. It is eaten raw or pickled.

In Tokyo the roe brings about $3 to $5 per pound. Marty Greisiger of G & F Fisheries of Santa Barbara says, "The air-freight costs are phenomenal."

A diver raking up urchins and sending them to the surface in big nets can gather 4,000 pounds a day. The richest sea urchin areas are off Santa Barbara and Los Angeles.

The commercial urchin fishing business scares some biologists. They fear it might wipe out the urchins, valuable research animals.

Others say urchins are a scourge and the more killed, the better.

In large numbers the urchins creep across the ocean floor in hordes, devouring plant life. Only two years ago skindivers off Palos Verdes clubbed 120,000 urchins to death in a campaign to save plant life and the fish that depend on it.

But the urchins support large biological research operations at California Institute of Technology. Biologists there are asking state officials to ban commercial urchin fishing at one site, Point Loma near San Diego.

Davidson said biologists know more about cell differentiation in urchins than in any other animal. He said urchin research "is of the most basic importance to understanding many serious problems in human affairs, such as cancer, a disease of cell differentiation, abnormal development and the means by which our genes operate."

He adds, "It's very easy for commercial operations to deplete urchin populations. They were virtually exterminated in Japanese waters, which is why they're now getting urchins here."

Another problem is that the urchin fisheries may harvest themselves right out of business.

"Nobody has any idea of what type of brood stock you need for urchins," said Paul Dayton, marine ecologist at Scripps Institute at La Jolla.

Jim Clark, 33, of Santa Barbara has been diving for urchins about a year and says keeping away from the spines is a big problem.

"If those spines stab you, you get a nasty swelling that's very painful," he said. "If they get stuck in your hand, they fester and you get an infection. I got some in my knuckles one time that were so bad they crippled my hand for a while."

He said urchins' spines are worse than porcupine quills because the spines are so brittle they break easily when a diver tries to pull them out.

Clark said he often cracks the urchins open himself and eats the roe. "I like 'em, but then I've been eating weird stuff for years. I eat most of my foods raw."

He said the taste is hard to describe, but most of his friends use the term "ecchh."

Justice Dept. Assistant To Become Law Professor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert G. Dixon, who had major roles in front-page Justice Department actions in the past 15 months, has resigned to become a law professor.

The White House announced yesterday that Dixon will leave office as soon as a successor is named.

Dixon said that shortly after he was sworn as head of the Justice Department's Office of Legal Counsel in February of 1973 he had to make decisions and issue orders in the siege of Wounded Knee, S.D., which American Indian Movement leaders had occupied.

Shortly after that, Dixon said, the Watergate case "opened up" and other legal issues arose in succession: Executive privilege, election reform, freedom of information and the prosecution of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

"I'd say it has meant the most fascinating and rewarding period of my life," Dixon said.

Dixon said he resigned because he will be needed next fall on the staff of the George Washington Law School, where he teaches constitutional law.

Dixon told President Nixon in his resignation letter that he was leaving "with a message which must be trumpeted. Our system of laws and procedures is sound, adaptable to special crisis and searching self-analysis. The system is working."

He'll Have New Role On Camera

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Milton Shapp in the role of songwriter — not governor — will appear on the television program "What's My Line" to try to stump the panelists, his office says.

Shapp will be identified as Pennsylvania's governor and then the panelists will try to guess his avocation — songwriting.

Shapp wrote "The Ballad of Rose Mary," a spoof of Watergate, which has been recorded.

The program was taped yesterday. No date was set for its showing.

Clark said he often cracks the urchins open himself and eats the roe. "I like 'em, but then I've been eating weird stuff for years. I eat most of my foods raw."

He said the taste is hard to describe, but most of his friends use the term "ecchh."

Justice Dept. Assistant To Become Law Professor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert G. Dixon, who had major roles in front-page Justice Department actions in the past 15 months, has resigned to become a law professor.

The White House announced yesterday that Dixon will leave office as soon as a successor is named.

Dixon said that shortly after he was sworn as head of the Justice Department's Office of Legal Counsel in February of 1973 he had to make decisions and issue orders in the siege of Wounded Knee, S.D., which American Indian Movement leaders had occupied.

Shortly after that, Dixon said, the Watergate case "opened up" and other legal issues arose in succession: Executive privilege, election reform, freedom of information and the prosecution of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

"I'd say it has meant the most fascinating and rewarding period of my life," Dixon said.

Dixon said he resigned because he will be needed next fall on the staff of the George Washington Law School, where he teaches constitutional law.

Dixon told President Nixon in his resignation letter that he was leaving "with a message which must be trumpeted. Our system of laws and procedures is sound, adaptable to special crisis and searching self-analysis. The system is working."

He'll Have New Role On Camera

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Milton Shapp in the role of songwriter — not governor — will appear on the television program "What's My Line" to try to stump the panelists, his office says.

Shapp will be identified as Pennsylvania's governor and then the panelists will try to guess his avocation — songwriting.

Shapp wrote "The Ballad of Rose Mary," a spoof of Watergate, which has been recorded.

The program was taped yesterday. No date was set for its showing.

A Quick $10,000

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A man in tennis clothes ducked into the casino at the Aladdin Hotel Wednesday, grabbed $10,000 stacked in $100 bills on the baccarat table, dashed out and escaped in a waiting car.
